Object Perception:

Object Perception Bryan E. Shepp, Soledad Ballesteros, 2013-04-15 This collection of research on object perception focuses on holistic and featural properties of objects the mechanisms that produce such properties how people choose one type of property over another and how such choices are improved during the course of child development The contributions consider alternative perceptual characterizations the way in which such properties are represented in the mind how particular properties are more useful in some kinds of tasks that humans perform and how the developing child learns to cope with different properties in choosing among alternatives to optimize task performance These papers were written by specialists for specialists in experimental cognitive and developmental psychology Multisensory Object Perception in the Primate Brain Marcus Johannes Naumer, Jochen Kaiser, 2010-07-03 It should come as no surprise to those interested in sensory processes that its research history is among the longest and richest of the many systematic efforts to understand how our bodies function The continuing obsession with sensory systems is as much a reflection of the fundamental need to understand how we experience the physical world as it is to understand how we become who we are based on those very experiences The senses function as both portal and teacher and their individual and collective properties have fascinated scientists and philosophers for millennia In this context the attention directed toward specifying their properties on a sense by sense basis that dominated sensory research in the 20th century seems a prelude to our current preoccupation with how they function in concert Nevertheless it was the concentrated effort on the operational principles of individual senses that provided the depth of understanding necessary to inform current efforts to reveal how they act cooperatively We know that the information provided by any individual sensory modality is not always veridical but is subject to a myriad of modality specific distortions Thus the brain's ability to compare across the senses and to integrate the information they provide is not only a way to examine the accuracy of any individual sensory channel but also a way to enhance the collective information they make available to the brain

From Fragments to Objects Thomas F. Shipley, Philip J. Kellman, 2001-11-30 This book addresses the problem of how the human visual system organizes inputs that are fragmented in space and time into coherent stable perceptual units objects In doing so it addresses the following questions what kinds of segmentation and grouping abilities exist in human perceivers What information and computational processes achieve segmentation and grouping What are the psychological consequences of perceiving whole objects From Fragments to Objects Segmentation and Grouping in Vision takes a comprehensive cognitive science approach to object perception brings together separate lines of research in object perception in one volume gives an integrated and up to date review of theory and empirical research and offers directions for future study Jacket

An Invitation to Cognitive Science: Visual cognition Daniel N. Osherson, Stephen Michael Kosslyn, 1995 Rather than surveying theories and data in the manner characteristic of many introductory textbooks in the field An Invitation to Cognitive Science employs a unique case study approach presenting a focused research topic in some depth and relying on suggested readings to convey the breadth of views and results Blindness and Brain Plasticity in Navigation and Object Perception John J. Rieser, 2008 This book features chapters from cognitive and developmental psychologists neurologists and neuroscientists and rehabilitation specialists and educators These groups do research in this area but generally do not collaborate This book is an attempt to bring together the disparate threads of research into one volume The Oxford Handbook of Developmental Psychology, Vol. 1 Philip David Zelazo, 2013-01-15 Research in developmental psychology which examines the history origins and causes of behavior and age related changes in behavior seeks to construct a complex multi level characterization of behavior as it unfolds in time across a range of time scales from the milliseconds of reaction time to the days and weeks of childhood the decades of the human lifespan and even beyond to multiple generations Behavior in this view is embedded within what is essentially a dynamic system of relations extending deep within individuals Thorough and engaging this handbook explores the impact of this research on what is now known about psychological development from birth to biological maturity and it highlights the extent to which the most cutting edge developmental science reflects a new kind of intellectual synthesis one that reveals how cultural social cognitive neural and molecular processes work together to yield human behavior and changes in human behavior With insightful contributions from more than 50 of the world's leading developmental scientists these two volumes will serve as an influential and informed text for students and as an authoritative desk reference for years to come The Psychological Study of Object Perception Arild Lian, 1981 Taking a hands-on approach: Current perspectives on the effect of hand position on vision Philip Tseng, Christopher Davoli, 2015-10-05 An exciting new line of research that investigates the impact of one's own hands on visual processing has flourished in the past several years Specifically several studies have demonstrated that objects near the hands receive prioritized attention enhanced perceptual sensitivity altered figure ground assignment prolonged and detail oriented processing and improved visual working memory Taken together these results demonstrate that the visual system reveals a new pattern of processing when one's hands are in proximity of viewed objects Therefore the vast majority of studies on visual processing in which one's hands are kept away from the stimuli may constitute but one side of a more complex story of the inner workings of the visual system With several consistent behavioral demonstrations of hand altered vision now in the literature the present challenge facing this growing field and the aim of this Research Topic is four pronged

