Parent Alone:

I am the Parent who Stayed Nina Farr,2018-03-09 It s hard to be left taking care of your family all by yourself Parenting alone in the wake of domestic violence intense conflict or traumatic unexpected events makes being the parent who stayed even more difficult Are you standing in the ruins of your family wondering what the hell you have to do to get back to being ok again Has the amount of conflict aggression and shame that came with separation divorce floored your and your kids You deserve to be happy no matter how awful this has been Parenting alone after traumatic family breakdown is relentless lonely scary and hard The nights you sit on the stairs crying after the kids finally fall asleep The days you can barely get out of bed but push on through because no one else is going to pick up the pieces The times you watch your children crumple into anger despair and frustration and you simply don t know what to do If you feel that you re stuck in the trenches this book is for you It s for you if even lifting your eyes to the path ahead feels like putting yourself in the firing line It is for you if you re just about getting through the day you re in It s for you if you know that life cannot change when you have no perspective no vision and no plan You can figure out how to pick up all the broken pieces of your life and put them back together again Nina Farr TED Speaker Author and Leadership Coach plus ex lone parent to two under two can show you how because she s been there Youth Employment and Joblessness in Advanced Countries David G.

Blanchflower,Richard B. Freeman,2007-12-01 The economic status of young people has declined significantly over the past two decades despite a variety of programs designed to aid new workers in the transition from the classroom to the job market This ongoing problem has proved difficult to explain Drawing on comparative data from Canada Germany France Sweden and the United Kingdom these papers go beyond examining only employment and wages and explore the effects of family background education and training social expectations and crime on youth employment This volume brings together key studies providing detailed analyses of the difficult economic situation plaguing young workers Why have demographic changes and additional schooling failed to resolve youth unemployment How effective have those economic policies been which aimed to improve the labor skills and marketability of young people And how have youths themselves responded to the deteriorating job market confronting them These questions form the empirical and organizational bases upon which these studies are founded Co-Parenting Works! Partners Becoming Parents of Marital Studies, Tavistock Institute, 1997-02-01 Christopher Clulow examines the connections between partnership and parenthood focusing on the parents as partners as well as parents and on the child He examines how children change the relationship between their parents and what relevance the couple's relationship has for healthy child development Becoming parents is arguably the most challenging of life changes faced by couples There are no clear guidelines about what is involved the routes are many and the choices range broadly Today diverse lifestyles new technologies and changing socioeconomic circumstances have combined with other factors to further complicate the demands of parenting Against this backdrop couples play out dramas constructed from their own histories and continuing lives together The child is born into this context of subtle interplay between each parent's and the couple's inner and outer experiences This book provides a fascinating and authoritative look at the emotional process of becoming a family Parent Alone Suzanne Stewart, 1980 The Boy and
