Parenthood A Psychodynamic Perspective:

Parenthood Rebecca S. Cohen, Bertram J. Cohler, Sidney H. Weissman, 1984-04-23 Handbook of Parenting Marc H. Bornstein, 2019-02-01 This highly anticipated third edition of the Handbook of Parenting brings together an array of field leading experts who have worked in different ways toward understanding the many diverse aspects of parenting Contributors to the Handbook look to the most recent research and thinking to shed light on topics every parent professional and policymaker wonders about Parenting is a perennially hot topic After all everyone who has ever lived has been parented and the vast majority of people become parents themselves No wonder bookstores house shelves of how to parenting books and magazine racks in pharmacies and airports overflow with periodicals that feature parenting advice However almost none of these is evidence based The Handbook of Parenting is Period Each chapter has been written to be read and absorbed in a single sitting and includes historical considerations of the topic a discussion of central issues and theory a review of classical and modern research and forecasts of future directions of theory and research Together the five volumes in the Handbook cover Children and Parenting the Biology and Ecology of Parenting Being and Becoming a Parent Social Conditions and Applied Parenting and the Practice of Parenting Volume 3 Being and Becoming a Parent considers a large cast of characters responsible for parenting each with her or his own customs and agenda and examines what the psychological characteristics and social interests of those individuals reveal about what parenting is Chapters in Part I on The Parent show just how rich and multifaceted is the constellation of children s caregivers Considered first are family systems and then successively mothers and fathers coparenting and gatekeeping between parents adolescent parenting grandparenting and single parenthood divorced and remarried parenting lesbian and gay parents and finally sibling caregivers and nonparental caregiving Parenting also draws on transient and enduring physical personality and intellectual characteristics of the individual The chapters in Part II on Becoming and Being a Parent consider the intergenerational transmission of parenting parenting and contemporary reproductive technologies the transition to parenthood and stages of parental development and then chapters turn to parents well being emotions self efficacy cognitions and attributions as well as socialization personality in parenting and psychoanalytic theory These features of parents serve many functions they generate and shape parental practices mediate the effectiveness of parenting and help to organize parenting Early Adolescence and the Search for Self Douglas Schave, Barbara Schave, 1989-06-23 This study achieves a new perspective to this very creative and volatile time of life The Schaves offer a better and more positive understanding of the developmental tasks of early adolescence and fully describes the states of mind the struggles of self differentiation and the coping styles used by this age group to protect against shame In addition they provide a systematic approach to treatment strategies techniques and problem solving with adolescents and their families This book is a trail blazer on many grounds It makes a contribution to the literature on adolescence by offering an entirely new and clinically highly relevant explanation to a period of life when rapid changes in psychic organization can turn the tide either toward a wholesome development or toward serious derailments and psychopathology Anna Ornstein The first book to focus specifically on early adolescence this study achieves a new perspective to this very creative and volatile time of life Drawing from their professional experience and their private practices the authors provide a stimulating integration of self psychology Piaget s cognitive developmental theory and affect theory They also elaborate on several important ideas presented in the revolutionary book The Interpersonal World of the Infant by Daniel N Stern This book offers a better and more positive understanding of the developmental tasks of early adolescence The authors consider the adolescent s search for self identity and self esteem a function of cognitive growth as well as affect attunement and self differentiation The cognitive and emotional search for selfhood further results in the development of defense mechanisms This book provides a completely different perspective for mental health professionals It fully describes the volatile states of mind the struggles of self differentiation and the coping styles used by this age group to protect against shame In addition it provides a systematic approach to treatment strategies techniques and problem solving with adolescents and their families Mental health professionals as well as parents of early adolescents will find Early Adolescence and the Search for Self a thought provoking study The reader is introduced to four main themes developed throughout this book The primary of affects and affect attunement from infancy through early adolescence the continued importance of parents in the development of self The distinct states of mind experienced by early adolescents and finally Adolescence as the period of consolidation of cognitive thinking Primary Love Randall S. Klein, 2010-06-05 In Primary Love Dr Klein describes love and intimacy as they evolve in the context of family relations from birth to maturity in adulthood Once the original attachment and the loving intimate bond between a mother and her infant child are established primary love is founded and secured Every relationship of love and intimacy formed thereafter has as its foundation nature and design the original pristine loving relationship encountered in the very earliest period of life When two adults form a mature intimate relationship it is the unconscious wish of both partners to recapture and claim the bliss and the ecstasy of primary love nestled securely in a mother s loving and ministering arms Dr Klein s view of love and intimacy is that which is found in the ideal marriage and family fully acknowledging that the pure and perfect marriage and family does not exist Yet the perfectly described nature of marriage and the family serves as an ideal toward which to strive for the ideal provides the ultimate of pleasure and reward in the human encounter of love Exploring Parenthood Ruth Schmidt Nevin, 1994

