New Essays On White Noise:

New Essays on White Noise Frank Lentricchia, 1991-08-30 White Noise the story of a professor of Hitler Studies and his family has received much attention and critical acclaim This collection of essays provides an overview of the author as well as the controversial novel New essays on White Noise, 1991 New essays on White Noise, 1991

Simulacrum America Elisabeth Kraus, Carolin Auer, 2000 A collection of articles that analyses the role of the media in America from a deconstructionist viewpoint This collection of original essays is a response to the paradigm shift that has taken place in cultural studies in the wake of postmodernism and poststructuralism Such concepts as truth or reality have been increasingly called into question since the realization that our experience of the real is always mediated through an empire of signs as Roland Barthes put it After a predominantly optimistic evaluation of the effects of the media in the 1960s by Marshall McLuhan Hans Magnus Enzensberger and others a growing awareness of the total manipulation of society by mass media imagery has emerged The very concept of representation has become problematic witness the influential essay The Precession of Simulacra by the French sociologist Jean Baudrillard in which he defines simulation as the generation by models of a real without origin or reality a hyperreal the current boom in realityTV comes to mind In the seventeen years since the publication of Baudrillard's Simulacra and Simulation ever more sophisticated technologies based on the computer as the simulacrum machine par excellence have offered us powerful new means of manipulating data and consequently means of manipulating editing and inventing reality The aim of this study is to unmask false representations showing history personal and cultural identity especially gender and racial identities the simulacrum of speed and American reality itself to be constructs

The Environmental Unconscious in the Fiction of Don DeLillo Elise A. Martucci, 2007 This book presents an ecocritical reading of DeLillo's novels in an attempt to mediate between the seemingly incompatible influences of postmodernism and environmentalism Martucci argues that although DeLillo is responding to and engaging with a postmodern culture of simulacra and simulation his novels do not reflect a postmodernist theory of the end of nature Rather his fiction emphasizes the lasting significance of the natural world and alerts us to the dangers of destroying it In order to support this argument Martucci examines DeLillo's novels in the context of traditional American literary representations of the environment especially through the lens of Leo Marx's discussion of the conflict between technology and nature found in traditional American literature She demonstrate that DeLillo's fiction explores the way in which new technologies alter perceptions and mediate reality to a further extent than earlier technologies however she argues that he keeps the material world at the forefront of his novels thereby illuminating the environmental implications of these technologies Through close readings of Americana The Names White Noise and Underworld and discussions of postmodernist and ecocritical theories this project engages with current criticism of DeLillo postmodernist fiction and environmental criticism

Critical Essays on Don DeLillo Hugh M. Ruppersburg, Hugh Ruppersburg, Tim Engles, 2000 This book contains both newly commissioned and reprinted critical essays and reviews on Don DeLillo's novels including articles by Arthur Saltzman John N Duvall Mark Osteen Glen Scott Allen David Cowart George F Will Diane Johnson Christopher Lehmann Haupt and other writers

Approaches to Teaching DeLillo's White Noise Tim Engles, John N. Duvall, 2006 Don DeLillo's satiric novel White Noise prophetic in 1985 about American society's rampant consumerism, information overload, overreliance on the media and environmental problems may seem to today's students simply a description of their lived reality. The challenge for teachers then is to help them appreciate both the postmodern qualities of the novel and its social critique. This volume, like others in the MLA's Approaches to Teaching World Literature series, is divided into two parts. The first part, Materials, suggests readings and resources for both instructor and students of White Noise. The second part, Approaches, contains eighteen essays that establish cultural, technological, and theoretical contexts. e.g. whiteness studies place the novel in different survey courses e.g. one that explores the theme of American materialism compare it with other novels by DeLillo e.g. Mao II and give examples of classroom techniques and strategies in teaching it e.g. the use of disaster films Ethical Diversions Katalin Orban, 2013-09-13 First Published in 2005 This study focuses on a group of related texts which have struggled to rescue rather than eliminate the paradox of answering the original question Why ethics rather than nothing Die deutsche Präsenz in den USA Josef Raab, Jan Wirror, 2008 Whereas the cultural and political influence of the U.S. on Europe and Germany has been researched extensively, the impact of more than 6 million German immigrants on U.S. American history and culture has received far less scholarly attention. Therefore this volume addresses a wide range of areas in which a German presence has been manifesting itself in the U.S. for more than three centuries. Among the disciplines involved in this broad analysis are linguistics, literary studies, history, economics, musicology, as well as media studies and cultural studies

