Redefining The Early And Child Marriage And Reconsidering Its Elimination In Nepal Through Absolute Criminalization

Laxmi Aryal, Child marriage is prevalent in South Asia as it is estimated there are 285 million child brides At present 59% of women aged 20-24 in Bangladesh were married under the age of 18 40% in Nepal and 27 % in India Child marriage is regarded as one of the harmful traditional practice existing in Nepal since time immemorial Nepal aims to end child marriage by 2030 as part of its commitment to the UN Sustainable Development Goals Moreover the government of Nepal has already sanctioned a national strategy that provides an overarching framework to end child marriage At the meantime the criminal law of Nepal considers child marriage as a crime and punishes the person who perform or cause to perform child marriage This research is a part of this consortium project which was commissioned by Women Rehabilitation Center along with International Women's Rights Action Watch Asia Pacific IWRAW AP and other South Asian organizations for South Asian Initiative on FIRE from July 2019 to October 2020 Also the data collection and the law review for the research report has been conducted from March 2020 to October 2020 This report aims to find out the changing trend of child marriage like either forced or self initiated or other forms Further it also endeavors to understand the deep rooted causes of the child marriage and its interconnectedness with the impacts it create to the girls and boys at different levels of their livelihood family relations reproductive health and legal consequences from adolescent perspectives Finally this report focuses on to revisit the laws on absolute criminalization of the child marriage and its effectiveness on controlling the agencies decision making and choice of adolescents regarding marriage facilities and conditions of children in Nepal Leaving Microsoft to Change the World John Wood,2006-08-29 John Wood discovered his passion his greatest success and his life s work not at business school or leading Microsoft s charge into Asia in the 1990s but on a soul searching trip to the Himalayas Wood felt trapped between an all consuming career and a desire to do something lasting and significant Stressed from the demands of his job he took a vacation trekking in Nepal because a friend had told him If you get high enough in the mountains you can t hear Steve Ballmer yelling at you anymore Instead of being the antidote to the rat race that trip convinced John Wood to divert the boundless energy he was devoting to Microsoft into a cause that desperately needed to be addressed While visiting a remote Nepalese school Wood learned that the students had few books in their library When he offered to run a book drive to provide the school with books his idea was met with polite skepticism After all no matter how well intentioned why would a successful software executive take valuable time out of his life and gather books for an impoverished school But John Wood did return to that school and with thousands of books bundled on the back of a yak And at that moment Wood made the decision to walk away from Microsoft and create Room to Read an organization that has donated more than 1 2 million books established more than 2 600 libraries and 200 schools and sent 1 700 girls to school on scholarship ultimately touching the lives of 875 000 children with the lifelong gift of education Leaving Microsoft to Change the World chronicles John Wood s struggle to find a meaningful outlet for his managerial talents and entrepreneurial zeal For every high achiever who has ever wondered what life might be like giving back Wood offers a vivid emotional and absorbing tale of how to take the lessons learned at a hard charging company like Microsoft and apply them to one of the world s most pressing problems the lack of basic literacy Handbook on Social

of the Child in Nepal, 2002 ,2002 Handbook of Children's Rights Martin D. Ruck,Michele Peterson-Badali,Michael Freeman,2016-12-08 While the notion of young people as individuals worthy or capable of having rights is of relatively recent origin over the past several decades there has been a substantial increase in both social and political commitment to children s rights as well as a tendency to grant young people some of the rights that were typically accorded only to adults In addition there has been a noticeable shift in orientation from a focus on children s protection and provision to an emphasis on children's participation and self determination With contributions from a wide range of international scholars the Handbook of Children's Rights brings together research theory and practice from diverse perspectives on children's rights This volume constitutes a comprehensive treatment of critical perspectives concerning children's rights in their various forms Its contributions address some of the major scholarly tensions and policy debates comprising the current discourse on children's rights including the best interests of the child evolving capacities of the child states rights versus children's rights rights of children versus parental or family rights children as citizens children's rights versus children's responsibilities and balancing protection and participation In addition to its multidisciplinary focus the handbook includes perspectives from social science domains in which children's rights scholarship has evolved largely independently due to distinct and seemingly competing assumptions and disciplinary approaches e.g. childhood studies developmental psychology sociology of childhood anthropology and political science The handbook also brings together diverse methodological approaches to the study of children's rights including both quantitative and qualitative perspectives and policy analysis This comprehensive cosmopolitan and timely volume serves as an important reference for both scholarly and policy driven interest in the voices and perspectives of children and youth
