Near Planets:

Near Planets Mason Crest, 2016 Get to know Earth's planetary neighbors with a tour of Mercury and Venus the two planets closest to the Sun as well as Mars the planet closest to Earth Experience the intense heat of Mercury Dive deep into the misty atmosphere on Venus And wonder along with scientists if and when Mars has supported life Amazing images from NASA satellites show the latest discoveries about our fellow planets The entire series called THE SOLAR SYSTEM is your first class travel guide to the biggest neighborhood you live in from the Sun to the planets and beyond Blastoff on a visit to our solar neighborhood and beyond This series visits all the planets in our Solar System visits comets that are just passing through and in Space Exploration travels into the universe as human beings seek to find out what's out there The books are packed with information stories photos artwork and more including the latest developments in the always changing story of exploration and discovery Each title in THE SOLAR SYSTEM includes color photos throughout and back matter including an index and other information Key Icons appear throughout the books in this series in an effort to encourage library readers to build knowledge gain awareness explore possibilities and expand their viewpoints through our content rich nonfiction books Key Icons in this series are Educational Videos are offered in chapters through the use of a QR code that when scanned takes the student to an online video showing a moment in history a speech or an instructional video This gives the readers additional content to supplement the text Nothing But the Facts is an at a glance appendix section of additional factual material The format differs from title to title but each section provides new information lists charts and more A Timeline lets readers see the history of the city at a two page glance tracking the key events mentioned in the text and putting them into visual historical context A Words to Understand section is included in the back matter containing terminology used throughout the book Words found here broaden the readers knowledge and understanding of terms used in this field The Near Planets Donna Bailey, 1991 Examines the four planets that lie closest to the sun discussing their composition movements and moons The Near Planets Robin Kerrod, 2002 Describes the similarities and differences between the four planets closest to the sun providing information about their surface features physical makeup and more Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Astronautics, 1969 The Near Planets, 1992 Planets Around Pulsars J. A. Phillips, Stephen Erik Thorsett, Shri R. Kulkarni, 1993 Planets Near Earth Ian Graham, 2015 Understanding space is perhaps the key to understanding Earth and this book about near planets compares to our Earth and explains much about our origin our solar system and the thrill of outer space It also describes the technology that supports research about our solar system today The Exoplanet Handbook Michael Perryman, 2018-08-30 With the discovery of planets beyond our solar system 25 years ago exoplanet research has expanded dramatically with new state of the art ground based and space based missions dedicated to their discovery and characterisation With more than 3 500 exoplanets now known the complexity of the discovery techniques observations and physical characterisation have grown exponentially This Handbook ties all these avenues of research together across a broad range of exoplanet science Planet formation exoplanet interiors and atmospheres and habitability are discussed providing in depth coverage of our knowledge to date Comprehensively updated from the first edition it includes instrumental and observational developments in depth treatment of the new Kepler mission results and hot Jupiter atmospheric studies and major updates on models of exoplanet formation With extensive references to the research literature and appendices covering all individual exoplanet discoveries it is a valuable reference to this exciting field for both incoming and established researchers

Aristotle's Induction and the Inference of First Principles David Botting, 2024-11-27 Aristotle's Induction and the Inference of First Principles observes that Aristotle's reputation as an empiricist has come under threat In the Posterior Analytics Aristotle puts forward a foundationalist theory of scientific knowledge that problematizes knowing the science's first principles empirically Aristotle states that we know the principles through induction but also that induction is inadequate for knowing essences In response to this tension rationalists claim that Aristotle equivocates between two conceptions of induction enumerative and intuitive intuitive induction being that which grasps the principles and provides direct knowledge of essences enumerative induction being that which is said to be inadequate Empiricists preserve an empiricist road to first principles by downplaying enumerative induction's role In order to preserve Aristotle's avowals that it is by induction that we know the principles while avoiding the rationalist alternative David Botting provides an inferentialist account of induction showing how the content of a first principle is inferentially known but not its necessity which must be proved by constructing the first principle from simpler elements A world governed by natural necessities and not just brute regularities is knowable through the senses and without resorting to super empirical acts or faculties of intuition
