Negotiating Identities Anders Runesson, Cecilia Wassén, Karin Hedner Zetterholm, Magnus Zetterholm, 2022-10-03 Covering the period from 200 BCE to 600 CE this book describes important aspects of identity formation processes within early Judaism and Christianity and shows how negotiations involving issues of ethnicity stereotyping purity commensality and institution building contributed to the forming of group identities Over time some of these Jewish group identities evolved into non Jewish Christian identities others into a rabbinic Jewish identity while yet others remained somewhere in between The contributors to this volume trace these developments in archaeological remains as well as in texts from the Qumran movement the New Testament and the reception of Paul s writings rabbinic literature and apocryphal and pseudepigraphical writings such as the Book of Dreams and the Pseudo Clementine Homilies The long timespan covered in the volume together with the combined expertise of scholars from various fields make this book a unique contribution to research on group identity Jewish and Christian identity formation the Partings of the ways between Judaism and Christianity and interactions between Jews and Christians

Negotiating Identities Diane Gerin-Lajoie, 2016-04-06 As members of an official linguistic minority in Canada Anglophone teachers living and working in Quebec have a distinct experience of the relationship between language and identity In

Negotiating Identities Diane G rin Lajoie uses a critical sociological framework to explore the life stories of Anglophone teachers and illustrate the social practices which connect them with their linguistic cultural and professional identities Exploring the complexity of identity as a lived experience Negotiating Identities demonstrates the strength of language as a political force in these educators lives both in the classroom and outside it Through comparisons with the other official linguistic minority in Canada the Francophones and particularly with Franco Ontarians this book tells the stories of Quebec s Anglophone teachers in their own words providing a unique account of how these individuals make sense of their lives as residents of Quebec

Negotiating Identities Aparna Rayaprol,1997 This book is about how immigrant communities conceptualize and indeed actualize the process of reconstruction in a foreign land Faced with a disjunctive crisis a community can find in religion a major symbolic resource that helps to make such rebuilding possible In this book the community in question is South Indian and the material representation of their coming together is the Sri Venkateswara temple in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania The author examines the dynamics of gender roles within this specific occurrence of India to America immigration emphasizing the ways in which both women and girls by way of cultural and religious activities related to the temple have created a niche for themselves with in the community

Negotiating Identities Jim Cummins,1996 Aimed at empowering teachers and students in a culturally diverse society this book suggests that schools must respect student s language and culture encourage community participation promote critical literacy and institute forms of assessment in order to reverse patterns of under achievement in pupils from varying cultures The book shows that students who have been failed by schools predominantly come from communities whose languages cultures and identities have been distorted and devalued in the wider society and schools have reinforced this pattern of disempowerment

Negotiating Identities Sarah Manyika,2000 Negotiating Identities Payal B. Ramji,2007 Negotiating Identities in Thai Conversation Rita Carol Simpson,1997 Negotiating Identities in Women's Lives Christine W. Sizemore,2002-05-30 Women face different psychological issues at different ages But these issues and the experience of confronting them depend on cultural contexts Literary works represent these psychological and social conflicts but the manner of representation varies according to the culture of the author This book brings together feminism postcolonial theory and developmental psychology to analyze how traditional literary forms are transformed by women writing in different cultures The volume discusses works by such well known authors as Margaret Atwood Nadine Gordimer Keri Hulme and Doris Lessing along with fiction by less studied writers such as Barbara Burford Joan Riley and Jessica Anderson By juxtaposing novels from different cultures the volume highlights the new ways in which women renegotiate their identities at different ages and writers reconfigure novelistic forms The first chapter looks at the search for adulthood in Tsitsi Dangarembga s Nervous Conditions set in Zimbabwe and in Margaret Atwood s Cat s Eye set in Canada The second on the seach for intimacy analyzes how Barbara Burford s lesbian novella The Threshing Floor and Keri Hulme s evocation of Maori commensalism in The Bone People undo

the traditional romance plot Later chapters offer similar examinations of how various life stages such as the searches for place space and integrity are treated in other works

Negotiating Identity Susie Scott, 2016-02-19 Identity is never just an individual matter it is intricately shaped by our experiences of social life Taking a Symbolic Interactionist approach and drawing on Goffman's dramaturgical theory Susie Scott explores the micro social processes of interaction through which identities are created maintained challenged and reinvented With a focus on empirical studies as illustrations classic sociological theory is applied to contemporary examples Each chapter focuses on a key dimension of how identities are negotiated in the drama of everyday life from politeness and face saving rituals to secrecy lies and deception Goffman's ideas are explored in relation to self presentation role making group interaction and public behaviour while language and discourse are shown to help people to give credible identity performances and to frame social situations The book reveals how social selves change over the life course through stigma labelling and deviant careers and how life in a total institution can radically transform its members identities Through all of these processes self and society are shown to be intertwined This insightful approach will appeal to students taking a range of courses in the sociology of the self identity interaction and everyday life
