Malnutrition in the Elderly W.O. Seiler, H.B. Stähelin, 2012-12-06 H B Stahelin Under or malnutrition is a frequent and serious problem in geriatric patients 8 Today there is no doubt that malnutrition contributes significantly to morbidity and mortality in the aged The immune function is impaired the risk for falls and fractures increases in acute illness recovery is delayed and complications are frequent Acute and chronic illnesses lead to a catabolic metabolism and hence increase the signs and symptoms of malnutrition Cytokines related to inflammation block the synthesis of albumin and shift protein synthesis to acute phase proteins The activation of the ubiquitin proteasome pathway leads to a degradation of muscle protein which leads to an additional loss of muscle mass which occurs as age dependent sarcopenia and adds to the already existing frailty 2 4 It is often difficult to decide to what extent the metabolic alterations result from malnutrition or concomitant illness Psychological factors contribute as a circulus vitiosus significantly to anorexia and thus aggravate the condition They are the most important causes of failure to thrive in old age 7 It is evident that next to the therapy of the underlying illness an adequate support with calorie and nutrient intake over weeks becomes essential under these conditions Clear cut improvements are often only seen after 6 or more weeks Besides a clinical clearly visible malnutrition selective nutrient deficits are much more frequent Numerous and highly different mechanisms may lead to a marginal or insufficient supply with micronutrients
