Negritude Women:

Negritude Women T. Denean Sharpley-Whiting, 2002 The Negritude movement which signaled the awakening of a pan African consciousness among black French intellectuals has been understood almost exclusively in terms of the contributions of its male founders Aime Cesaire Leopold Senghor and Leon G Damas This masculine genealogy has completely overshadowed the central role played by French speaking black women in its creation and evolution In Negritude Women T Denean Sharpley Whiting offers a long overdue corrective revealing the contributions made by four women Suzanne Lacascade Jane and Paulette Nardal and Suzanne Roussy Cesaire who were not merely integral to the success of the movement but often in its vanguard Through such disparate tactics as Lacascade s use of Creole expressions in her French prose writings the literary salon and journal founded by the Martinique born Nardal sisters and Roussy Cesaire s revolutionary blend of surrealism and Negritude in the pages of Tropiques the journal she founded with her husband these four remarkable women made vital contributions In exploring their influence on the development of themes central to Negritude black humanism the affirmation of black peoples and their cultures and the rehabilitation of Africa Sharpley Whiting provides the movement s first genuinely inclusive history

Beyond Negritude Paulette Nardal, 2014-02-07 In the aftermath of World War II Paulette Nardal the Martinican woman most famously associated with the Negritude movement and its founders Aim C saire L opold Senghor and L on Damas during Paris s interwar years founded the journal Woman in the City This annotated translation with an introduction and essay summaries by T Denean Sharpley Whiting collects work from that journal and presents it in both the original French and in English Never before translated these essays represent a lens through which to view the evolution of Nardal s intellectual thought on race gender politics globalization war religion and philosophy The journal s arrival announced Martinican women entering the public sphere the city and from its internationalist perspectives the world stage where they would take up their responsibilities as citizens of their little island and the greater French Republic Published from 1945 to 1951 it was with its Christian humanist undertones and feminist inclinations the first theologically and philosophically woman centered liberationist journal in print

Pan-Africanism: Political Philosophy and Socio-Economic Anthropology for African Liberation and Governance Kini-Yen

Kinni, 2015-09-04 This Book is the outcome of a long project begun thirty years ago It is a book on the makings of pan Africanism through the predicaments of being black in a world dominated by being white The book is a tribute and celebration of the efforts of the African American and African Caribbean Diaspora who took the initiative and the audacity to fight and liberate themselves from the shackles of slavery It is also a celebration of those Africans who in their own way carried the torch of inspiration and resilience to save and reconstruct the Free Humanism of Africa As a story of the rise from the shackles of slavery and poverty to the summit of Victors of their Renaissance Identity and Self Determination as a People the book is the story of African refusal to celebrate victimhood The book also situates women as central actors in the Pan

African project which is often presented as an exclusively masculine endeavour. It introduces a balanced gender approach and diagnosis of the Women actors of Pan Africanism which was very much lacking. The problem of balkanisation of Africa on post colonial affiliations and colonial linguistic lines has taken its toll on Africa's building of its common identity and personality. The result is that Africans are more remote to each other in their pigeon hole nation states which put more restrictions for African inter mobility coupled by education and cultural affiliations the communication and transportation and trading networks which are still tied more to their colonial masters than among themselves. This book looks into the problem of the new wave of Pan Africanism and what strategies that can be proposed for a more participatory Pan Africanism inspired by the everyday realities of African masses at home and in the diaspora. This book is the first book of its kind that gives a comprehensive and multidimensional coverage of Pan Africanism. It is a very timely and vital compendium.

The Changing Face of Afro-Caribbean Cultural Identity Mamadou Badiane, 2010-01-01. The Changing Face of Afro Caribbean Cultural Identity. Négritude looks primarily at Négritude through the eyes of the poetry of Nicolas Guill n Manuel del Cabral and Pal s Matos as well as L opold Senghor L on Gontran Damas and Aim C saire. The book shows Caribbean cultural identity as a slippery and fluctuating zone.

Pan-Africanism Hakim Adi, 2018-08-23. The first survey of the Pan African movement this century this book provides a history of the individuals and organisations that have sought the unity of all those of African origin as the basis for advancement and liberation. Initially an idea and movement that took root among the African Diaspora in more recent times Pan Africanism has been embodied in the African Union the organisation of African states which includes the entire African Diaspora as its sixth region. Hakim Adi covers many of the key political figures of the 20th century including Du Bois Garvey Malcolm X Nkrumah and Gaddafi as well as Pan African culture expression from N gritude to the wearing of the Afro hair style and the music of Bob Marley.

