Materials For A Study Of Twelfth Century Schoasticism:

Materials for a Study on Twelfth Century Scholasticism Franco Giusberti, 1982 A New Material Interpretation of Twelfth-Century Architecture Jason Crow, 2025-10-01 Today we perceive Gothic cathedrals as light filled forms representing the sacred The colored light projected from brightly colored stained glass windows onto the walls and floors of these buildings suggests the presence of divinity Suger 1081-1151 CE the abbot of the monastery of Saint Denis is credited with originating Gothic architecture However focus on form and structure has elided attention to the material out of which medieval churches were made When Suger describes the early church he was replacing he says that the gold and gems it contained beamed outwardly with a gleaming light that filled the eye When he restored his church and filled it with the shining souls of his ecclesia he repeated God's divine act of creation His restored church imitated the precious stones that could be shaped and polished to reveal divine light By crafting stone Suger fulfilled the divine plan to make heaven on earth This book Reassesses the origins and significance of Gothic architecture Approaches the interpretation of the twelfth century church through its materiality Integrates the twelfth century conceptualization of architecture within art science and theology Medieval Architecture, Medieval Learning Charles M. Radding, William W. Clark, 1992-01-01 The 11th and 12th centuries witnessed a transformation of European culture from architecture and the visual arts to history philosophy theology and even law Studies in Scholasticism Marcia L. Colish, 2024-10-28 Spanning thirty years the papers brought together in this volume reflect three of Professor Colish's interests as a historian of medieval scholastic thought The first group of studies represent investigations that flowed into and out of the research on Peter Lombard d. 1161 and his contemporaries that culminated in her book Peter Lombard 1994 Following the publication of that work she next sought to discover how Peter's theology became mainstream Paris theology in the period between Lombard's death and the early 13th century resulting in the second group of papers in this collection Finally the last two papers offer reflections on broader interpretive issues considering ways in which medievalists ought to reconsider their general understanding of the story lines of high medieval intellectual history Medieval Literary Theory and Criticism C.1100 - C.1375 Alastair J. Minnis, A. Brian Scott, David Wallace, 1991 This anthology of texts in translation here presented in a fully revised and updated form covers the single most important branch of medieval literary theory and criticism the commentary tradition in one of the most significant periods of its development The majority of the texts are here translated for the first time most of the translations have been prepared specially for this edition They offer discussion of such topics as fiction and fable in classical poetry and in the Bible the ethical effects and purpose of literature authorship and authority the function of biography in literary interpretation stylistic and didactic modes of writing literary form and structure allegory and literal historical sense symbolism imagination and imagery the semiotics of words and things the moralization of classical texts the status of poetry within the hierarchy of the human arts and sciences and the prestige and purpose of vernacular literature The selections are fully annotated and provided with introductions which form a linked series of essays towards the history of medieval literary theory and criticism

A Theology of Higher Education Mike Highton, 2012-03-16

In this book Mike Highton provides a constructive critique of Higher Education policy and practice in the UK the US and beyond from the standpoint of Christian theology He focuses on the role universities can and should play in forming students and staff in intellectual virtue in sustaining vibrant communities of inquiry and in serving the public good He argues both that modern secular universities can be a proper context for Christians to pursue their calling as disciples to learn and to teach and that Christians can contribute to the flourishing of such universities as institutions devoted to learning for the common good In the process he sets out a vision of the good university as secular and religiously plural as socially inclusive and as deeply and productively entangled with the surrounding society Along the way he engages with a range of historical examples the medieval University of Paris the University of Berlin in the nineteenth century and John Henry Newman's work in Oxford and Dublin and with a range of contemporary writers on Higher Education from George Marsden to Stanley Hauerwas and from David Ford to Rowan Williams

Biblical Interpretation from the Church Fathers to the Reformation Karlfried Froehlich, 2010

The history of biblical interpretation has attracted considerable attention in recent decades One area of research in which even the most basic questions are still under debate is the phenomenon of the biblical Glossa Ordinaria the standard Bible commentary used by Christian theologians from the twelfth century to the Reformation Part I unites the author's major contributions to Glossa studies its origin its false ascription to Walafrid Strabo its use among the preachers of the thirteenth and fourteenth century and the Reformers both Catholic and Protestant of the sixteenth Part II concentrates on the image of two central New Testament figures the Apostles Peter and Paul in biblical exegesis The studies illuminate the pivotal role in the history of the church played by certain shifts in the understanding of Petrine texts and trace conflicting tendencies in the interpretation of Paul down to the Reformation of the sixteenth century

