Network Power Japan In Asia:

Network Power Peter J. Katzenstein, Takashi Shiraishi, 1997 This collection of scholarly papers examines the influence of Japanese dominance on the politics economies and cultures of Southeast Asia A major question probed is whether Japan has now attained through economic power the predominance it once sought through military means Japan s hegemonic system is not the first to work over the area before it were those from China from Britain from the United States This collection s comparative perspective acknowledges the distinctiveness of Asian regionalism and Japan s changing role with it As the subtitle of this book indicates it is concerned with Japan and Asia and not with Japan in Asia thus suggesting a complex and at the same time problematical regional identity for Japan Network Power Peter J. Katzenstein, Takashi

Shiraishi, 2018-09-05 This book examines regional dynamics in contemporary east and southeast Asia scrutinizing the effects of Japanese dominance on the politics economics and cultures of the area The contributors ask whether Japan has now attained through sheer economic power and its political and cultural consequences the predominance it once sought by overtly military means The discussion is framed by the profound changes of the past decade Since the end of the Cold War and the breakup of the Soviet Union regional dynamics increasingly shape international and national developments This volume places Japan s role in Asian regionalism in a broader comparative perspective with European regionalism and the role Germany plays It assesses the competitive logics of continental and coastal primacy in China In starkest form the question addressed is whether Chinese or Japanese domination of the Asian region is more likely Between a neo mercantilist emphasis on the world s movement toward relatively closed regional blocs and an opposing liberal view that global markets are creating convergent pressures across all national boundaries and regional divides this book takes a middle position Asian regionalism is identified by two intersecting developments Japanese economic penetration of Asian supplier networks through a system of production alliances and the emergence of a pan Pacific trading region that includes both Asia and North America The contributors emphasize factors that are creating an Asia marked by multiple centers of influence including China and the United States Japanese Foreign Policy in Asia and the Pacific A. Miyashita, Y. Sato, 2001-11-16

Japanese Foreign Policy in Asia and the Pacific aims to provide a broadened framework for examining Japan s foreign policy making by looking at conversion and diversion of interests among Japanese and American policy actors These include governmental and non governmental as well as domestic and transnational actors Utilizing this theoretical framework the contributors examine the role of U S pressure and its interaction with Japan s domestic and Japan based transnational actors interests through geographically or thematically focused case studies from Asia and the Pacific regions The

International Relations of Japan and South East Asia Sueo Sudo, 2013-01-11 The International Relations of Japan and South East Asia asks three main questions how and when has a new South East Asian regionalism been set in motion what is the nature of Japanese leadership and networking in maintaining and promoting that new regionalism and given the current economic and political crisis what will happen to regionalism in the future This work is an invaluable resource for students and scholars as it gives a complete overview of Japanese foreign policy and Japan South East Asian relations The Japan Handbook Patrick Heenan, 2014-01-27 The Regional Handbooks of Economic Development series provides accessible overviews of countries within their larger domestic and international contexts focusing on the relations among regions as they meet the challenges of the twenty first century The series allows the non specialist student to explore a wide range of complex factors social and political as well as economic that affect the growth of developing regions in Asia Europe and South America Each Handbook provides an overview chapter discussing the region s economic conditions within an historical and political context as well as 20 or more chapter length essays written by recognized experts which analyze the key issues affecting a region s economy its population natural resources foreign trade labor problems and economic inequalities and other vital factors In addition the volumes offer useful support materials including a series of appendices that include a detailed chronology of events in the region a glossary of terms biographical entries on key personalities an annotated bibliography of further reading and a comprehensive analytical index The Construction of Regional Institutions in the Asia-Pacific and East Asia Yasumasa Komori, 2007 Pan-Asianism in Modern Japanese History Sven Saaler, J. Victor Koschmann, 2007-01-24 This in depth volume analyzes various historical approaches to the construction of the regional order in East Asia each of which can be seen as an expression of Pan Asianist thought Beyond Bilateralism Ellis S. Krauss, T. J. Pempel, 2004 Beyond Bilateralism analyzes how and to what extent crucial global and regional security finance and trade transformations have altered the U S Japan relationship and how that bilateral relationship has in turn influenced those global and regional trends Arms and Security in Asia Martin Edmonds, Chyungly Lee, Greg Mills, 2004 Asia in the New Millennium Lai To Lee, Amitav Acharya, 2004 Some 120 participants attended the inaugural Congress of the Asian Political and International Studies Association APISA in Singapore on 28 30 November 2003 Asians from universities and institutes in many countries accounted for about 70 per cent of the participants The First Congress had been two years in the making In November 2001 30 academics from research institutes think tanks and universities introduced the idea of launching an Asian based academic organisation dedicated to the advancement of political and international studies It was the general consensus of the meeting that Asian scholars had been marginalised from the decision making processes of the Western based associations of a similar nature Asian schools of thought had been stifled as a consequence of the American hegemony in the social sciences and that the state of Asian studies in general was underdeveloped In the light of these concerns the APISA was established Drawn from academia and think tanks from across Asia and the Pacific the political and security specialists sociologists historians and economists exchanged ideas and charted new intellectual terrain on the theme Asia in the New Millennium Development Democracy and Security The keynote speaker at the Congress was Dr Surin Pitiswan former Foreign Minister of Thailand and Member of the Commission for Human Security who focused on the need to pursue prominence in Asian scholarship Panels at the APISA Congress transcended disciplinary contours national and regional boundaries and historical confines The panels themes ranged from globalisation identity and community in Asia to electronic government and theory and modernity Offering more regional lenses were panels that discussed understanding and explaining Asia Pacific security and the welfare state in Southeast Asia China and her neighbours Among the many panels that engaged other disciplines were the discussions on state vs market the historical contributions in the panel on defining Southeast Asia as a region and sociological inclinations in the panel on culture politics and cooperation

