Paramilitary Imprisonment In Northern Ireland:

Paramilitary Imprisonment in Northern Ireland Kieran McEvoy, Reader in Criminology Kieran McEvoy, 2001 Based upon interviews with former prisoners and staff Kieran McEvoy's study relates their experiences to the broader literature on imprisonment of paramilitaries in Northern Ireland

Dictionary of Prisons and Punishment Yvonne Jewkes, Jamie Bennett, 2013-01-11 Contemporary prison practice faces many challenges is developing rapidly and is becoming increasingly professionalized influenced by the new National Offender Management Service As well as bringing an increased emphasis on skills and qualifications it has also introduced a new set of ideas and concepts into the established prisons and penal lexicon At the same time courses on prisons and penology remain important components of criminology and criminal justice degree courses This will be the essential source of reference for the increasing number of people studying in working in prisons and working with prisoners This Dictionary is part a new series of dictionaries covering key aspects of criminal justice and the criminal justice system and designed to meet the needs of both students and practitioners approximately 300 entries of between 500 and 1500 words on key terms and concepts arranged alphabetically designed to meet the needs of both students and practitioners entries include summary definition main text and key texts and sources takes full account of emerging occupational and Skills for Justice criteria edited by a leading academic and practitioner in the prisons and penology field entries contributed by leading academic and practitioners in prisons and penology

Parental Imprisonment and Children's Rights Fiona Donson, Aisling Parkes, 2021-03-30 This book brings together internationally renowned academics and professionals from a variety of disciplines who in a variety of ways seek to understand the legal conceptual and practical consequences of parental imprisonment through a children's rights lens Children whose parents have been incarcerated are often referred to as invisible victims of crime and the penal system It is well accepted that the imprisonment of a parent even for a short period of time not only negatively affects the lives of children but it can also result in a gross violation of their fundamental human rights such as the right of access to their parent and the right to have an input into decision making processes affecting them the outcomes of which will without doubt affect the life of the child concerned This collection foregrounds the voice of these children as it explores transdisciplinary boundaries and examines the practice and development of the rights of both children and their families within the wider dynamic of criminal justice and penology practice The text is divided into three parts which are dedicated to 1 hearing the voices of children with parents in prison 2 understanding to what extent children's rights informs prison policy and 3 demonstrating how law in the form of children's rights can help frame both court sentencing and prison practice in a way that minimises the harm that contact with the prison system can cause The research drawn upon in this book has been conducted in a number of European countries and demonstrates both good and bad practice as far as the implementation of children's rights is concerned in the context of parental incarceration An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of law children's rights criminology sociology social work psychology penology and all those interested in and working towards protecting the rights of children who have a parent in prison

Human Rights and Incarceration Elizabeth Stanley, 2018-08-09 This collection considers human rights and incarceration in relation to the liberal democratic states of Australia New Zealand and the UK It presents original case study material on groups that are disproportionately affected by incarceration including indigenous populations children women those with disabilities and refugees or non citizens The book considers how and why human rights are eroded but also how they can be built and sustained through social creative cultural legal political and personal acts It establishes the need for pragmatic reforms as well as the abolition of incarceration Contributors consider what has or might work to secure rights for incarcerated populations and they critically analyse human rights in their legal socio cultural economic and political contexts In covering this ground the book presents a re invigorated vision of human rights in relation to incarceration After all human rights are not static principles they have to be developed fought over and engaged with

Threat Abeer Baker, Anat Matar, 2011-05-06 Palestinian prisoners charged with security related offences are immediately taken as a threat to Israel s security They are seen as potential if not actual suicide bombers This stereotype ignores the political nature of the Palestinian prisoners actions and their desire for liberty By highlighting the various images of Palestinian prisoners in the Israel Palestine conflict Abeer Baker and Anat Matar chart their changing fortunes Essays written by prisoners ex prisoners Human rights defenders lawyers and academic researchers analyse the political nature of imprisonment and Israeli attitudes towards Palestinian prisoners These contributions deal with the prisoners status within Palestinian society the conditions of their imprisonment and various legal procedures used by the Israeli military courts in order to criminalise and de politicise them Also addressed are Israel s breaches of international treaties in its treatment of the Palestinian prisoners practices of torture and solitary confinement exchange deals and prospects for release This is a unique intervention within Middle East studies that will inspire those working in human rights international law and the peace process

Irish Women and Nationalism Louise Ryan, Margaret Ward, 2019-09-16 Studies of Irish nationalism have been primarily historical in scope and overwhelmingly male in content Too often the shadow of the gunman has dominated Little recognition has been given to the part women have played yet over the centuries they have undertaken a variety of roles as combatants prisoners writers and politicians In this exciting new book the full range of women s contribution to the Irish nationalist movement is explored by writers whose interests range from the historical and sociological to the literary and cultural From the little known contribution of women to the earliest nationalist uprisings of the 1600s and 1700s to their active participation in the republican campaigns of the twentieth century different chapters consider the changing contexts of female militancy and the challenge this has posed to masculine images and structures Using a wide range of sources including textual analysis archives and documents newspapers and autobiographies interviews and action research individual writers examine sensitive and highly complex debates around women s role in situations of conflict At the cutting edge of contemporary scholarship this is a major contribution to wider feminist debates about the gendering of nationalism raising questions about the extent to which women's rights demands and concerns can ever be fully accommodated within nationalist movements