Writing Sin in the German Lands, 1050-1215 Sarah Bowden, 2025-04-11

Writing Sin in the German Lands 1050-1215 is about how sin and atonement function as an impetus for textual production and formal linguistic and intellectual creativity It focuses on the late eleventh and twelfth centuries a time in which various social and cultural conditions came together to provoke both an interest in sin and an opportunity for writing experimentally about it and its area of enquiry is the German speaking world Working with a remarkably rich body of German language texts this book allows us not only to grasp with greater clarity aspects of medieval penitential thought and practice but it also offers new ways of thinking about the development of German as a literary language The book joins bodies of work on the history of penance and on devotional writing in the European vernaculars and through the interconnection of these two fields of study it offers a new perspective on questions that currently occupy scholars of the Middle Ages the medieval conception of the self in relation to other and to God the value and function of vernacular writing the nature of textuality and the relationship between writing speech material text and performance In five chapters that deal with a wide range of texts many of which have had little scholarly attention this volume shows that the long twelfth century was not only a period in which there was a particular interest in exploring aspects of the theology and practice of penance but also significantly a time in which a fundamental connection can be seen between thinking about sin and creative literary production International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995 Methods and the Medievalist Marko Lamberg,2008 The field of medieval studies has shifted towards a growing degree of inter and multidisciplinary during the recent decades The concept of medieval studies covers in fact a multitude of disciplines some of them being loyal to their long established traditions whereas others are very new and borrow methods from other branches of the humanities or even from modern natural or social sciences Since this means not only new possibilities but also new challenges sources and methodology should obviously concern anyone engaged in the history and culture of the Middle Ages Regardless of what aspects of the medieval world a scholar is dealing with his or her study has much to gain from a source pluralistic approach in order to be able to understand and even combine different types of sources a scholar must be aware of what methods are relevant and available and how they can be adapted and applied This collection of essays presents a comprehensive overview of current and fresh approaches to the history of medieval Europe The topics include among other things the complex relationship between the spoken and the written word explorations in social and geographic space layers and mental images perceivable in medieval texts source edition techniques relics as visual and tangible items not to mention the possibilities offered by prosopography zooarchaeology and the natural sciences Also the question and significance of ethics an ever more important issue in present day academic circles is discussed The contributors to this volume themselves form a very inter and multidisciplinary team although they can all be labeled as medievalists they in fact they work within different disciplines and in several different research units in different countries Geographically several parts of Europe are covered in the essays not only the westernmost part of the continent but also the poorly known eastern and northern parts as well This diversity makes the collection worthwhile reading for students and scholars alike The Immanent Person of the Holy Spirit from Anselm to

Lombard Matthew Knell, 2009 This study shows that there has not yet been any comprehensive study of the person of the Holy Spirit in the twelfth century and that such a study has something to add to concepts of twelfth century thought as well as modern debates in pneumatology The richness of debate that took place with the advent of scholasticism and its clashes with more traditional approaches to Christian study raised issues about western conception of the Spirit that were both grounded in Scripture and the church fathers writings and thoroughly tested by reason and debate Annales Academiae Scientiarum Fennicae, 1995 The Text and Tradition of La[y]amon's Brut Françoise Hazel Marie Le Saux, 1994 Essays reflecting the present state of Layamon studies identifying problems and outlining current directions in research This volume investigates the problems with which the contemporary reader of Layamon's Brut is faced To what extent is the archaic feel of the Brut part of a deliberate aesthetic strategy of Layamon's For what sort of audience could it have been written How can one define its relation to older or more recent texts and traditions What ideological stance if any is to be deduced from the work The seventeen articles in this book tackle the different issues from a variety of fields codicology and palaeography Linguistics stylistics and syntax the socio political dimension of the work and its possible audience the tradition upon which Layamon was drawing and his contribution to later writers literary theory and more general issues such as gender and spatial symbolism in the Brut A number of essays present a synthesis of points of view specifically intended to provide students with a yardstick against which to measure the more controversial articles in the volume Contributors MARIE FRAN OISE ALAMICHEL ROSAMUND ALLEN STEPHEN K BREHE BETH BRYAN ARTHUR WAYNE GLOWKA MARSHAL S GRANT DOUGLAS MOFFAT YOKO IYEIRI LESLEY JOHNSON FRAN OISE LE SAUX JAMES I McNELIS III JAMES NOBLE HERBERT PILCH JANE ROBERTS ERIC G STANLEY CAROLE WEINBERG KELLEY M WICKHAM CROWLEY NEIL WRIGHT Dr FRANCOISE LE SAUX lectures in Medieval English language and literature at the University of Lausanne The Politics of Caring and the Welfare State Vappu Tyyskä, 1995 Contemporary Philosophy, a New Survey Georg Henrik Wright, International Institute of Philosophy, 1981 A continuation of two earlier series of chronicles Philosophy in the mid century Frienze 1958 59 and Contemporary philosophy Frienze 1968 Pref
