Blanchard, 2018-06-05 This book is the winner of the 2020 Joseph Levenson Pre 1900 Book Prize awarded by the Association for Asian Studies In Song Dynasty Figures of Longing and Desire Lara Blanchard analyzes images of women in painting and poetry of China s middle imperial period focusing on works that represent female figures as preoccupied with romance She discusses examples of visual and literary culture in regard to their authorship and audience examining the role of interiority in constructions of gender exploring the rhetorical functions of romantic images and considering connections between subjectivity and representation The paintings in particular have sometimes been interpreted as simple representations of the daily lives of women or as straightforward artifacts of heteroerotic desire Blanchard proposes that such works could additionally be interpreted as political allegories representations of the artist s or patron s interiorities or models of idealized femininity Tamkang Review, 2002 A quarterly of comparative studies of Chinese and foreign literatures Visualizing Love and Longing in Song Dynasty Paintings of Women Lara Caroline Williams Blanchard, 2001 The nature of emotion particularly how it is manifested has been a concern of Chinese theorists since the early imperial period One way that this concern came to be expressed in certain genres of Chinese art and literature was in the conception of elite women as preoccupied with romance In the Song dynasty 960 1279 painters and poets engage in an extensive dialogue on the meanings of attachments between men and women with the stages of the love relationship coded as desire love longing and heartbreak An examination of extant paintings from this period reveals that this construction pervades the cultural productions of both court figures and intellectuals This dissertation analyzes Song dynasty paintings of women in love in light of the construction of both femininity and masculinity the nature of representation and text image relationships and considers the authorship and reception of these works
