Irschick,1994-04-05 Annotation Eugene Irschick deftly questions the conventional wisdom that knowledge about a colonial culture is unilaterally defined by its rulers Focusing on nineteenth century South India he demonstrates that a society's view of its history results from a dialogic process involving all its constituencies For centuries agricultural life in South India was seminomadic But when the British took dominion they sought to stabilize the region by inventing a Tamil golden age of sedentary prosperous villages Irschick shows that this construction resulted not from overt British manipulation but from an intricate cross pollination of both European and native ideas He argues that the Tamil played a critical role in constructing their past and thus shaping their future And British administrators adapted local customs to their own uses The Oudh Law Journal ,1916 Oudh Law Journal ,1916 Fatima Jinnah M.
