Modern Architecture:

Modern Architecture Otto Wagner, 1898 In 1896 Otto Wagner's Modern Architecture shocked the European architectural community with its impassioned plea for an end to eclecticism and for a modern style suited to contemporary needs and ideals utilizing the nascent constructional technologies and materials Through the combined forces of his polemical pedagogical and professional efforts this determined newly appointed professor at the Vienna Academy of Fine Arts emerged in the late 1890s along with such contemporaries as Charles Rennie Mackintosh in Glasgow and Louis Sullivan in Chicago as one of the leaders of the revolution soon to be identified as the Modern Movement Wagner's historic manifesto is now presented in a new English translation the first in almost ninety years based on the expanded 1902 text and noting emendations made to the 1896 1898 and 1914 editions In his introduction Dr Harry Mallgrave examines Wagner's tract against the backdrop of nineteenth century theory critically exploring the affinities of Wagner's revolutionary plan with the German eclectic debate of the 1840s the materialistic tendencies of the 1870s and 1880s and the emerging cultural ideology of modernity Modern Architecture is one of those rare works in the literature of architecture that not only proclaimed the dawning of a new era but also perspicaciously and cogently shaped the issues and the course of its development it defined less the personal aspirations of one individual and more the collective hopes and dreams of a generation facing the sanguine promise of a new century

Modern Architecture and Other Essays Vincent Scully, 2003 Combining the modes of historian and critic in unique and compelling ways Scully has profoundly influenced the way architecture is thought about and made This illustrated and elegantly designed volume distills Scully's incalculable contribution 300 illustrations

Modern Architecture and the Critical Present Kenneth Frampton, 1982 The Logic of Modern Architecture Randolph Williams Sexton, 1929 The Meaning of Modern Architecture Dr Hans Rudolf Morgenthauer, 2015-08-28 Using empathy as established by the Vienna School of Art History complemented by insights on how the mind processes visual stimuli as demonstrated by late 19th century psychologists and art theorists this book puts forward an innovative interpretative method of decoding the forms and spaces of Modern buildings This method was first developed as scholars realized that the new abstract art appearing needed to be analysed differently than the previous figurative works Since architecture experienced a similar development in the 1920s and 30s this book argues that the empathetic method can also be used in architectural interpretation While most existing scholarship tends to focus on formal and functional analysis this book proposes that Modern architecture is too diverse to be reduced to a few common formal or ornamental features Instead by relying on the viewer's innate psycho physiological perceptive abilities sensual and intuitive understandings of composition form and space are emphasized These aspects are especially significant because Modern Architecture lacks the traditional stylistic signs Including building analyses it shows how by visually reducing cubical forms and spaces to linear configurations the exteriors and interiors of Modern buildings can be interpreted via human perceptive abilities as dynamic movement systems commensurate with the new industrial transportation age This reveals an inner necessity these buildings express about themselves and their culture rather than just an explanation of how they are assembled and how they should be used The case studies highlight the contrasts between buildings designed by different architects rather than concentrating on the few features that relate them to the zeitgeist It analyses the buildings directly as the objects of study not indirectly as designs filtered through a philosophical or theoretical discourse The book demonstrates that with technology and science affecting culture and the arts deeply Modern Architecture needs to be treated differently than earlier stylistic periods It proposes a new chronology of Modernity that analyses this period s own evolutionary trajectory and does not try to explain it as simply the last phase in artistic evolution since the beginning of human existence Modern

Architecture Henry Heathcote Statham,1898 Modern Architecture Kenneth Frampton,2007 This acclaimed survey of modern architecture and its origins has become a classic since it first appeared in 1980 For this fourth edition Kenneth Frampton has added a major new chapter that explores the effects of globalization on architecture in recent years the rise and rise of the celebrity architect and the way in which practices worldwide have addressed such issues as sustainability and habitat The bibliography has also been updated and expanded making this volume more complete and indispensable than ever Nelson Goodman and Modern Architecture Kasper Lægging,2024-07-19 This book orchestrates a convergence of two discourses from the 1960s Nelson Goodman s aesthetic theory on one side and critiques of modern architecture articulated by figures like Peter Blake Charles Jencks and Robert Venturi Denise Scott Brown on the other Grounded in Goodman s aesthetic theory the book explores his conceptual framework within the context of modern architecture At the heart of the investigation lies Goodman s concept of exemplification While his notion of denotation pertains to representational elements often ornaments in architecture exemplification accentuates specific formal properties at the expense of others including color spatial orientation transparency seriality and the like Supplemented by findings from phenomenology the book traces these effects in buildings notably those by Ludwig Mies van der Rohe Walter Gropius Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright all key figures in the critiques of modern architecture Employing Goodman s framework the book aims to address accusations of emptiness and alienation directed at modern architecture in the postwar era It illustrates that modern architecture symbolizes aesthetically in a fundamentally different way than architecture from earlier periods This book will be of interest to architects artists researchers and students in architecture architectural history theory cultural theory philosophy and aesthetics History of Modern Architecture

