Parting Of Ways:

Judith Butler and Marxism Elliot Mason,Valentina Moro,2025-03-15 What would a Butlerian Marxism look like Marxist criticisms of Butler range from careful comparisons of forms to the total dismissal of an unpolitical merely cultural anarchy None of these criticisms however focuses on what seems to most closely unite these two projects the universal abolition of the universal While Marxist communism is focused on the abolition of value and property Butler is consistently concerned throughout their corpus with the abolition of the subject as the universal form of social relations an abolition staged by way of a relational ontology and ethics Their methodologies for achieving abolition however vary hugely Butler s sees the performativity of subjects and power as an opportunity for differential assembly Marxists are primarily concerned with the working class as a revolutionary vanguard that withdraws its labor from production Judith Butler and Marxism explores the possibility of a Butlerian Marxism understood as abolitionist performativity differential vulnerability and generalized practices of care The essays in this volume attempt to actualize the antagonistic persistence of social particulars pursuing the abolition of the domination and violence that pervade society with increasing brutality The three sections of this volumeare structured according to three pivotal political concepts in Butler s corpus performativity vulnerability and care Each essay contributes to a possible mutual development of Butler s and Marxism s concern with assembly interdependence and refusal forming a revolutionary politics of care This is the first book to fully study the contentious link between the vastly influential projects of Judith Butler and Marxism

International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski,David Gaimster,2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today Archaeologies of Mobility and Movement Mary C Beaudry,Travis G. Parno,2013-02-06 This collection of essays in Archaeologies of Mobility and Movement draws inspiration from current archaeological interest in the movement of individuals things and ideas in the recent past Movement is fundamentally concerned with the relationship s among time object person and space The volume argues that understanding movement in the past requires a shift away from traditional fieldwork based archaeological ontologies towards fluid trajectory based studies Archaeology by its very nature locates objects frozen in space literally in their three dimensional matrices at sites that are often stripped of people An archaeology of movement must break away from this stasis and cut new pathways that trace the boundary crossing contextuality inherent in object person mobility Essays in this volume build on these new approaches confronting issues of movement from a variety of perspectives They are divided into four sections based on how the act of moving is framed The groups into which these chapters are placed are not meant to be unyielding or definitive The first section Objects in Motion includes case studies that follow the paths of material culture and its interactions with groups of people The second section of this volume People in Motion features chapters that explore the shifting material traces of human mobility Chapters in the third section of this book Movement through Spaces illustrate the effects that particular spaces have on the people and objects who pass through them Finally there is an afterward that cohesively addresses the issue of studying movement in the recent past At the heart of Archaeologies of Mobility and Movement is a concern with the hybridity of people and things affordances of objects and spaces contemporary heritage issues and the effects of movement onarchaeological subjects in the recent and contemporary past Collected Poems Austin Dobson,1913 A Political Theory for the Jewish People Chaim Gans,2016 The book presents several interpretations of Zionism and the post Zionist alternatives currently proposed for it as political theories for the Jews It explicates their historiographical philosophical and moral foundations and their implications for the relationships between Jews and Arabs in Israel Palestine and between Jews in Israel and world Jews

Consumer Choice in Historical Archaeology S.M. SpencerWood,1987-06-30 Historical archaeology has made great strides during the last two decades Early archaeological reports were dominated by descriptions of features and artifacts while research on artifacts was concentrated on studies of topology technology and chronology Site reports from the 1960s and 1970s commonly expressed faith in the potential artifacts had for aiding in the identifying socioeconomic status differences and for understanding the relationships be tween the social classes in terms of their material culture An emphasis was placed on the presence or absence of porcelain or teaware as an indication of social status These were typical features in site reports written just a few years ago During this same period advances were being made in the study of food bone as archaeologists moved away from bone counts to minimal animal counts and then on to the costs of various cuts of meat Within the last five years our ability to address questions of the relationship between material culture and socioeconomic status has greatly expanded The essays in this volume present efforts toward measuring expenditure and consumption patterns represented by commonly recovered artifacts and food bone These patterns of consumption are examined in conjunction with evidence from documentary sources that provide information on occupations wealth levels and ethnic affiliations of those that did the consuming One of the refreshing aspects of these papers is that the authors are not afraid of documents and their use of them is not limited to a role of confirmation Truth, Modality, and Ontology John Devlin,1999

Levinas Faces Biblical Figures Yael Lin,2014-03-20 This collection of essays is an attempt to capture the drama of the encounter of the facing of Levinas and the biblical text It seeks to link Jewish experience and Levinasian themes such as responsibility substitution hospitality suffering and forgiveness and at the same time make the biblical text accessible in a new way The book offers new insights on the opening up of Levinas's thought and biblical stories to one another it considers the ways in which Levinas can open up the biblical text to requestioning and how the biblical text can inform our reading of Levinas Setting up in dialogue the heteronomic texts the narrative texts of the bible and Levinas's philosophical texts allows an enforced and renewed understanding of both The examination of these issues is pursued from diverse perspectives and disciplines probing the role biblical figures play in Levinas's thought and the manner by which to approach them Do the biblical allusions serve in Levinas's thought merely as a rhetorical and literary device as illustrations of his ideas or perhaps they have a deeper philosophical meaning which contributes to his project in general Do the references to biblical figures work in Levinas's philosophy in a way that other literary figures are incapable of and how do these references comply with his conflicted attitude towards literature Werner's Readings and Recitations ,1915

The Future of Testimony Antony Rowland,Jane Kilby,2014-06-20 Celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the groundbreaking Testimony this collection brings together the leading academics from a range of scholarly fields to explore the meaning use and value of testimony in law and politics its relationship to other forms of writing like literature and poetry and its place in society It visits testimony in relation to a range of critical developments including the rise of Truth Commissions and the explosion and radical extension of human rights discourse renewed cultural interest in perpetrators of violence alongside the phenomenal commercial success of victim testimony in the form of misery memoirs and the emergence of disciplinary interest in genocide terror and other violent atrocities These issues are necessarily inflected by the question of witnessing violence pain and suffering at both the local and global level across cultures and in postcolonial contexts At the volume's core is an interdisciplinary concern over the current and future nature of witnessing as it plays out through a new Europe post 9 11 US war torn Africa and in countless refugee and detention centers and as it is worked out by lawyers journalists medics and novelists The collection draws together an international range of case studies including discussion of the former Yugoslavia Gaza and Rwanda and encompasses a cross disciplinary set of texts novels plays testimonial writing and hybrid testimonies The volume situates itself at the cutting edge of debate and as such brings together the leading thinkers in the field requiring that each address the future anticipating and setting the future terms of debate on the importance of testimony    The Smart Set George Jean Nathan, Henry Louis Mencken, 1901    Flight, 1910    The Traitor's Way Sidney Kilner Levett-Yeats, 1901
