Literature After Globalization Philip Leonard, 2013-02-14 Choice Outstanding Academic Title 2014 Literature after Globalization offers a detailed study of recent literary and theoretical responses to technology globalization and national identity Focusing on texts of the the 1990s and 2000s particularly novels and other writing by Mark Danielewski Hari Kunzru Indra Sinha and Neal Stephenson it charts a departure from narratives of globalization which declare the collapse of national cultures and it considers how national sovereignty has been reinvented and reasserted in the face of technology's transnational effects. Drawing upon recent theoretical responses to technology and culture including work by Yochai Benkler, Manuel Castells, Gilles Deleuze, Jacques Derrida, N. Katherine Hayles, Paul Virilio and McKenzie Wark, this book will explore how in these novels the notion of an inclusive globalization has been replaced by a sense of national globalism.

Out of Africa D. Pal S. Ahluwalia, 2010. Out of Africa rethinks the relationship between post-structuralism and postcolonialism to deepen our understanding of the origins of social knowledge. It explores the intricate subjectivities, intellectual currents and cultural memories that social theorists carry within them. Out of Africa is no conventional paean to syncretism or hybridity. In it, the major French thinkers on colonialism emerge not merely as Europeans with an Algerian connection but as creative minds crucially shaped by Maghreb and Africa. Ahluwalia defies the intellectual culture that has to disown the wider cultural and psychological repertoire beyond the reach of conventional political sociology of knowledge. This important and provocative book brings together two familiar themes: first, that the war for Algerian independence had a profound impact on French culture and on French theory in particular; and second, that postcolonialism is basically a child of post-structuralism and postmodernism. In his powerful reconsideration of the first theme, Ahluwalia draws on Edward Said's insights to frame a reworking of the second, revealing that post-structuralism itself, with its figures of ambivalence, deconstruction, mimicry, irony, etc., can be seen as a postcolonial response to the complexity of the Franco-Maghrebian intersection that fails to properly acknowledge the colonial experience. This book could come to be regarded as the first draft of a new way of looking at postmodernism. To excavate a repressed colonial question, tying together in philosophical kinship the likes of Althusser, Sartre, Cixous, Camus, Lyotard, Foucault, Fanon, Derrida and Bourdieu, is to excavate more than postmodernism's roots; it is to reveal the centrality of colonialism to some of the most exciting trends within contemporary French philosophical thought. Through interesting vignettes of lives and travels, through theoretical argument and combative debate, Ahluwalia engages with those in-between spaces opened up by dislocation and a connection to the Algerian colonial question. He demonstrates how this encounter profoundly marked the thoughts and words of these important thinkers and, in so doing, he has produced a work of scholarship that is as novel as it is exciting.

Beyond the "imaginary Indian" Nancy Grimm, 2009. Vor dem Hintergrund geschichtlich entwickelter und gegenwärtiger Indianerbilder verdeutlicht diese Studie die Möglichkeiten des interkulturellen Verstehens bzw. des Fremdverstehens mittels acht detaillierter Romananalysen indigener Gegenwartsliteratur. Das Potenzial der untersuchten Texte wird nicht nur für das Fremdverstehen sondern insbesondere auch in Bezug auf die Dekonstruktion von Indianerstereotypen diskutiert. Die behandelten Romane der Autoren Maria Campbell, James Welch, Paula Gunn Allen, Leslie Marmon Silko, Louis Owens, Louise Erdrich, Michael Dorris, Thomas King und Sherman Alexie eröffnen in unterschiedlichem Ausmass intra- und inter- wie auch transkulturelle Kommunikationsprozesse, welche die allgemeine Vermittlerfunktion indigener Gegenwartsliteratur bestätigen.

Entsprechend weisen Werke der indigenen Gegenwartsliteratur in denen transdifferente und somit universelle kulturelle und gesellschaftliche Problem und Zielstellungen verhandelt werden ein besonderes Potenzial für die Förderung des Fremdverstehens auf. Ferner wirken diese Schriften Indianerstereotypen in angemessenem Ausmass entgegen. Stereotype die auch gegenwärtig noch in den USA und Deutschland als stark fixiertes Darstellungs- und Perzeptionsinventar auftreten. In diesem Forschungsinteresse begründet sich zudem die Ansiedlung dieser Studie an der Schnittstelle zwischen Literaturwissenschaft und Fachdidaktik.

Rerouting the Postcolonial Janet Wilson, Cristina Sandru, Sarah Lawson Welsh, 2009-12-16 Rerouting the Postcolonial re-orientates and re-invigorates the field of Postcolonial Studies in line with recent trends in critical theory reconnecting the ethical and political with the aesthetic aspect of postcolonial culture. Bringing together a group of leading and emerging intellectuals this volume charts and challenges the diversity of postcolonial studies including sections on new directions and growth areas from performance and autobiography to diaspora and transnationalism. New subject matters such as sexuality and queer theory, ecocriticism and discussions of areas of Europe as postcolonial spaces. New theoretical directions such as globalization, fundamentalism, terror and theories of affect. Each section incorporates a clear, concise introduction making this volume both an accessible overview of the field whilst also an invigorating collection of scholarship for the new millennium.

