the effects of the new oil market generated uncertainty in the oil-rich Persian Gulf area. When the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries began their oil embargo program, oil prices increased and affected many areas. Oil companies throughout the Gulf Coast experienced other issues with the oil price increases, including Saudi Arabia's Control over oil production capacity and the Persian Gulf's political issues. The increased volatility of oil prices and the price increases caused many oil companies to reassess their oil production and oil reserves. The price of oil increased from $100 per barrel in 2003 to $147 per barrel in 2008. The price of oil peaked in 2008 and has since declined, but the price of oil has remained relatively high, around $100 per barrel, through 2014.

The Making of Chaucer's English Christopher Cannon,1998 The Making of Chaucer's English undertakes a substantial reappraisal of the place Chaucer's English occupies in the history of the English language and the language of English literature. It attacks the widespread presumption that Chaucer invented literary English and argues instead that Chaucer's English is generally traditional. It shows that Chaucer's linguistic innovation was as much performance as fact but it also traces the linguistic strategies that made and make the performance of originality so believable. It also includes a valuable history of every word Chaucer uses. The book also interrogates the theory and methodology of historicising languages so even as it explores how Chaucer's words matter it also questions why these particular words have acquired such importance for poets and scholars alike for 600 years. Medievalia Et Humanistica No. 27 Paul Maurice Clogan,2000 Clogan English U North Texas and fellow of the American Academy in Rome has brought together five articles that consider the question of reading and the reader in the Roman de la Rose The Wife's Lament the Pearl the work of Jean Gerson Christine de Pizan and the Iberian writer and scholar Don Ishaq Abravanel.
