Organizational Science Abroad Constraints And Perspectives:

Organizational Science Abroad C.A.B., Yg. Osigweh, 2013-11-11 Organizing consists of making other people work We do this by manipulating symbols words exhortations memos charts signs of status We expect these symbols to have the desired effects on the people concerned The success of our organizing activities depends on whether the others do attach to our symbols the meanings we expect them to Whether or not they do so is a function of what I have sometimes called the programs in their minds their learned ways of thinking feeling and reacting in short a function of their culture The assumption that organizations could be culture free is naive and myopic it is based on a misunderstanding of the very act of organizing Certainly few people who have ever worked abroad will make this assumption The dependence of organizations on their people's mental programs does not mean of course that we do not find many similarities across organizations Some characteristics of human mental programming are universal others are shared by most people in a continent a country a region an industry a scientific discipline or even a gender Silverthorne, 2005-01-01 The last two decades have seen an explosive increase in the ethnic diversity of the workforce growth in international business and the emergence of many more multinational companies The potential for problems as companies operate across borders and managers manage in countries which have different values norms and cultural behaviors is great By looking at organizational psychology in a cross cultural context we can gain an understanding of the challenges facing organizations and business today This text breaks new ground in introducing organizational psychology from a cross cultural perspective It provides a foundational overview of the current major theories in organizational psychology and illuminates the impact of cultural differences on organizational dynamics It also makes available specific research concerning our current understandings of how these dynamics play out in particular regions and countries such as autocratic versus democratic leadership styles in Africa and Europe or conflict management in Asia The volume offers a welcome introduction to the topic to those in industrial organizational psychology international relations and management and international business MBA programs focusing on international issues

The Civilized Organization Ad

van Iterson, Willem Mastenbroek, Tim Newton, Dennis Smith, 2002-10-29 This book brings a major new resource to organization studies the work of Norbert Elias By applying his ideas in a critical but sympathetic way the authors provide a new perspective on the never ending stream of management fads and fashions Standing back and taking a more detached perspective inspired by the work of Norbert Elias 1897 1990 it becomes clear that many new types of organizations are often variations on an old theme Elias gives us considerable purchase on current debates through his emphasis on long term historical perspectives his highlighting of issues of power emotion and subjectivity his interweaving of analysis at the level of the state the organization groups and individuals his alternative take on issues of agency and structure and his relevance to a wide range of current organization theories The contributions show the current relevance of Elias's work in numerous fields of organizational analysis such as the sociology of finance and markets the comparative and cross cultural study of organization comparative management development organizational meetings organizational boundaries gossip and privacy in organizations emotion in organizations and the significance of humiliation within organizations It is indeed time for Elias