Cosmopolitan Criticism and Postcolonial Literature R. Spencer, 2011-04-28 Via readings of novels by J. M. Coetzee, Timothy Mo and Salman Rushdie and the later poetry of W. B. Yeats this book reveals how postcolonial writing can encourage the enlarged sense of moral and political responsibility needed to supplant ongoing forms of imperial violence with cosmopolitan institutions, relationships and ways of thinking.

Poststructuralism and Postcoloniality Jane Hiddleston, 2010-01-01 This book explores the relation between poststructuralist thought and postcoloniality and identifies in that interaction the expression of a particular anxiety concerning the form of theoretical writing. Many so-called poststructuralist thinkers such as Derrida, Cixous, Lyotard, Barthes, Kristeva and Spivak have turned their attention at some point in their career towards questions either of postcolonialism or of cultural domination and difference. For all these thinkers however a reflection on such questions has generated a sense of unease concerning the assumed neutrality of theoretical discourse and the inevitable subjective or autobiographical investments of the writing self. The book argues that this anxiety betrays an unprecedented lucidity concerning the particular challenges of writing about ourselves and others at a time of postcolonial upheaval.

Cosmopolitanism and the Postnational, 2015-08-17 In recent years postnational theory has become a primary tool for the analysis of European integration. Though interpretations of the concept vary there is a wide consensus about postnationalism as a way to forge a European identity beyond a particular national history. In line with the German historical context in which this key concept was formulated in the first place postnationalism is considered to be an adaptation of Kantian cosmopolitanism to the conditions of the modern world. This collection of essays is the first to systematically and

Out of Africa Pal Ahluwalia, 2010-04-05 At the heart of this book is the argument that the fact that so many post structuralist French intellectuals have a strong colonial connection usually with Algeria cannot be a coincidence The biographical fact that so many French intellectuals were born in or otherwise connected with French Algeria has often been noted but it has never been theorised Ahluwalia makes a convincing case that post structuralism in fact has colonial and postcolonial roots This is an important argument and one that connects two theoretical currents that continue to be of great interest post structuralism and postcolonialism The re reading of what is now familiar material against the background of de colonial struggles demonstrates the extent to which it is this new condition that prompted theory to question long held assumptions inscribed in the European colonial enterprise The wide ranging discussion ranging across authors as different as Foucault Derrida Fanon Althusser Cixous Bourdieu and Lyotard enables the reader to make connections that have remained unnoticed or been neglected It also brings back into view a history of struggles both political and theoretical that has shaped the landscape of critique in the social sciences and humanities This clear and lucid discussion of important and often difficult thinkers will be widely read and widely debated by students and academics alike

Postcolonial Theory Leela Gandhi, 1998 The book provides an overview of postcolonialism s pervasiveness in the academy and lucidly illustrates the debates about the often conflicting consensus regarding the proper content scope and relevance of its concerns From its influence in Marxism and poststructuralism from the work of Edward Said to Salman Rushdie from feminist imperialism to globalization and hybridity Gandhi demonstrates the ethical concern that postcolonial theory can offer how to take into account diversity without erasing distinct diasporas of difference
The Postcolonial Challenge Couze Venn, 2006-02-15 Couze Venn s book makes an outstanding contribution to our understanding of postcolonial theory and its engagement with significant changes within the contemporary world Couze Venn forces us to rethink the very parameters of the post colonial and suggests a new political economy for post modern times This critical engagement opens up the possibility to reimagine the world from its current narrow European strictures to a world full of alternative possibilities and modernities Venn s book adds a new dimension to the scholarly literature on postcolonial studies with the suggestion that such a rethinking is transmodern properly postcolonial and postoccidental As such it is an extended meditation and development of his Occidentalism This is a timely and ground breaking book that contributes to a much needed reconceptualisation of the postcolony Professor Pal Ahluwalia Goldsmiths College University of London What is postcolonial studies What are its achievements strengths and weaknesses This ground breaking book offers an essential guide to one of the most important issues of our time with special emphasis on neo liberalism within world poverty and the third world It clarifies the territory of postcolonial studies how identity and postcolonialism relate the ties between postcolonialism and Modernity new perspectives in the light of recent geo political events potential future developments in the subject Lucid comprehensive and accessible the book offers students and scholars a one stop guide to one of the most important issues of our time

Towards Corporeal Cosmopolitanism Anjana Raghavan, 2017-08-14 An articulation of any kind of global understanding of belonging or ways of cosmopolitan life requires a constant engagement with vulnerability especially in a world that is so deeply wounded by subjugation colonialisms and genocides And yet discussion of the body affect and corporeal politics from the margins are noticeably absent from contemporary liberal and Kantian models of cosmopolitan thought This book explores the ways in which existing narratives of cosmopolitanism are often organised around European and American discourses of human rights and universalism which allow little room for the articulation of an affective embodied and subaltern politics It brings contemporary understandings of cosmopolitan solidarities into dialogue with the body affect and the persistent spectre of colonial difference Race ethnicity sexuality and gender are all extremely important to these articulations of cosmopolitan belongings and we cannot really speak of communities without speaking of embodiment and emotion This text envisions new ways of articulating and conceptualising corporeal cosmopolitanism which are neither restricted to a purely postcolonial paradigm nor subjugated by European colonialism and modernity It challenges the understanding of liberal cosmopolitan solidarities using decolonial and feminist performances of solidarity as radical compassion resistance and love
