Navajos Woman:

Molded in the Image of Changing Woman Maureen Trudelle Schwarz, 1997-07 What might result from hearing a particular song wearing used clothing or witnessing an accident Ethnographic accounts of the Navajo refer repeatedly to the influences of events on health and well being yet until now no attempt has been made to clarify the Navajo system of rules governing association and effect This book focuses on the complex interweaving of the cosmological social and bodily realms that Navajo people navigate in an effort alternately to control contain or harness the power manifested in various effects Following the Navajo life course from conception to puberty Maureen Trudelle Schwarz explores the complex rules defining who or what can affect what or whom in specific circumstances as a means of determining what these effects tell us about the cultural construction of the human body and personhood for the Navajo Schwarz shows how oral history informs Navajo conceptions of the body and personhood showing how these conceptions are central to an ongoing Navajo identity She treats the vivid narratives of emergence life origins as compressed metaphorical accounts rather than as myth and is thus able to derive from what individual Navajos say about the past their understandings of personhood in a worldview that is actually a viable philosophical system Working with Navajo religious practitioners elders and professional scholars Schwarz has gained from her informants an unusually firm grasp of the Navajo highlighted by the foregrounding of Navajo voices through excerpts of interviews These passages enliven the book and present Schwarz and her Navajo consultants as real multifaceted human beings within the ethnographic context