States, Markets and Civil Society in Asia Pacific: The political economy of the Asia-Pacific region Joseph A. Camilleri, 2000 This first volume of a two volume study concentrates on the geopolitical and economic transformation of Asia Pacific It focuses on the complex relationship between the decline of ideological bipolarity the rapid industrialization of East Asia and the tensions generated by the shifting balance of regional and global economic interests Managing Knowledge, Governing Society Alain-Marc Rieu, 2021-11-29 Since the 1980s two different paradigms have reshaped industrial societies the Neoliberal paradigm and a Research and Innovation paradigm Both have been conceptualized and translated into strong policies with massive economic and social consequences They provide divergent responses to the environmental transition The Neoliberal paradigm is based on economic models and geopolitical solutions The Research and Innovation paradigm's goal is to manage knowledge differently in order to reorient the evolution of society Since the mid 1990s a version of the Research and Innovation paradigm has led to the design of large scale research and innovation policies This book examines how these policies have evolved and how they can be extended and reformed to respond to present and future environmental constraints It studies the mutation of the conception organization and role of science and technology in the evolution of industrial societies and explores the future of these developments The book offers three unique lines of enquiry The first is to focus not specifically on economics sociology political science or history but on knowledge creation from an institutional and reflexive point of view The second is to establish a convergence between the British school of science and technology studies and the research trends opened by the work of Michel Foucault Both introduced trans disciplinary and policy oriented research associating case studies long term perspectives and theory The third is to consider climate change as the overwhelming challenge of our time The book is an insightful guide for students scholars and researchers across the humanities and social sciences including philosophy political science law economics business and media A World of Regions Peter J. Katzenstein, 2015-11-16 Observing the dramatic shift in world politics since the end of the Cold War Peter J Katzenstein argues that regions have become critical to contemporary world politics This view is in stark contrast to those who focus on the purportedly stubborn persistence of the nation state or the inevitable march of globalization In detailed studies of technology and foreign investment domestic and international security and cultural diplomacy and popular culture

Katzenstein examines the changing regional dynamics of Europe and Asia which are linked to the United States through Germany and Japan Regions Katzenstein contends are interacting closely with an American imperium that combines territorial and non territorial powers Katzenstein argues that globalization and internationalization create open or porous regions Regions may provide solutions to the contradictions between states and markets security and insecurity nationalism and cosmopolitanism Embedded in the American imperium regions are now central to world politics CSEAS. Kyōto Daigaku. Tōnan Ajia Kenkyū Sentā,1999 Monumenta Nipponica ,1999 Includes section Reviews China's International Relations in Asia: East Asia responds to a rising China Mingjiang Li,2010 This new Major Work is fully indexed and includes a comprehensive index newly written by the editor which places the collected material in its historical and intellectual context It is destined to be valued by scholars students and researchers Asian Profile ,2000 Twentieth Century International Relations: Whatever happened to the Pacific century? Michael Cox,2006 International Journal ,1998 Transforming East Asia Naoko Munakata,2006-09-05 Analyzes developments in the region since the mid 1980s highlighting such factors as the evolution of Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation the impact of the 1997 98 Asian financial crisis and the rise of China Outlines possible future scenarios for the region and offers policy prescriptions for building on regionalism s achievements to date Provided by publisher
