condescending observer detached from the rest of the group 15 the captain who is injured and morose at having lost his ship yet capable of leadership the cook fat and comical but optimistic that they will be rescued and the oiler Billie who is physically the strongest and the only one in the story referred to by name The four are survivors of a shipwreck which occurred before the beginning of the story and are drifting at sea in a small dinghy In the following four sections the moods of the men fluctuate from anger at their desperate situation to a growing empathy for one another and the sudden realization that nature is indifferent to their fates The men become fatigued and bicker with one another nevertheless the oiler and the correspondent take turns rowing toward shore while the cook bails water to keep the boat afloat When they see a lighthouse on the horizon their hope is tempered with the realization of the danger of trying to reach it Their hopes dwindle further when after seeing a man waving from shore and what may or may not be another boat they fail to make contact The correspondent and the oiler continue to take turns rowing while the others sleep fitfully during the night The correspondent then notices a shark swimming near the boat but he does not seem to be bothered by it as one would expect In the penultimate chapter the correspondent wearily recalls a verse from the poem Bingen on the Rhine by Caroline Norton in which a soldier of the Legion dies far from home The final chapter begins with the men's resolution to abandon the floundering dinghy they have occupied for thirty hours and to swim ashore Stephen Crane November 1 1871 June 5 1900 was an American poet novelist and short story writer Prolific throughout his short life he wrote notable works in the The Portable American Realism Reader Various, 1997-12-01 During the pivotal period of America's international emergence between the Civil War and WWI the aligned literary movements of Realism and Naturalism not only shaped the national literature of the age but also left an indelible and far reaching influence on twentieth century American and world literature Seeking to strip narrative from pious sentimentalities and according to William Dean Howells to paint life as it is and human feelings in their true proportion and relation Realism is best represented by this volume's masterly pieces by Twain Henry James Stephen Crane Kate Chopin and Willa Cather among others The joining of Realist methods with the theories of Marx Darwin and Spencer to reveal the larger forces biological evolutionary historical which move humankind are exemplified here in the fiction of such writers as Jack London Frank Norris and Theodore Dreiser The Open Boat Stephen Crane, 1930
