Objective Description Of The Self:

Self to Self J. David Velleman, 2006-01-26 This collection of essays by philosopher J David Velleman on personal identity autonomy and moral emotions is united by an overarching thesis that there is no single entity denoted by the self as well as themes from Kantian ethics and Velleman's work in the philosophy of action

Self-Awareness and The Elusive Subject

Robert J. Howell, 2023-02-21 Self Awareness and The Elusive Subject explores the puzzling fact that we are certain of the existence of a subject of experience despite its being objectively and subjectively elusive. It is objectively elusive in that like phenomenal states it cannot be found from the third person perspective. It is subjectively elusive because it also cannot be found in introspection. On the one hand then the author agrees with the Buddhists and philosophers like Hume and Sartre that the self cannot be found in experience. He sides with Descartes on the other hand arguing the subject of experience exists and that we have certainty of the cogito. Along the way the book considers the claim that phenomenal states have subjective character or mineness and argues instead that they are phenomenally anonymous. Howell concludes with a deflationary account of pre-reflective self consciousness and provides an account of basic self awareness according to which we are most fundamentally aware of ourselves indirectly as the subject of our conscious states

Faith and Objectivity

C.D. Hardwick, 2012-12-06 In the last decade too many American theologians have been preoccupied with charting and interpreting in a superficial manner the movements of the newest stars in the Continental theological firmament. This preoccupation contributed much unfortunately to that faddism that was so characteristic of American theology in the Sixties the period immediately following the passing of a generation of theological giants like Barth, Bultmann, Tillich, Gogarten and the Niebuhrs. There has seldom been a period in which so many promissory notes were issued so carelessly onto the intellectual market notes that were not and perhaps could not have been redeemed. Given this temper of the times it is difficult to account for the almost total neglect of the work of Professor Fritz Buri of Basel whose theology of existence is one of the most interesting and impressive contemporary attempts to interpret the myths and symbols of the Christian faith in terms of an existentialist philosophy. Even if one were to apply that most superficial though for many apparently decisive criterion of radicality one might have expected his work to attract some sustained attention because Buri has consistently posed a radical solution to most of the hotly debated issues of the times the problem of demythologization the meaning of theological language the problems raised by historical criticism and the meaning of the historical Jesus for faith to mention a few

Narrating the Self Tomi Suzuki, 1996 Narrating the Self examines the historical formation of modern Japanese literature through a fundamental reassessment of its most characteristic form the I novel an autobiographical narrative thought to recount the details of the writer's personal life thinly veiled as fiction. Closely analysing a range of texts from the late nineteenth century through to the present day the author argues that the I novel is not a given form of text that can be objectively identified but a historically constructed reading mode and cultural paradigm that not only regulated the production and reception of literary texts but also defined cultural identity and national tradition Instead of emphasising as others have the thematic and formal elements of novels traditionally placed in this category she explores the historical formation of a field of discourse in which the I novel was retroactively created and defined Clearinghouse ADELL's Catalog of Adult Education Projects Clearinghouse ADELL., Proceedings of the National Association of Elocutionists National Association of Elocutionists (U.S.),1901 Adepts Self-Portraiture: Casanova * Stendhal * Tolstoy Stefan Zweig,1928 Adepts in Self-portraiture Stefan Zweig,1928 The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman,James Edwin Creighton,Frank Thilly,Gustavus Watts Cunningham,1921 An international journal of general philosophy The Self and Its World George Arthur Wilson,1926 The Decennial Publications of the University of Chicago University of Chicago,1903 Proceedings ... National Speech Arts Association,1901 The Self in Growth, Teaching, and Learning Don E.
