Partners Becoming Parents:

Partners Becoming Parents of Marital Studies, Tavistock Institute, 1997-02-01 Christopher Clulow examines the connections between partnership and parenthood focusing on the parents as partners as well as parents and on the child. He examines how children change the relationship between their parents and what relevance the couple's relationship has for healthy child development. Becoming parents is arguably the most challenging of life changes faced by couples. There are no clear guidelines about what is involved; the routes are many and the choices range broadly. Today diverse lifestyles, new technologies and changing socioeconomic circumstances have combined with other factors to further complicate the demands of parenting. Against this backdrop, couples play out dramas constructed from their own histories and continuing lives together. The child is born into this context of subtle interplay between each parent's and the couple's inner and outer experiences. This book provides a fascinating and authoritative look at the emotional process of becoming a family.

When Partners Become Parents Carolyn Pape Cowan, Philip A. Cowan, 1992. Based on a landmark internationally known ten year study of men and women having a first child, this book describes how couples can make small changes to avoid the toll that this happy transition can take on marriage.

When Partners Become Parents Carolyn P. Cowan, Philip A. Cowan, 1992-05-11. Based on landmark 10 yr study of 100 couples.

Baby Bomb Kara Hoppe, Stan Tatkin, 2021-07-01. A new baby can turn your life and your romantic relationship upside down. Baby Bomb is the resource parents need to integrate life with baby so they can co-parent and co-partner as a solid and supportive team while also cultivating mad love for each other. The book gives moms and dads more than just tips for better parenting and partnering; it gives them a science based understanding of why a secure functioning relationship is essential for successful parenting.

Clinical Guide to Helping New Parents W. Kim Halford, Jemima Petch, Debra Creedy, 2015-04-25. This accessible guide details an evidence based educational program to help couples adapt to parenthood while minimizing the inevitable stress on the relationship. Complete with content rationales, activities and client materials, its flexible format allows for home and office visits and phone online support across the transition starting during pregnancy and continuing into early infancy.

Activities build on themes of caring, change and cooperation as couples learn to identify and address sources of conflict, solve infant care problems and to become optimal partners as well as optimal parents. The book's hands on presentation includes chapter highlights, boxed Practice Tips and Clinical Connections sections, client handouts and worksheets and examples of clinician interactions with couples. The sessions described in Clinical Guide to Helping New Parents, The Couple CARE for Parents Program are organized to meet challenges and reinforce skills in key areas including: Developing realistic and shared expectations, Promoting positive communications and self change, Conflict management communication skills, Developing sensitive and responsive parenting, Reviewing personal and social support, Developing caring and healthy sexuality, Anticipating and preventing relationship deterioration.