Handbook of Parenting: Being and becoming a parent Marc H. Bornstein, 2002 Despite the fact that most people become parents and everyone who has ever lived has had parents parenting remains a mystifying subject about which almost everyone has opinions but about which few people agree Striking permutations on the theme of parenting are emerging single parenthood blended families lesbian and gay parents and teen versus fifties first time moms and dads Divided into four volumes the Handbook of Parenting is concerned with different types of parents basic characteristics of parenting forces that shape parenting problems faced by parents and the practical sides of parenting Contributors have worked in different ways toward understanding all of these diverse aspects of parenting and look to the most recent research and thinking in the field to shed light on many topics every parent has wondered about Because development is too subtle dynamic and intricate to admit that parental caregiving alone determines the course and outcome of ontogeny

Dependency and Interdependency in Old Age Chris Phillipson, Miriam Bernard, Patricia Strang, 2024-05-10 Originally published in 1986 Dependency and Interdependency in Old Age presents papers from the British Society of Gerontology annual conference in 1985 The areas covered include the sociology of ageing methodological issues evaluations of service provision ethnographies of growing old historical studies and political perspectives on ageing A creative dialogue between the proponents of these themes was urgently needed at the time and it was hoped that this volume would stimulate such a discussion

Object Relations and the Family Process Randall Klein, 1990-01-09 Joining two usually distinct areas of psychoanalytic treatment this volume explores the psychoanalytic theory of object relations and its application to the study of marital and family interaction Freud's object relations model lends itself well to the study of internalized object relations and external personal relations Integrating various psychoanalytic approaches as well as contributions of Piagetian scholars this essay also incorporates general systems theory The study covers the breakdown of marital relationships narcissism of partners separation and individuation of adolescent offspring role typing family communication defense mechanisms entrapping and emotional processes It concludes with a synthesis of marital and family object relations models Object Relations and the Family Process introduces the reader to the object relations model It describes the process of acquiring object concepts of both permanence and libidinal strivings The concept of libidinal object is then defined An overview of the psychoanalytic theory of object relations is given and the intrapersonal and interpersonal spheres of object relations are described The remainder of the book is devoted to the author's presentation of his hypothetical model Both psychoanalysts and therapists will find this model a useful one

Death Anxiety and Future Time Perspectives in Adolescence Following the Death of a Classmate Or Peer Elizabeth Ann DeRath, 1991

The Learning Curve Judith Marks Mishne, 1996 Dr Judith Mishne's book shows how to raise self-reliant children who thrive at school Written for parents and for professionals working with children and their parents this book demonstrates that children's social development must be given paramount importance in order for them to achieve long-term school success Particularly in the early years a child's sense of self and his or her ability to trust the environment are the qualities that need to be nurtured more than cognitive skills Dr Mishne shows parents how to be effective caregivers by knowing realistically what to expect from a child based on a well illustrated developmental timetable and an appreciation for individual differences From supporting bids for autonomy to structuring homework assignments she gives parents the know how for managing challenges She also dispels popular misconceptions about children that can impede healthy parent child interaction and child development Throughout Dr Mishne suggests how to engender in children independence self confidence and a sense of responsibility for themselves and their studies

Social Change and Women's Reproductive Health Care Nada Logan Stotland,1988 Changing attitudes and social behavior as well as rapid technological progress are having great impact on women s reproductive health care In addition to addressing the clinical implications of these new issues this volume provides a useful and concise text for practitioners of obstetrics and gynecology Because it deals with the ubiquitous emotional aspects of reproductive health care it will also be of interest to nonspecialists and interested lay readers

Interrelationships Between Parents' Perceptions of Their Marriage and Their Experiences as Parents Stacy Jacobson,1986

Teacher-parent Partnerships to Enhance School Success in Early Childhood Education Kevin J. Swick,1991 This publication discusses issues of parent teacher partnerships that affect children s development An introductory chapter suggests that the central figures in fostering the development of a child s potential are the significant adults in the child s world Chapter 2 considers family relationships as prototypes for later partnerships and lists several family attributes such as love communication and commitment that promote partnerships Chapter 3 lists attributes of parents and teachers that promote parent teacher partnerships and explains several paradigms of parent and teacher involvement in family and school Chapter 4 stresses the importance of establishing partnerships during the child s early years and warns of the dangers of degrading partnerships for at risk parents Chapter 5 suggests a framework for teacher parent partnerships and offers examples of successful partnership programs The chapter also suggests partnership strategies including home visits training programs conferences newsletters efforts to welcome parents homework activities and the involvement of parents in decision making Chapter 6 addresses the topics of evaluation of partnerships role conflicts and confrontation within partnerships cultural differences as learning experiences and support for at risk families Chapter 7 discusses issues concerning the process of strengthening families and schools A bibliography of 130 items is included BC

Gender and Addictions S. L.A. Straussner,Elizabeth Zelvin,1997-10 Recognizing that men and women have different patterns and different needs the book emphasizes the relational model of female psychological development formulated by such theorists as Miller Chodorow and Gilligan which illuminates women s functional focus on connection and relationship as opposed to men s on separation and individuation

First-time Motherhood Ramona Thieme Mercer,1986

Origins of Human Aggression Gerard G. Neuman,1987

The Measure of a Man Jerrold Lee Shapiro,1993 Based on interviews with hundreds of fathers and couples this eye opening book provides a comprehensive overview of fatherhood Shapiro also describes the surprising ways in which women can sometimes hinder this process actually preventing men from sharing in the joys and responsibilities of fatherhood
