Modern Methods In Analytical Morphology:

Modern Methods in Analytical Morphology J. Gu, G.W. Hacker, 2012-12-06 While advances in modern medicine largely parallel our understanding of morphology discoveries in morphology are propelled by developments of new tools and means to visualize and measure tissue elements. The invention of dissecting light fluorescence and electron microscopes together with advances in labeling and staining techniques are among the stepping stones of morphological progress. Today we are in an exciting new era when classical morphology is being combined with developments from other disciplines. The combination of morphology and immunology resulted in immunocytochemistry, morphology and molecular biology led to in situ hybridization and in situ PCR. Adding computer science to morphology gave birth to image analysis. Combining laser technology and the microscope evolved into confocal microscope. For more than a decade modern morphology has continued to develop by merging with other disciplines at a rate that is still gathering momentum providing exciting and dynamic new frontiers for other biological fields. Modern Methods in Analytical Morphology based largely on the First International Workshop on Modern Methods in Analytical Histochemistry is an updated review of the current trends in the field. It covers an extensive array of new technical developments in major disciplines of modern morphology. The authors are not only leaders in their fields but also have extensive hands on experience with bench work. Their chapters are written in a comprehensive manner including discussion of both theoretical considerations and practical applications to give the readers a broad view of the topics covered.

Nanobiotechnology Christof M. Niemeyer, Chad A. Mirkin, 2006-03-06 Nanotechnology is the key technology of the 21st century. The possibility to exploit the structures and processes of biomolecules for novel functional materials, biosensors, bioelectronics and medical applications has created the rapidly growing field of nanobiotechnology. Designed as a broad survey of the field, this book combines contributions from bioorganic and bioinorganic chemistry, molecular biology, materials science and bioanalytics to fathom the full scope of current and future developments. It is divided into four main sections: Interphase Systems, Protein based Nanostructures, DNA based Nanostructures, Nanoanalytics. Each chapter describes in detail currently available methods and contains numerous references to the primary literature, making this the perfect field guide for chemists, biologists and materials scientists who want to explore the fascinating world of nanobiotechnology.

Immunogold-Silver Staining M. A. Hayat, 2024-11-01 This book discusses the principles, methods and applications of immunogold silver staining (IGSS) to biomedical areas. It focuses on the latest advances in the dynamic and progressive field of IGSS.

Polak,Susan Van Noorden,1997 Immunocytochemical techniques are essential in diagnosis and biomedical research This rewritten and updated introduction for beginners explains the reasons for the various steps and discusses problems for specificity and sensitivity and their solutions It includes practical instructions for several immunostaining methods using fluorescent enzyme and gold labels

Modern Techniques in Soil Ecology

D. A. Crossley,D. C. Coleman,1991 A scientific discipline is circumscribed if not exactly defined by the methods available to it The study of ecology of soil biota and its impact on ecosystems of importance to human activities requires a broader base of measurements often of a multidisciplinary nature This volume reviews current methods and provides an overview of emerging techniques in major areas of soil ecology It is based on papers presented at a workshop Modern Techniques in Soil Ecology Seven overview papers were followed by 40 contributed papers describing new developments in the measurement of soil properties the organisms inhabiting the soil and their impacts on soil processes
