The Great American Mission David Ekbladh, 2011-08-08 The Great American Mission traces how America's global modernization efforts during the twentieth century were a means to remake the world in its own image David Ekbladh shows that the emerging concept of modernization combined existing development ideas from the Depression He describes how ambitious New Deal programs like the Tennessee Valley Authority became symbols of American liberalism's ability to marshal the social sciences state planning civil society and technology to produce extensive social and economic change For proponents it became a valuable weapon to check the influence of menacing ideologies such as Fascism and Communism Modernization took on profound geopolitical importance as the United States grappled with these threats After World War II modernization remained a means to contain the growing influence of the Soviet Union Ekbladh demonstrates how U S led nation building efforts in global hot spots enlisting an array of nongovernmental groups and international organizations were a basic part of American strategy in the Cold War However a close connection to the Vietnam War and the upheavals of the 1960s would discredit modernization The end of the Cold War further obscured modernization's mission but many of its assumptions regained prominence after September 11 as the United States moved to contain new threats Using new sources and perspectives The Great American Mission offers new and challenging interpretations of America's ideological motivations and humanitarian responsibilities abroad

Peace Movements: International Protest and World Politics Since 1945 April Carter, 2014-09-11 There is a long tradition of opposition to war and organized peace campaigns date from 1815 Since 1945 however modern weapons technology has threatened world wide destruction and has stimulated widespread protests This book sketches in the background of thinking about peace and resistance to war before 1945 and then examines how public opposition to nuclear weapons and testing grew in the 1950s and early 1960s Later chapters cover the major resurgence of nuclear disarmament campaigns in the 1980s The book also looks at how peace protest has spread from its origins in North America and North West Europe to embrace many parts of the world opposition to nuclear testing has indeed been particularly strong in Japan Australia New Zealand and the Pacific islands The period 1945 to 1990 was dominated by the Cold War between the USA and USSR and the role of the Soviet sponsored World Peace Council caused difficulties for independent peace groups in the West During the 1980s the emergence of autonomous peace activity in a number of East European countries and even on a very small scale in the USSR itself transformed the possibilities for East West co operation between citizens to urge disarmament and political change A chapter examines these developments Opposition to all forms of militarism has spread in the last 30 years This book charts the struggles to extend the right to conscientious objection to military service and draft resistance to particular wars for example in Southern Africa and Israel It also looks in some detail at the growing opposition to the war in the Vietnam The recent protests against the Gulf War are surveyed briefly in an epilogue