Criminal Justice in Transition Anne-Marie McAlinden, Clare Dwyer, 2015-11-12 This book represents a critical examination of key aspects of crime and criminal justice in Northern Ireland which will have resonance elsewhere It considers the core aspects of criminal justice policy making in Northern Ireland which are central to the process of post conflict transition including reform of policing judicial decision making and correctional services such as probation and prisons It examines contemporary trends in criminal justice in Northern Ireland and various dimensions of crime relating to female offenders young offenders sexual and violent offenders community safety and restorative justice The book also considers the extent to which crime and criminal justice issues in Northern Ireland are being affected by the broader processes of policy transfer globalisation and transnationalism and the extent to which criminal justice in Northern Ireland is divergent from the other jurisdictions in the United Kingdom Written by leading international authorities in the field the book offers a snapshot of the cutting edge of critical thinking in criminal justice practice and transitional justice contexts

Stanford Journal of International Law, 2003

Political Leadership and the Northern Ireland Peace Process Cathy Gormley-Heenan, 2007-02-15 This book argues that much of the literature on political leadership has made little meaningful connection with the issues of peace conflict and divided societies In providing a critical interpretation of political leadership during the Northern Ireland peace process Cathy Gormley Heenan shows how the leadership lens offers insights not offered by conventional analyses of peacemaking processes Using interviews with political elites in Northern Ireland the book discusses the confusions contradictions and chameleonic nature of leadership and its role capacity and effect

Beyond the Wire Peter Shirlow, Kieran McEvoy, 2008-01-20 Analyses the positive role that former prisoners can have in reconstructing communities in the wake of internal conflict

Irish Protestant Identities Mervyn Busteed, Frank Neal, Jonathan Tonge, 2008 Irish Protestant Identities is a major multi disciplinary portrayal and analysis of the often overlooked Protestant tradition in Ireland A distinguished team of contributors explore what is distinctive about the religious minority on the island of Ireland Protestant contributions to literature culture religion and politics are all examined Accessible and engaging throughout the book examines the contributions to Irish society from Protestant authors Protestant churches the Orange Order Unionist parties and Ulster loyalists Most books on Ireland have concentrated upon the Catholicism and Nationalism which shaped the country in terms of literature poetry politics and outlook This book instead explores how a minority tradition has developed and coped with existence in a polity and society in which some historically felt under represented or neglected

Beyond the Wire Peter Shirlow, Kieran McEvoy, 2008-01-20 This book provides the first detailed examination of the role played by former loyalist and republican prisoners in grass roots conflict transformation work in the Northern Ireland peace process It challenges the assumed passivity of former prisoners and ex combatants

Instead it suggests that such individuals and the groups which they formed have been key agents of conflict transformation. They have provided leadership in challenging cultures of violence, developed practical methods of resolving inter communal conflict and found ways for communities to explore their troubled past. In analysing this the authors challenge the sterile demonisation of former prisoners and the processes that maintain their exclusion from normal civic and social life. The book is a constructive reminder of the need for full participation of both former combatants and victims in post conflict transformation. It also lays out a new agenda for reconciliation which suggests that conflict transformation can and should begin from the extremes. The book will be of interest to students of criminology, peace and conflict studies, law and politics, geography and sociology as well as those with a particular interest in the Northern Ireland conflict. The Changing Constitution Jeffrey L. Jowell, Dawn Oliver, 2004. A collection of essays which covers the main areas of constitutional change and reform. This fifth edition provides commentaries on the developments in constitutional reform and to anticipate future changes. It also considers possible further reforms including the introduction of proportional representation for elections to the House of Commons. Current Law Statutes Great Britain, 2002. The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2001. Prison Legal News, 2001. Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 2003. Prisons and Their Moral Performance Alison Liebling, Helen Arnold, 2004. Penal practices have undergone important transformations over the period from 1990 to 2003. Part of this transformation included a serious flirtation with a liberal penal project that went wrong. A significant contributory factor in this unfortunate turn of events was a lack of clarity by those working in and managing prisons about important terms such as justice, liberal and care and how they might apply to daily penal life. Official measures of the prison service seem to lack relevance to many who live and work in prison and to their critics. The author proposes that a truer test of the quality of prison life is what staff and prisoners have to say about those aspects of prison life that matter most: relationships, fairness, order and the quality of their treatment by those above them. The book attempts a detailed analysis and measurement of these dimensions in five prisons. It finds significant differences between establishments in these areas of prison life and some departures from the official vision of the prison supported by the performance framework. Comparative Perspectives on Civil Society Robert A. Dowie, 2008-07-07. Comparative Perspective of Civil Society examines the role of civil society in the economic, social and political development of several nations. It uses a comparative perspective to explore the intriguing challenges that civil society organizations face in the development processes of various nations. It argues that while the involvement of civil society organizations in the achievement of sustainable development is an extremely complex process, it is paramount for stakeholders i.e. government officials, NGOs, staff, the private sector, union, professional association, leaders and community based groups to increase their knowledge and cooperation. Environment and Planning, 2007.
