AB Bookman's Weekly ,1992 The Problem of Freedom in Postmodern Education Tomasz Szkudlarek,1993-06-30

Postmodernism in the West and postsocialism in Eastern Europe have deep features in common as they both challenge the foundations of the world order. They create a new educational situation where basic issues of subjectivity, identity, human freedom and social agency need to be reevaluated and reconstructed. This situation affects both sides of the former Iron Curtain since East and West served as each other's Other in terms of identity formation. This book deals with the problem of freedom and identity in educational theories as they are reinterpreted in the critical perspective of postmodern social theory and postsocialist political openness. Issues of freedom and identity are considered as dialectically related to those of power and emancipation. This book sketches a metatheoretical perspective on emancipatory education in a broad trans-cultural context appropriate to the new global community.

Larry Milton Leitner, Jill C. Thomas, 2009. In a sense the multifaceted contributions in this compendium deconstruct and reconstruct the very concept of personal construct psychology tracing its personal origins in the life and work of George Kelly examining its implications for the construction of a social self and its shadow side alienation and exploring its affordances for a striking range of clinical and theoretical issues. Anyone who wonders whether this wellspring of constructivist psychology continues to feed into vital contemporary discourse will be reassured by the strength, vitality and novelty of the contributions to these pages and the clarity with which Kelly's voice is echoed and extended in the voices of subsequent generations of scholars.
