Waldfoegel,2018 Digitization has vastly increased the amount of new music produced and available directly to consumers While this has levelled the playing field between already prominent and new artists creators may now be dependent on platform decisions about which songs and artist to promote With Spotify emerging as a major interactive streaming platform this paper explores the effect of Spotify s playlists on both the promotion of songs and the discovery of music by new artists using four approaches First we examine songs streaming volumes before and after their addition to and removal from major global playlists Second we compare streaming volumes for songs just on and just off algorithmic top 50 playlists Third we make use of cross country differences in inclusion on New Music Friday lists using song fixed effects to explain differences in streaming Fourth we develop an instrumental variables approach to explaining cross country New Music Friday rank differentials based on home bias Being added to Today s Top Hits a list with 18.5 million followers during the sample period raises streams by almost 20 million and is worth between 116 000 and 163 000 Inclusion on New Music Friday lists substantially raises the probability of song success including for new artists Spotify Teardown Maria Eriksson,Rasmus analyses of Spotify's front end with experimental covert investigations of its back end. The authors engaged in a series of interventions which include establishing a record label for research purposes, intercepting network traffic with packet sniffers and web scraping corporate materials. The authors' innovative digital methods earned them a stern letter from Spotify accusing them of violating its terms of use; the company later threatened their research funding. Thus, the book itself became an intervention into the ethics and legal frameworks of corporate behavior.
