Negotiating Conflict Insights Skills For Negotiators Peacemakers:

Negotiating Conflict Mark Anstey,1991 Provides basic tools for dealing with conflict processes across a broad range of situations including various negotiation approaches    Practical Peacemaking Mark Anstey,1993 Intended as a quick reference for practitioners and for use in training this book explores some of the differences and similarities of the mediation process across fields and provides practical guidelines for intervention    Strategic Negotiations Richard E. Walton,Joel Cutcher-Gershenfeld,Robert B. McKersie,2000 This text contributes to the literature on strategic choice the explicit structuring by management and labour of business and bargaining strategies that use the economic and political environment as a framework to create bargaining power applying a three tiered collective bargaining theory    Negotiation David Churchman,1995 This study outlines and defines key terms and concepts behind negotiation tactics that have been effective throughout history It is completed with a glossary of over 50 terms used in negotiations    Towards a Theory of United Nations Peacekeeping A.B. Fetherston,1994-12-13 At a time when peacekeepers are struggling to fulfil increasingly demanding mandates and UN peacekeeping is in danger of losing the distinct character that won it the 1988 Nobel Peace Prize this important book argues for a clear theoretical redefinition within a conflict resolution framework and examines the practical implications for training This is a valuable and original contribution to the peacekeeping literature Dr Oliver Ramsbotham Department of Peace Studies University of Bradford Both for the blue helmets on the ground and for the diplomats at UN headquarters conflict resolution skills are essential for conducting peacekeeping operations Betts Fetherstone s excellent study points the way forward to a synthesis between conflict management and peacekeeping Hugh Miall Research Fellow European Programme Royal Institute of International Affairs The prevailing over taxed ad hoc system of peacekeeping does not meet the growing demands posed by the post Cold War world This volume argues that peacekeeping needs to be placed on firm conceptual footing directly congruent with its peaceful third party role The implications of this conceptualisation of peacekeeping for practice are then discussed Training is cited as a key means of translating conceptual understanding into practice Without this foundation work UN has little chance of changing its existing and largely ineffective system of conflict management At a time when peacekeepers are struggling to fulfil increasingly demanding mandates and UN peacekeeping is in danger of losing the distinct character that won it the 1988 Nobel Peace Prize this important book argues for a clear theoretical redefinition within a conflict resolution framework and examines the practical implications for training This is a valuable and original contribution to the peacekeeping literature    Democracy and Deep-rooted Conflict Peter Harris,Ben Reilly,1998 How does one build democracy in the aftermath of a violent deep rooted conflict This handbook shows how to structure negotiations and design democratic institutions which address the real needs and interests of conflicting parties It provides practical advice for policy makers and political leaders in post conflict societies and presents a wealth of options that can be drawn upon to build a sustainable peace Aimed at those negotiating a peace settlement this book provides a thorough overview of democratic levers such as power sharing formulas questions of federalism and autonomy options for electoral reform when to use truth commissions transitional justice mechanisms methods of preserving minority rights constitutional safeguards and many others It also analyses actual negotiated settlements from various countries and illustrates the many often unrecognized options that negotiators can draw upon when attempting to build or rebuild democracy South Africa Murray Faure,Jan-Erik Lane,1996-08-15 The Republic of South Africa RSA held its first fully democratic elections in April 1994 They were a highly visible signal that the RSA is really moving from the era of apartheid towards a democratic constitutional state The process is an archetypal case of a negotiated transition of a regime and as such it is of great interest to students of constitutional mechanisms The contributors to this book leading South African political scientists discuss the process the difficulties and the achievements in the transformation of the RSA s political and legal institutions They address various aspects of constitutional design and their interactions with social forces They examine the new constitution the roles of president and executive the electoral party and parliamentary systems and the Constitutional Court They look at the public service at questions of labour and corporatism at the RSA s changing external relations and at the position of the armed forces The new government s Reconstruction and Development Programme of which so much is expected is seen to be particularly vulnerable to the pull of opposing forces

Negotiation Tactics David Churchman,1993-09-02 African Business & Chamber of Commerce Review ,1991 McGregor's Education Alternatives Robin McGregor,Anne McGregor,1992 Managing Resourceful People Frank M. Horwitz,1991 Dalhousie Journal of Legal Studies ,2000 The Politics and Empowerment of Banyarwanda

Refugees in Uganda, 1959-2001 Elijah Dickens Mushemeza,2007 The Politics of Empowerment of Banyarwanda Refugees in Uganda 1959 2001 introduces empowerment discourse to the nexus between politics security and forced migration and refugees Conceptualized as a group process where people who lack their share of valued resources strive to gain greater access to and control over those resources empowerment of Banyarwanda refugees was possible through a protracted struggle The book explores how the Banyarwanda refugees achieved reasonable levels of integration in Ugandan society because of similar demographics social economic and cultural characteristics with the Ugandan population in the areas they settled Had the Ugandan state not broken down in the late 1970s and 1980s these refugees would have perhaps acquired naturalization a veritable form of empowerment In contrast although most Hutu and Tutsi refugees achieved meaningful levels of integration as some were treated badly and abused with derogatory language their leaders and some of the elites never gave up the dream of returning home The book concludes that violent conflicts emerge because of a violation of human rights and denial of access to scarce resources and Rwanda and Africa as a whole must build institutions that allow popular participation in decision making transfer of political power from one group or generation to the other and generally to address the question of democracy and good governance Employment P. D. Gerber,1991 Communication in an Era of Global Conflicts Richard T. M'Bayo, Bala A. Musa, Chuka Onwumechili, 2009 Communication in an Era of Global Conflicts assesses trends and issues in communication and their implications for conflicts in the African context. In doing so the various chapters draw from culture, tradition, folklore, communication and conflict theories, principles and strategies and from systems approach to conflict resolution. The underlying assumption of all the chapters is the pivotal role of communication, new media, traditional mass communication, interpersonal communication, intercultural communication and communication technologies in conflict and conflict resolution. This book is unique for its multidimensional perspectives, a long overdue addition to the growing literature on conflicts in Africa.

Industrial Relations and Organisational Dynamics Sonia Bendix, 1991 This is an indexed students edition of Industrial Relations and Organisational Dynamics which excludes discussion of the cases

Journal of Theoretical Politics, 1996    Critical Perspectives on Public Administration J. O. Kuye, 2002    In Case of Fire, Stop, Drop, and Hold Jean Napua Sakimura, 1998    Conflict Tracking Dossiers Derrick Marco, 2007
