Advanced Language Learning:

Advanced Language Learning Heidi Byrnes, 2008-12-08 The editor and authors in this volume make a convincing case for focusing on advanced foreign language instruction. Importantly they invite consideration of this focus as an opportunity to re-examine conventional definitions of the target of instruction. In so doing readers also learn more about the theories highlighted in this volume and their capacity to enhance our understanding of advancedness and its development within an educational context. This book thus mediates between linguistic and language learning theories and educational practice, modelling the very best of what applied linguistics has to offer. Diane Larsen Freeman Professor of Education, University of Michigan. The reality of multicultural societies and globalization has increased the demand for language abilities that far exceed those that have typically been associated with communicative competence in a second language. This book examines the acquisition of advanced levels of ability in three parts: theoretical, descriptive and instructional. It moves beyond the traditional constraints of second language acquisition research by linking systemic functional linguistics and sociocultural theory. The contributors draw primarily on the work of Halliday, Vygotsky and Bakhtin as well as empirical data from the language classroom to suggest practical applications towards advanced literacy and linguistic competence. Advanced Language Learning will be of interest to academics researching systemic functional linguistics, second language acquisition and applied linguistics.

Language Learning Strategies and Advanced Language Learners Christopher A. Cajski, 1999. Language learning strategies (LLS) here defined as specific actions or mental procedures that assist in fulfilling language learning goals have attracted increasing attention as one of the factors that impact second language acquisition. A key reason for their appeal is that language learning strategies can be manipulated to an extent that most other language acquisition factors cannot. Moreover these strategies appear to be a relatively powerful factor in learning another language. Nearly all of the language learning strategy research to date has been conducted with the intention of helping less successful language learners. However advanced language learners stand to benefit greatly from language learning strategy research as well. The purpose of this thesis is to examine the research done on language learning strategies and language learning strategy instruction especially as it pertains to advanced adult learners of a second or foreign language. This paper provides a comprehensive review of LLS studies and research findings and concludes with an alternative paradigm of and approach to language learning strategy instruction for advanced language learners. The appendix which includes tables such as a list of factors that affect second language acquisition and LLS selection and use may also have special appeal to researchers in this area. Contains 7 tables.

Effective Language Learning Suzanne Graham, 1997. This book investigates some of the learning processes of students of French and German as they begin language learning at an advanced level, a stage which is frequently problematic. By looking at the learning strategies employed by both successful and less successful language students, the author elucidates some of the key cognitive and affective processes which facilitate advanced level language learning. The implications of this for the classroom are discussed in detail leading to practical recommendations for learning and teaching strategies A central theme is the need to teach explicitly the proficient use of learning strategies and suggestions are made as to how this may be achieved in the language classroom To Advanced Proficiency and Beyond Newell Anthony

Teaching Advanced Language Skills through Global Debate Tony Brown, Jennifer Bown, 2014-12-15 Using debate to develop advanced competency in a second language is a method that is finding increased interest among instructors and students alike whether in synchronous online teaching or the individual classroom Through debate students learn how to make hypotheses support their conclusions with evidence and deploy the rhetoric of persuasion in the target language Though this method provides an exciting pedagogy for moving students from the advanced to the superior level there is a paucity of materials available for instructors who wish to plan a curriculum focused on debate Teaching Advanced Language Skills through Global Debate Theory and Practice provides teachers with both the theoretical underpinnings for using debate in the foreign language classroom as well as practical advice for developing reading listening writing and speaking skills through debate It discusses task based language learning and helps instructors design debate related tasks for the classroom Teaching Advanced Language Skills through Global Debate will be useful for any instructor working at the advanced level and particularly for those training future language instructors One of the new digital short publications available through Georgetown University Press it is an ideal complement to the press's new titles on mastering languages through global debate Georgetown Digital Shorts longer than an article shorter than a book deliver timely works of peer reviewed scholarship in a fast paced agile environment They present new ideas and original texts that are easily and widely available to students scholars libraries and general readers Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced Language Learner

Zsuzsa Tóth, 2010-08-11 Does anxiety about learning and using a foreign language decline as learners become more competent in the target language or is anxiety also relevant at higher levels of proficiency This is the question Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced Language Learner sets out to explore The aim of the book is to give readers an insight into what role anxiety plays in the language learning and communication processes of advanced language learners
