Making Faces Using Forensic And Archaeological Evidence:

Making Faces John Prag, Richard Neave, 1997 Applied also to modern criminal investigations facial reconstruction brings together the work of numerous specialists ranging from dentists to geneticists and from archaeologists to radiologists The important historical implications of their work are no more strongly demonstrated than in their confirmation that the body resting in Tomb II at Verginia was that of King Philip II the father of Alexander the Great when the face was reconstructed the eye injury received by Philip at Methone was unmistakable Making Faces takes the reader into byways of forensic study surgery and folklore and reveals how the art of facial reconstruction has opened up whole new vistas of the past

Computer-Graphic Facial Reconstruction John G. Clement, Murray K. Marks, 2005-07-02 This unique book looks at a cost efficient fast and accurate means of facial reconstruction from segmented decomposed or skeletal remains using computer graphic and computational means Computer Graphic Facial Reconstruction is designed as a valuable resource for those scientists designing new research projects and protocols as well as a practical handbook of methods and techniques for medico legal practitioners who actually identify the faceless victims of crime It looks at a variety of approaches artificial intelligence using neural networks case based reasoning Bayesian belief systems along with a variety of imaging methods radiological CT MRI and the use of imaging devices The methods described in this book complement or may even replace the less reliable more traditional means of securing identification by presumptive means i.e. recognition of clothing personal effects and clay reconstruction Covers cutting edge technologies in the context of historical forensic reconstruction methods Features stellar authors from around the globe Bridges the areas of computer graphics animation and forensic anthropology

Images and Artefacts of the Ancient World Alan K. Bowman, Michael Brady, 2005-05-26 In this genuinely productive interdisciplinary dialogue engineering scientists archaeologists and historians discuss how recent exciting developments in imaging image analysis and image display diffusion can be applied to three dimensional objects of material culture from the classical world ranging from inscribed writing tablets to buildings and urban sites The fifteen papers explore the ways in which the scientific contributors and the historians are thinking about subjectivity of interpretation visual cognition and the need to improve the presentation of evidence so as to feed directly back into their own scientific thinking and to encourage genuine innovation in developing methods of image enhancement and the interpretation of objects

The Human Face Mary

Katsikitis,2012-12-06 James W Pennebaker The University of Texas at Austin At first glance a scientific book on the face doesn't make a great deal of sense After all the face is not a biological unit that falls into a specific medical specialty By the same token it is not part of a of a specific clear functional system that falls within the purview subdiscipline of psychology philosophy sociology or any other traditional area It seems that the only organizing principle of the face is that all humans have one and that it is central to the experience of being human As a social stimulus the face can signal emotions personality sex physical and mental health social status age and aspects of our thoughts intentions and our inner selves At various points in our lives we spend a tremendous amount of time and money for cosmetics cleansers medicines and occasionally surgery to enhance our face In the same way that a normative symmetrical face can attract praise and even adoration damage to the face through birth defects disease or injury is almost always stigmatizing Our faces then are social advertisements for who we are

The Eye and the Beholder Hannelore Hägele,2014-06-02 In The Eye and the Beholder the author singles out a topic already touched upon in her previous book Colour in Sculpture By raising the question of how significant the colouring of the eye is to figurative representations of the late medieval and early modern period Hannelore Hägele examines the different solutions open to the sculptor which vary depending on historical and cultural parameters The created eye must suit purpose and style She discusses a number of unusual aspects of this sculpted eyes in antiquity the art and craft of polychromy partial polychromy emotions and expressions the gaze and the glance from the sculpted eye to colour and the glass eye and what the eye cannot see Dr Hägele asks whether advances in optics and other sciences or theological concepts such as the eye of God and the inner eye determined the way in which eyes were perceived and represented It is the beholder whether as maker or viewer who engages with and judges the worth of any creative effort and what it contributes to an understanding of the seen and the unseen The illustrations and the many coloured plates accompanying the text offer an overview of the subject

Women in Antiquity Stephanie Lynn Budin,Jean Macintosh Turfa,2016-08-12 This volume gathers brand new essays from some of the most respected scholars of ancient history archaeology and physical anthropology to create an engaging overview of the lives of women in antiquity The book is divided into ten sections nine focusing on a particular area and also includes almost 200 images maps and charts The sections cover Mesopotamia Egypt Anatolia Cyprus the Levant the Aegean Italy and Western Europe and include many lesser known cultures such as the Celts Iberia Carthage the Black Sea region and Scandinavia Women's experiences are explored from ordinary daily life to religious ritual and practice to motherhood childbirth sex and building a career Forensic evidence is also treated for the actual bodies of ancient women Women in Antiquity is edited by two experts in the field and is an invaluable resource to students of the ancient world gender studies and women's roles throughout history

Three-dimensional Imaging in Paleoanthropology and Prehistoric Archaeology Bertrand-Yves Mafart,Hervé Delingette,Gérard Subsol,2002 This volume presents the proceedings of a colloquium held at the XIVth UISPP Congress It constitutes the most extensive collection of data yet published on the topic of 3D imaging in paleoarcheology In addition to results documenting the value of 3D imaging in a wide range of applications researchers and students will find a raft of useful information including references methodologies and analysis techniques The studies presented at this colloquium show that 3D imaging techniques do not compete with or detract from other methods As their availability and power grows computerized systems based on technologies with capabilities far beyond those of the human eye e g industrial scanners and high resolution laser will become indispensable tools alongside classic anatomical and morphological analysis This technology should not be considered as an emerging science in itself but rather as a powerful new multidisciplinary tool to assist paleoanthropological and archeological studies Alexander the Great

Alan Fildes,Joann Fletcher,2001 Fildes presents in a year by year chronicle an intimate and fascinating portrait of the man who created the greatest empire the world had ever seen and acquired a semi mythic status that persists today Generously illustrated with ancient art from museums around the world this is an engrossing accessible biography of a legendary man 120 illustrations Impassioned Clay Stevie Davies,2000 When Olivia's mother dies and her grave is dug in the back garden of the family home the skeleton of a seventeenth century woman is uncovered beneath the layers of Cheshire clay The remains are crushed the neck broken and the bones fragile and decayed But one thing remains intact a scold's bridle Only when Olivia delves back into history to unearth the story of this silenced woman does she begin to understand her own passions Back cover Secrets of the Ancient Dead Tony Allan,2005 Whether in tomb grave burial pit or peat bog all around the world the ancient dead represent a challenge to make sense of their remains How did they live How did they die How did they view the inevitable prospect of their death And how did their society prepare for the soul's destiny after the body had met its mortal end Secrets of the Ancient Dead offers a worldwide survey spanning many centuries of some of the most intriguing enigmas posed by death and the afterlife By citing well described specific cases and basing his work on a combination of painstaking archaeology dogged detective work in depth historical knowledge and high tech scientific analysis author Tony Allan pursues his study across cultures shedding fascinating new light on the beliefs rituals hopes and fears of such peoples as the Germanic and Celtic warriors of northern Europe and the imperial dynasties of ancient China
