Neon Addressing The Nations Environmenta:

Neon National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Life Sciences, Committee on the National Ecological Observatory Network, 2004-01-15 The book endorses the National Science Foundation's concept of the National Ecological Observatory Network NEON for providing a nationwide network of facilities and infrastructure for ecological and environmental research that is impossible with existing infrastructure. The committee identified six grand challenges in environmental biology, biodiversity, biogeochemical cycles, climate change, ecology and evolution, infectious diseases, invasive species, and land and habitat use that deserves high priority for research and needs to be addressed on a regional or continental scale. However, the book says that NEON needs a refined focus and a more detailed plan for its implementation to ensure the maximization of its contribution to science and to better fit within the purview of Major Research Equipment and Facilities Construction funding. It examines the business and practice of restoring natural capital and seeks to establish common ground between economists and ecologists with respect to the restoration of degraded ecosystems and landscapes and the still broader task of restoring natural capital.