Leonardo Benevolo,1977 A serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author s closely reasoned formulations Let it be said at once that the format of this work is richly handsome it is a two volume boxed set comprising 844 pages and well over 1 000 high quality illustrations and it reflects throughout its publisher s conviction that good design is an essential not superficial part of bookmaking Beyond that it should be emphasized that this work is not another facile cultural tour of modern architecture. It is a serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations rather than to gloss over a lack of substantive content. The book is a translation of the third Italian edition published in 1966. Benevolo, who is on the faculty of architecture in Venice, has earned an international reputation as a historian of architecture and town planning, and his publications embrace the span of time from the Renaissance to the foreseeable future. One such publication, The Origins of Modern Town Planning (The MIT Press, 1967), may be read as a prelude to the present work as well as an independent contribution. Perhaps more than any other architectural historian in our time, Benevolo has made a determined effort to place developments in design and planning in their proper social and political settings. Indeed, the author argues that the development of the modern movement in architecture was determined not by aesthetic formalisms but largely by the social changes that have occurred since about 1760. After the middle of the eighteenth century, without the continuity of formal activity being in any way broken, indeed while architectural language seems to be acquiring a particular coherence, the relations between architect and society began to change radically. New material and spiritual needs, new ideas and modes of procedure arise both within and beyond the traditional limits, and finally they run together to form a new architectural synthesis that is completely different from the old one. In this way, it is possible to explain the birth of modern architecture, which otherwise would seem completely incomprehensible. This second volume is concerned with the modern movement proper from 1914 to 1966. The author emphasizes the unity of the movement, rejecting the usual treatment that allots to the individual architects separate and unconnected biographical accounts. Benevolo remarks at one point: "When one talks about modern architecture, one must bear in mind the fact that it implies not only a new range of forms but also a new way of thinking whose consequences have not yet all been calculated." His main concern is to provide a more exact calculation of those consequences. Some Roots of Modern Architecture Heinz Rasch, 1967

Modern Architecture in Latin America Luis E. Carranza, Fernando Luiz Lara, 2015-01-05. Designed as a survey and focused on key examples and movements arranged chronologically from 1903 to 2003, this is the first comprehensive history of modern architecture in Latin America in any language. Runner-up University Co-op Robert W. Hamilton Book Award 2015. Modern Architecture in Latin America: Art, Technology, and Utopia is an introductory text on the issues, polemics, and works that represent the complex processes of political, economic, and cultural modernization in the twentieth century. The number and types of projects varied greatly from country to country, but as a whole, the region produced a significant body of architecture that has never before been presented in a single volume in any language. Modern Architecture in Latin America is the first comprehensive history of this important production. Designed as a survey and focused on key examples, paradigms arranged chronologically from 1903 to 2003, this volume covers a myriad of countries, historical, social, and political conditions, and projects, developments that range from small houses to urban plans to architectural movements. The book is structured so that it can be read in a variety of ways as a historically developed narrative of modern architecture in Latin America as a country specific chronology or as a treatment of traditions centered on issues of art technology or utopia This structure allows readers to see the development of multiple and parallel branches historical strands of architecture and at times their interconnections across countries The authors provide a critical evaluation of the movements presented in relationship to their overall goals and architectural transformations

Modern Architecture Since 1900 William J. R. Curtis, 1987 A penetrating analysis of the modern architectural tradition and its origins Since its first publication in 1982 Modern Architecture Since 1900 has become established as a contemporary classic Worldwide in scope it combines a clear historical outline with masterly analysis and interpretation Technical economic social and intellectual developments are brought together in a comprehensive narrative which provides a setting for the detailed examination of buildings Throughout the book the author's focus is on the individual architect and on the qualities that give outstanding buildings their lasting value For the third edition the text has been radically revised and expanded incorporating much new material and a fresh appreciation of regional identity and variety Seven chapters are entirely new including expanded coverage of recent world architecture Described by James Ackerman of Harvard University as immeasurably the finest work covering this field in existence this book presents a penetrating analysis of the modern tradition and its origins tracing the creative interaction between old and new that has generated such an astonishing richness of architectural forms across the world and throughout the century

The Historiography of Modern Architecture Panayotis Tournikiotis, 2001-02-27 The history of modern architecture as constructed by historians and key texts Writing according to Panayotis Tournikiotis has always exerted a powerful influence on architecture Indeed the study of modern architecture cannot be separated from a fascination with the texts that have tried to explain the idea of a new architecture in a new society During the last forty years the question of the relationship of architecture to its history of buildings to books has been one of the most important themes in debates about the course of modern architecture Tournikiotis argues that the history of modern architecture tends to be written from the present projecting back onto the past our current concerns so that the beginning of the story really functions as a representation of its end In this book the buildings are the quotations while the texts are the structure Tournikiotis focuses on a group of books by major historians of the twentieth century Nikolaus Pevsner Emil Kaufmann Sigfried Giedion Bruno Zevi Leonardo Benevolo Henry Russell Hitchcock Reyner Banham Peter Collins and Manfredo Tafuri In examining these writers thoughts he draws on concepts from critical theory relating architecture to broader historical models
