Bulletin ,1916 Shrinking Nest Egg Raymond U. Ogums,2012-03-30 The events of 2008 have raised awareness to the possibility of highly derailing impact to savings under the new retirement funding structures due to their relationship with the financial markets As a result many retirees were threatened financially hence forced back to work Efforts by federal officials to boost the U S economy by lowering interest rates have resulted in almost zero returns on some federally guaranteed savings accounts popular with retirees The downward trend continues to bite down seniors incomes and together with the lingering impact of the 2008 events have necessitated the need for most retirees to seek income supplements While many have taken to post retirement employment as a solution some others have not been so fortunate in that they cannot work for various reasons The What to Do part of this book offers suggestions for current and prospective retirees who can or can't work and those still in their accumulation years on how to mediate financial shortfall in retirement and ensure that their golden years are golden

Gilmore,2012-12-06 During the past two decades professional interest in Terminal Care has increased dramatically It is always difficult to trace the origins of a change of emphasis in medical and nursing care but it is likely that three influences have contributed to bring this about Firstly the rise of the modern hospice movement with its recognition that dying and mourning are normal life events and that the lay person has a role in these events no less important than the health professional secondly the development of sophisticated and successful techniques of palliative care and pain control and lastly the increasing expectations of the populace in advanced countries for a comprehensive and sensitive service for patients family and care givers at the terminal phase of illness It is significant that these developments in the care and management of the terminally ill are not confined either to one country or the sole prerogative of a single discipline This is reflected in the papers collected in this volume which were originally presented at the International Conference on Multidisciplinary Aspects of Terminal Care organised by The Prince and Princess of Wales Hospice in Glasgow Scotland U K The cross fertilisation of ideas experiences and assessments provided by the contributors in a multicultural and multidisciplinary context presented in this volume will be found stimulating and inspirational for both the professional and the lay person in the care of the dying    Report Iowa State Horticultural Society,1893    Don't Break