- 1 Isolate and elucidate the underlying cognitive and neural mechanisms of hand altered vision
- 2 Map the parameters and conditions of hand nearness that permit prevent the onset or maintenance of hand altered vision
- 3 Determine the consequences of hand altered vision for higher level cognition and assess its applied potential e.g. as a neuropsychological intervention
- 4 Present a cohesive and predictive theoretical account of hand altered vision

We welcome submissions that fit into any one or a combination of the above domains For behavioral research we particularly encourage submissions that are relevant to the advancement of our understanding of the neural mechanisms of hand altered vision e.g. demonstrations that might corroborate or disconfirm proposed neural systems Modeling Play in Early Infant Development Mark H. Lee, Patricia Shaw, Kathy Hirsh-Pasek, Karen E. Adolph, Qiang Shen, Pierre-Yves Oudeyer, Jill Popp, 2020-10-09 This eBook is a collection of articles from a Frontiers Research Topic Frontiers Research Topics are very popular trademarks of the Frontiers Journals Series they are collections of at least ten articles all centered on a particular subject With their unique mix of varied contributions from Original Research to Review Articles Frontiers Research Topics unify the most influential researchers the latest key findings and historical advances in a hot research area Find out more on how to host your own Frontiers Research Topic or contribute to one as an author by contacting the Frontiers Editorial Office frontiersin.org about contact Gale Researcher Guide for: Object and Motion Perception Raymond E. Phinney Jr., 2018-08-30 Gale Researcher Guide for Object and Motion Perception is selected from Gale's academic platform Gale Researcher These study guides provide peer reviewed articles that allow students early success in finding scholarly materials and to gain the confidence and vocabulary needed to pursue deeper research Multisensory Object Perception in the Primate Brain, 2011-07-01 Perception of Faces, Objects, and Scenes Mary A. Peterson, Gillian Rhodes, 2003-05-22 From a barrage of photons we readily and effortlessly recognize the faces of our friends and the familiar objects and scenes around us However these tasks cannot be simple for our visual systems faces are all extremely similar as visual patterns and objects look quite different when viewed from different viewpoints How do our visual systems solve these problems The contributors to this volume seek to answer this question by exploring how analytic and holistic processes contribute to our perception of faces objects and scenes

Lectures on Metaphysics and Logic: Metaphysics Sir William Hamilton, 1874 The Perceptualist Edward John Hamilton, 1899 Active Vision John M Findlay, Iain D Gilchrist, 2003-08-07 This title focuses on vision as an active process rather than a passive activity and provides an integrated account of seeing and looking The authors give a thorough description of basic details of the visual and oculomotor systems necessary to understand active vision Representation in Object Perception G. Humphreys, Social Science Research Council (Great Britain), 1984 Perception John M. Wilding, 2017-03-16 Originally published in 1982 this book introduces the student to the central problem of all perceptual theories just how does the perceiver identify particular objects In focusing on the problem Dr Wilding provides a coherent well organized framework for its study bypassing the conventional split between perception and reaction time evidence which was common to most textbooks at the time The author draws on evidence from a wider number of research traditions and argues that each has a contribution to make to any account of perception Throughout he emphasizes the methodological basis of the research discussed in order to provide students with a solid foundation for their own practical work The Works of Aristotle Aristotle, 1926 Elements of Human Psychology Howard Crosby Warren, 1922 The Works of Thomas Reid Now Fully Collected, with Selections from His Unpublished Letters ; Preface, Notes and Supplementary Dissertations by Sir William Hamilton. Prefixed Stewart's Account of the Life and Writings of Reid Thomas Reid, 1872
