Michael Wesely Open Shutter:

Michael Wesely Michael Wesely,Sarah Hermanson Meister,2004 Since the early 1990s German photographer Michael Wesely has been inventing and refining techniques for using extremely long camera exposures to take uniquely compelling photographs Through the use of filters and a very small aperture yet one that is standard in a professional camera lens he is able to diminish the amount of light hitting the negative to the point where he can extend the exposure many thousands of times longer than we would ordinarily expect Some of Wesely s pictures of the rebuilding of Berlin s Potsdamer Platz for example in a series completed in 1999 were continuously exposed over a period of 26 months The results of Wesely s explorations are as surprising as they are beautiful In 2001 as The Museum of Modern Art began to prepare for its ambitious construction and renovation project a turning point in its history it recognized in Wesely s work an unequalled opportunity to artistically document that project In August of that year then Wesely set specially designed cameras in long term installations in and around the museum choosing his locations for the construction views they provided Nearly three years later the images are complete and their pentimento like strata of transparencies and overlays render the construction project s evolution in time as a dense and delicate network of forms and colors in space Open Shutteraccompanies an exhibition organized by Sarah Hermanson Meister Associate Curator of the museum s Department of Photography Included in the book are several images of the construction of the new Museum of Modern Art    Camera Constructs Andrew Higgott,Timothy Wray,2016-12-05 Photography and architecture have a uniquely powerful resonance architectural form provides the camera with the subject for some of its most compelling imagery while photography profoundly influences how architecture is represented imagined and produced Camera Constructs is the first book to reflect critically on the varied interactions of the different practices by which photographers artists architects theorists and historians engage with the relationship of the camera to architecture the city and the evolution of Modernism The title thus on the one hand opposes the medium of photography and the materiality of construction but on the other can be read as saying that the camera invariably constructs what it depicts the photograph is not a simple representation of an external reality but constructs its own meanings and reconstructs its subjects Twenty three essays by a wide range of historians and theorists are grouped under the themes of Modernism and the Published Photograph Architecture and the City Re imagined Interpretative Constructs and Photography in Design Practices They are preceded by an Introduction that comprehensively outlines the subject and elaborates on the diverse historical and theoretical contexts of the authors approaches Camera Constructs provides a rich and highly original analysis of the relationship of photography to built form from the early modern period to the present day    On Slowness Lutz Koepnick,2014-10-07 Speed is an obvious facet of contemporary society whereas slowness has often been dismissed as conservative and antimodern Challenging a long tradition of thought Lutz Koepnick instead proposes to understand slowness as a strategy of the contemporary a decidedly modern practice that gazes firmly at and into the present s velocity As he engages with late twentieth and early twenty first century art photography video film and literature Koepnick explores slowness as a critical medium to intensify our temporal and spatial experiences Slowness helps us register the multiple layers of time history and motion that constitute our present It offers a timely and untimely mode of aesthetic perception and representation that emphasizes the openness of the future and undermines any conception of the present as a mere replay of the past Discussing the photography and art of Janet Cardiff Olafur Eliasson Hiroshi Sugimoto and Michael Wesely the films of Peter Weir and Tom Tykwer the video installations of Douglas Gordon Willie Doherty and Bill Viola and the fiction of Don DeLillo Koepnick shows how slowness can carve out spaces within processes of acceleration that allow us to reflect on alternate temporalities and durations Modernism and Time Machines Tung Charles M. Tung, 2019-03-14

Bridging modernist studies and science fiction scholarship Modernism and Time Machines places the fascination with time in canonical works of twentieth century literature and art side by side with the rise of time travel narratives and alternate histories in popular culture Both modernism and this cardinal trope of science fiction produce a range of effects and insights that go beyond the exhilarations of simply sliding back and forth in history Together the modernist time obsession and the fantasy of moving in time help us to rethink the shapes of time the consistency of timespace and the nature of history Key

9/11 and the Visual

Culture of Disaster Thomas Stubblefield, 2014-12-17 An insightful view on how 9 11 is perceived in American society the day that refuses to enter history the tragedy that has in effect not yet passed Journal of Popular Culture The day the towers fell indelible images of plummeting rubble fire and falling bodies were imprinted in the memories of people around the world Images that were caught in the media loop after the disaster and coverage of the attack its aftermath and the wars that followed reflected a pervasive tendency to treat these tragic events as spectacle Though the collapse of the World Trade Center was the most photographed disaster in history it failed to yield a single noteworthy image of carnage Thomas Stubblefield argues that the absence within these spectacular images is the paradox of 9 11 visual culture which foregrounds the visual experience as it obscures the event in absence erasure and invisibility From the spectral presence of the Tribute in Light to Art Spiegelman's nearly blank New Yorker cover from the elimination of the Twin Towers from TV shows and films to the monumental cavities of Michael Arad's 9 11 memorial the void became the visual shorthand for the incident By examining configurations of invisibility and erasure across the media of photography film monuments graphic novels and digital representation Stubblefield interprets the post 9 11 presence of absence as the reaffirmation of national identity that implicitly laid the groundwork for the impending invasions of Iraq and Afghanistan A concise engaging and thought provoking work that asks the reader to reassess their knowledge and relationship to that moment and the resulting milieu of post 9 11 life in America ARLIS NA Reviews Extraordinarily brilliant will change how we think about disasters and tragedies The book is a must read for both students and practitioners of media studies Repository Invention of the invisible Michael Wesely,Eugen Blume,Mark Gisbourne,2005 Using handmade cameras such as his split camera or camera obscura Berlin born photographer Michael Wesely narrates the fleeting moment through the impression it leaves on film His sequential works published here create intriguing multi layered portraits of subjects like a day at the beach the urban streets of Rome and a vase of tulips slowly dying over a nine day period If all photography is a way to capture a moment in time Wesely s work is a way to watch time pass Also featured is a collaborative work done with the Modern Museum of Modern Art New York
