Martin, 1997 V 1 Theory practices and transcontinental articulations v 2 Studies of national cinemas Includes bibliographical references and indexes Teaching Collection (Film Studies), 1997 Latin American Cinema Paul A. Schroeder Rodríguez, 2016-03-08 This book charts a comparative history of Latin America's national cinemas through ten chapters that cover every major cinematic period in the region: silent cinema, studio cinema, neorealism, and art cinema. The New Latin American Cinema and contemporary cinema. Schroeder Rodríguez weaves close readings of approximately fifty paradigmatic films into a lucid narrative history that is rigorous in its scholarship and framed by a compelling theorization of the multiple discourses of modernity. The result is an essential guide that promises to transform our understanding of the region's cultural history in the last hundred years by highlighting how key players such as the church and the state have affected cinema's unique ability to help shape public discourse and construct modern identities in a region marked by ongoing struggles for social justice and liberation. Cinema and Social Change in Latin America Julianne Burton, 2010-06-28 Since the late 1960s, films from Latin America have won widening audiences in North America and Europe. Until now, no single book has offered an introduction to the diverse personalities and practices that make up this important regional film movement. In Cinema and Social Change in Latin America, Julianne Burton presents twenty interviews with key figures of Latin American cinema covering three decades and ranging from Argentina to Mexico. Interviews with pioneers Fernando Birri, Nelson Pereira dos Santos, and Glauber Rocha; renowned feature filmmakers Tomás Gutiérrez Alea and Carlos Diegues; prize-winning documentarists Patricio Guzmán and Helena Solberg Ladd; among others, endeavor to balance personal achievement against the backdrop of historical, political, social, and economic circumstances that have influenced each director's career. Presented also are conversations that cast light on the related activities of acting, distribution, theory, criticism, and film-based community organizing. More than their counterparts in other regions of the world, Latin American artists and intellectuals acknowledge the degree to which culture is shaped by history and politics. Since the mid-1950s, a period of rising nationalism and regional consciousness, talented young artists and activists have sought to redefine the uses of the film medium in the Latin American context. Questioning the studio and star systems of the Hollywood industrial model, these innovators have developed new forms, content, and processes of production, distribution, and reception. The specific approaches and priorities of the New Latin American Cinema are far from monolithic. They vary from realism to expressionism, from observational documentary to elaborate fictional constructs, from imperfect cinema to a cinema that emulates the high production values of the developed sectors, from self-reflexive to transparent cinematic styles, from highly industrialized modes of production to purely artisanal ones. What does not vary is the commitment to film as a vehicle for social transformation and the expression of national and regional cultural autonomy From early alternative cinema efforts in Argentina Brazil and Cuba to a contemporary perspective from within the Mexican commercial industry to the emerging cinema and video production from Central America Cinema and Social Change in Latin America offers the most comprehensive look at Latin American film available today The New Latin American Cinema Zuzana M. Pick,1993 From these investigations she traces the complex interrelation between the supranational goals of the movement and the national tendencies that have also shaped the movement s ideology She documents how the New Latin American Cinema has effectively used film as a tool to change society to transform national expressions to support international differences and to assert regional autonomy The New Latin American Cinema Zuzana M.