Don DeLillo Jesse Kavadlo, 2004 Don DeLillo, winner of the National Book Award, the William Dean Howells Medal and the Jerusalem Prize, is one of the most important novelists of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. While his work can be understood and taught as prescient and postmodern examples of millennial culture, this book argues that DeLillo's recent novels White Noise, Libra, Mao II, Underworld and The Body Artist are more concerned with spiritual crisis. Although DeLillo's worlds are rife with rejection of belief and littered with faithfulness, estrangement and desperation, his novels provide a balancing moral corrective against the conditions they describe. Speaking the vernacular of contemporary America, DeLillo explores the mysteries of what it means to be human American Novel Explication, 1991-1995 Catherine Glitsch, 1998 Covers criticism of American novels found in journals and books published between the years 1991 and 1995

Conspiracy and Paranoia in Contemporary American Fiction Steffen Hantke, 1994 Under the influence of Thomas Pynchon, a generation of postmodern American writers has explored the theme of conspiracy and paranoia, its origins in contemporary American culture and its political and ideological ramifications. This intense preoccupation with paranoid forms of conceptual organization has helped critics to represent postmodernism as a coherent phenomenon and define it as a period While for many readers the assumption of periodic homogeneity is still valid postmodern fiction has in fact been diversifying rapidly in the course of its development over the last 20 years In the works of Don DeLillo and Joseph McElroy a new set of narrative premises which mark a significant paradigmatic shift within postmodern American fiction has begun to emerge from the dialogic interplay with Pynchonesque paranoia The Journal of Narrative Technique ,1996

Literature and Science Wai-chee Dimock,Priscilla Wald,2002 The goal of this special issue of American Literature is to encourage scholars in both the sciences and the humanities to estrange themselves from their regular ways of thinking Committed to understanding what each discipline has to teach the other the contributors explore the changes in topics approaches and methodologies in the sciences technology and the humanities that surface when scholars take seriously the mandate to consider the basic assumptions of each field from the other point of view The essays address the mutual impact of literature and science through a range of issues geek novels as a subgenre of literature about science the relationship of narrative form to risk analysis and ecological disaster the impact of realism and contemporary developments in neurology and brain biology and the use of technology in the humanities The essays also examine how the humanities explore scientific issues such as in vitro fertilization and human existence cloning and molecular biology and the concept of time Contributors Jay Clayton Wai Chee Dimock N Katherine Hayles Ursula Heise Randall Knoper Martha Nell Smith Stephanie Turner Priscilla Wald Robyn Wiegman

Democracy's Literature Patrick J. Deneen,Joseph Romance,2005 American literature is profoundly almost inescapably political In this fascinating new anthology of original essays ten leading scholars explore the ways in which American civic education has been informally advanced through literature Delving into the works of authors ranging from Mark Twain to William Faulkner to Octavia Butler these essays reflect on the close relationship between democracy and literature

Books in Print ,1991 Consuming Subjects Kimberly Joy Orljan,1999 The Purloined

Child: American Identity and Representations of Childhood in American Literature 1851-2000 Zofia

Kolbuszewska,2007 American Novelists Since World War II. James Richard Giles,Wanda H. Giles,1996 Contains biographical sketches of writers who either began writing novels after 1945 or have done their most important work since then Modern Language Studies ,2007
