Morrow,2016-04-15 First published in 1995 this invaluable guide to the trees shrubs ground covers and smaller plants that thrive in New Mexico s many life zones and growing areas is now available in a long awaited new edition Landscape architect Baker H Morrow considers the significant factors that impact planting in New Mexico including soil conditions altitude drought urban expansion climate change and ultraviolet radiation to provide the tools for successful gardens and landscapes in the state Added photographs and sketches identify the forms and uses of plants including many new species that have become widely available in the region since the 1990s The latest recommendations for specific cities and towns include more photos for ease of reference and botanical names have also been updated With ingenuity and efficient water management Morrow demonstrates how to create landscapes that provide shade color oxygen soil protection windscreening and outdoor enjoyment Progressive Architecture ,1973 Contemporary Architects Ann Lee Morgan,Colin Naylor,1987 To strengthen the contemporary focus of this volume we have added about forty architects and have deleted some whose activity ceased before World War II In making these decisions we have been assisted by an Advisory Board As in the first volume we have continued to define the word architect very broadly so as to include planners theorists structural engineers and landscape architects whose work seems to be central to the enterprise of creating habitable spaces in our day Editor s note Luis Barragán: the Quiet Revolution Federica Zanco,2001 Luis Barragan was one of the most extraordinary figures in international architecture between the 1930s and the 1970s His work offers a unique interpretation of international modern architecture from the perspective of the Mexican landscape AIA Journal American Institute of Architects,1974 Women Architects at Work

Mary Anne Hunting, Kevin D. Murphy, 2025-02-18 A comprehensive history of the women architects who left their enduring mark on American Modernism. In the decades preceding World War II professional architecture schools enrolled increasing numbers of women but career success did not come easily. Women Architects at Work tells the stories of the resilient and resourceful women who surmounted barriers of sexism, racism, and classism to take on crucial roles in the establishment and growth of Modernism across the United States. Mary Anne Hunting and Kevin D. Murphy describe how the Cambridge School of Architecture and Landscape Architecture in Massachusetts evolved for the professional education of women between 1916 and 1942. While alumnae such as Eleanor Agnes Raymond, Victorine du Pont Homsey, and Sarah Pillsbury Harkness achieved some notoriety, others like Elizabeth Ann Campbell Knapp and Louisa Vaughan Conrad have been largely absent from histories of Modernism. Hunting and Murphy describe how these innovative practitioners capitalized on social, educational, and professional ties to achieve success and used architecture to address social concerns, including how modernist ideas could engage with community and the environment. Some joined women-led architectural firms while others partnered with men or contributed to Modernism as retailers of household furnishings, writers, and educators, photographers, and designers, or fine artists. With stunning illustrations, Women Architects at Work offers new histories of recognized figures while recovering the stories of previously unsung women, all of whom contributed to the modernization of American architecture and design.
