Modern Norwegian Architecture:

Modern Norwegian Architecture Christian Norberg-Schulz,1986 Beginning with the first decade of the 20th century Professor Norberg Schulz traces the development of modern Norwegian architecture in relation to general trends such as the International Style and the Postmodernism of the 1980s The book includes a short historical introduction and provides a reliable account of this largely unexplored field

Made in Norway Ingerid Helsing Almaas,2016-04-25 Norwegian architecture has been in the international spotlight in recent years Following the success of Made in Norway this second volume presents a selection of 40 new examples of the best contemporary architecture Norway has to offer These projects large and small rural and urban are examples of how architects in Norway have reacted to the challenges of today How are the different aspects of a modern Scandinavian society reflected in its architecture How are new technical and material possibilities translated into relevant buildings for the 21st century The book is based on presentations from Arkitektur N the Norwegian Review of Architecture but also contains new material explaining and discussing some of the main challenges of architecture today as seen from Norway

Architecture in Norway Nils Georg Brekke,Siri Skjold Lexau,Per Jonas Nordhagen,2019-09-02 The book shows how architecture in Norway has been shaped by resource availability changing social conditions and architectural style impulses through the centuries The book is thoroughly illustrated with photos ground plan drawings and isometric drawings This outline of Norwegian architectural history provides the first comprehensive presentation of architecture in Norway from tents and housing constructions in the Stone Age until contemporary architecture as the iconic contemporary Opera House in Oslo The book shows how Norwegian vernacular architecture has been shaped by natural conditions and resources changing cultural situations and building traditions through the ages By implementing a view on how the cultivated and built landscapes of Norway have been affected by human hands and creativity the authors give a contextual and interdisciplinary presentation of Norwegian architecture history The authors show how the technological basis of Iron Age and Medieval architecture was developed long before the construction of stave churches In the first part of the book recent research on building construction both in prehistoric times and during the middle ages are presented After an updated review of the architecture of early post medieval centuries the authors show how the repartition of land industrialization and urbanization transforms the landscape of the late 19th century Major changes take place into the 1900s during the breakthrough of modernism with huge building activity for a new independent nation The book also presents new research on the most recent architecture in Norway in particular the architecture of the 1980s 90s and 2000s The relations between vernacular architecture and contemporary architecture of different periods are dealt with through continuing discussions among the authors
