New Diary:

The New Diary Tristine Rainer, 1979-07-01 The New Diary is about a completely modern concept of journal writing It has little to do with the rigid daily calendar diary you may have kept as a child or the factual travelogue you wrote to recall the Grand Canyon Instead it is a tool for tapping the full power of your inner resources The New Diary is as much for those who already keep a journal as it is for those who have never kept one It does not tell you the right way to keep a diary rather it offers numerous possibilities for using the diary to achieve your own purposes It is a place for you to clarify goals visualize the future and focus your energies a means of freeing your intuition and imagination a workbook for exploring your dreams your past and your present life It is for everyone seeking concrete methods for dealing with personal problems It is for women and men interested in achieving self reliance and inner liberation for artists and writers seeking new techniques for overcoming blocks to creativity

New Woman in Early Twentieth-Century Chinese Fiction Jin Feng, 2004-07-30 In The New Woman in Early Twentieth Century Chinese Fiction Jin Feng proposes that representation of the new woman in Communist Chinese fiction of the earlier twentieth century was paradoxically one of the ways in which male writers of the era explored negotiated and laid claim to their own emerging identity as modern intellectuals Specifically Feng argues that male writers such as Lu Xun Yu Dafu Ba Jin and Mao Dun created fictional women as mirror images of their own political inadequacy but that at the same time this was also an egocentric ploy to affirm and highlight the modernity of the male author This gender biased attitude was translated into reality when women writers emerged Whereas unfair gender biased criticism all but stifled the creative output of Bing Xin Fang Yuanjun and Lu Yin Ding Ling s dogged attention to narrative strategy allowed her to maintain subjectivity and independence in her writings that is until all writers were forced to write for the collective Feng addresses both the general and the specialized audience of fiction in early twentieth century Chinese fiction in three ways for scholars of the May Fourth period Feng redresses the emphasis on the simplistic gender neutral representation of the new women by re reading selected texts in the light of marginalized discourse and by an analysis of the evolving strategies of narrative deployment for those working in the area of feminism and literary studies Feng develops a new method of studying the representation of Chinese women through an interrogation of narrative permutations ideological discourses and gender relationships and for studies of modernity and modernization the author presents a more complex picture of the relationships of modern Chinese intellectuals to their cultural past and of women writers to a literary tradition dominated by men