Race, Gender, and Comparative Black Modernism Jennifer M. Wilks, 2008-12-01. Race Gender and Comparative Black Modernism revives and critiques four African American and Francophone Caribbean women writers sometimes overlooked in discussions of early twentieth century literature. Guadeloupean Suzanne Lacascade dates unknown African American Marita Bonner 1899 1971 Martinican Suzanne C saire 1913 1966 and African American Dorothy West 1907 1998. Reexamining their most significant work Jennifer M Wilks demonstrates how their writing challenges prevailing racial archetypes such as the New Negro and the Negritude hero of the period from the 1920s to the 1940s and explores how these writers tapped into modernist currents from expressionism to surrealism to produce progressive treatments of race gender and nation that differed from those of currently canonized black writers of the era the great majority of whom are men. Wilks begins with Lacascade whom she deems best known for being unknown reading Lacascade s novel Claire Solange me africaine 1924 as a protofeminist proto Negritude articulation of Caribbean identity. She then examines the fissures left unexplored in New Negro visions of African American community by showing the ways in which Bonner s essays plays and short stories highlight issues of economic class

C saire applied the ideas and techniques of surrealism to the French language and Wilks reveals how her writings in the journal Tropiques 1941-45 directly and insightfully engage the intellectual influences that informed the work of canonical Negritude. Wilks' close reading of West's The Living Is Easy 1948 provides a retrospective critique of the forces that continued to circumscribe women's lives in the midst of the social and cultural awakening presumably embodied in the New Negro. To show how the black literary tradition has continued to confront the conflation of gender roles with social and literary conventions, Wilks examines these writers alongside the late twentieth century writings of Maryse Condé and Toni Morrison. Unlike many literary analysts, Wilks does not bring together the four writers based on geography. Lacascade and C saire came from different Caribbean islands and though Bonner and West were from the United States they never crossed paths. In considering this eclectic group of women writers together, Wilks reveals the analytical possibilities opened up by comparing works influenced by multiple intellectual traditions.

It draws on speeches and manifestos and uses cultural studies to contextualize ideas. It poses the bases of both movements in the Caribbean and in Africa and lays out the literary antecedents that influenced or shaped both movements. This book examines the search for cultural identity through the poetry of Nicolas Guillén, Manuel del Cabral, and Palés Matos. This search is extended to the Négritude movement through the poems of Léopold Senghor, Léon Gontran Damas, and Aimé Césaire. Mamadou Badiane further discusses the under-represented Négritude women writers who were silenced by their male counterparts during the first half of the twentieth century. Ultimately, this is a book on Caribbean cultural identity that shows it in a slippery and fluctuating zone. By demonstrating that while the founders of the Négritude movement both identified themselves as descendants of Africans and were proud to proclaim their African heritage, the members of the Antillean and Creolite movements see themselves as a product of miscegenation between different cultures. Women's Studies Abstracts, Spring 2001, Volume 30, Number 1,

Négritude Norman R. Shapiro, 1970 Voices of Négritude Julio Finn, 1988 Violence in Francophone African and Caribbean Women's Literature Chantal Kalisa, 2009-12 African and Caribbean peoples share a history dominated by the violent disruptions of slavery and colonialism

While much has been said about these geographies of pain violence in the private sphere particularly gendered violence receives little attention This book fills that void It is a critical addition to the study of African and Caribbean women's literatures at a time when women from these regions are actively engaged in articulating the ways in which colonial and postcolonial violence impact women Chantal Kalisa examines the ways in which women writers lift taboos imposed on them by their society and culture and challenge readers with their unique perspectives on violence Comparing women from different places and times Kalisa treats types of violence such as colonial familial linguistic and war related specifically linked to dictatorship and genocide She examines Caribbean writers Michele Lacrosil Simone Schwartz Bart Gis le Pineau and Edwidge Danticat and Africans Ken Begul Calixthe Beyala Nadine Bar and Monique Ilboudo She also includes Semb ne Ousmane and Frantz Fanon for their unique contributions to the questions of violence and gender This study advances our understanding of the attempts of African and Caribbean women writers to resolve the tension between external forms of violence and internal forms resulting from skewed cultural social and political rules based on gender
