Nation Language And The Ethics Of Translation:

Nation, Language, and the Ethics of Translation Sandra Bermann, Michael Wood, 2005-07-05 In recent years scholarship on translation has moved well beyond the technicalities of converting one language into another and beyond conventional translation theory. With new technologies blurring distinctions between the original and its reproductions and with globalization redefining national and cultural boundaries, translation is now emerging as a reformulated subject of lively interdisciplinary debate. Nation Language and the Ethics of Translation enters the heart of this debate. It covers an exceptional range of topics from simultaneous translation to legal theory from the language of exile to the language of new nations from the press to the cinema and cultures and languages from contemporary Bengal to ancient Japan from translations of Homer to the work of Don DeLillo. All twenty-two essays by leading voices including Gayatri Spivak and the late Edward Said are provocative and persuasive. The book's four sections—Translation as Medium and across Media, The Ethics of Translation, Translation and Difference, and Beyond the Nation—together provide a comprehensive view of current thinking on nationality and translation, one that will be widely consulted for years to come. The contributors are Jonathan E. Abel, Emily Apter, Sandra Bermann, Vilashini Cooppan, Stanley Corngold, David Damrosch, Robert Eaglestone, Stathis Gourgouris, Pierre Legrand, Jacques Lezra, Françoise Lionnet, Sylvia Molloy, Yopie Prins, Edward Said, Azade Seyhan, Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, Henry Staten, Lawrence Venuti, Lynn Visson, Gauri Viswanathan, Samuel Weber, and Michael Wood.

Crossing Time and Space Carla Dente, Sara Soncini, 2008 Literature in Translation Carol Maier, Françoise Massardier-Kenney, 2010 In the last several decades literary works from around the world have made their way onto the reading lists of American university and college courses in an increasingly wide variety of disciplines This is a cause for rejoicing Through works in translation students in our mostly monolingual society are at last becoming acquainted with the multilingual and multicultural world in which they will live and work Many instructors have expanded their reach to teach texts that originate from across the globe Unfortunately literature in English translation is frequently taught as if it had been written in English and students are not made familiar with the cultural linguistic and literary context in which that literature was produced As a result they submit what they read to their own cultural expectations they do not read in translation and do not reap the benefits of intercultural communication Here a true challenge arises for an instructor Books in translation seldom contain introductory information about the mediation that translation implies or the stakes involved in the transfer of cultural information Instructors are often left to find their own material about the author or the culture of the source text Lacking the appropriate pedagogical tools they struggle to provide information about either the original work or about translation itself and they might feel uneasy about teaching material for which they lack adequate preparation Consequently they restrict themselves to well known works in translation or works from other countries originally written in English Literature in Translation Teaching Issues and Reading Practices squarely addresses this pedagogical lack The book s sixteen essays provide for instructors a context in which to teach works from a variety of languages and cultures in ways that highlight the effects of linguistic and cultural transfers New Medieval Literatures 9 (2007) Brepols Publishers,2008-12-31 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005
