Making Markets Work For The Environment:

Making Markets Work for Africa Eleanor M. Fox, Mor Bakhoun, 2019 This is a book on market law and policy in sub-Saharan Africa. It shows how markets can be harnessed by poorer and developing economies to help make the markets work for them to help them integrate into the world economy and raise the standard of living for their people while preserving their values of inclusive development. It studies particular countries and particular regions delving deeply into the facts.

Making Markets Work for the Environment Great Britain. Department of the Environment, 1993 This guide reflects the Government's preference for economic instruments which are seen as a more flexible and cost effective way of achieving environmental goals than regulation. For officials in policy development the guide outlines the factors that should be considered when deciding how to meet environmental objectives, explains the rationale for using economic instruments, considers the major instruments which are available and suggests which type is likely to be most suitable for addressing particular classes of environmental problem.

Making Markets More Inclusive K. McKague, M. Siddiquee, 2014-07-24 Most studies of doing business at the bottom of the economic pyramid focus on viewing the poor as consumers as micro-entrepreneurs or as potential employees of local companies. Almost no analysis focuses on the poor as primary producers of agricultural commodities, a striking omission given that primary producers are by far the largest segment of the working age population in developing economies. Making Markets More Inclusive bridges the management literature with original research on agricultural value chains in developing and emerging economies. This exciting work is the first to delve into the skills, capabilities, strategies and approaches needed for inclusive value chain development. McKague shows how NGOs and companies can connect poor producers in developing economies with the right markets to better create social and economic impact. He also analyzes one of the leading agricultural value chain initiatives in the world which is being replicated by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation in several different value chains in Malawi, Tanzania, Ghana, India and Mali.
