The Griffin Poetry Prize 2006 Anthology Lisa Robertson, 2006-05-30 The best books of poetry published in English internationally and in Canada are honoured in June of each year with the Griffin Poetry Prize one of the world's richest and most prestigious literary prizes The Griffin Poetry Prize Anthology 2006 A Selection of the Shortlist includes poems from the seven exceptional books shortlisted for the 2006 prize Royalties generated from the Griffin Poetry Prize anthologies are donated to UNESCO's World Poetry Day The Malahat Review, 2006 Nerve Squall Sylvia Legris, 2005 Winner of the 2006 Griffin Poetry Prize Sonic congestion Purgatorial traffic jam corkscrewing countercochlearwise the only way out Nerve Squall is a field guide like no other a surreal handbook to a landscape at the crossroads of meteorology and neurology where the electrical storms without and the electrical impulses within converge Legris's fascination with weather ghosts and brain disorders is the starting point for a collection of poetry that ensures you'll never look at nature the same way again You'll find snow golems and ghost cats and a sky filled with fish swimming the winds of a storm And you'll find a haunted terrain where the natural world becomes an allegory for our most intimate fears Despite their dark and often cinematic approach these poems are also tinged with a sly apocalyptic wit that can't help but laugh as the sky falls Nerve Squall is a vital exploration of the symbiosis of storm nerve and language a sure-handed guide to the end of the world Legris loves language the way it radiates not just for what it can say by syntactic regularity and accumulation but for its cellular resonances Powerful resonance is created over a whole page with a minimum of words in a sculpture that hardly qualifies as verse as we commonly know it But there is no question that it is poetry and that it is the use of words at its most pared Here is Legris brilliance her knife-edged attention at its finest Open Letter Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons Donald Wesling, 2008 Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons is a literary approach to consciousness where Donald Wesling denies that emotion is the scandal or handmaid of reason rather emotion is the co-creator with reason of human life in the world Discoveries in neuro science in the 1990s Decade of the Brain have proven that thinking and feeling are wrapped with each other and regulate and fulfill each other Accepting this co-creative equality we reveal a new role for literature or a traditional role we've repressed literature as a set of processes in time where we've thought feeling through stories about the lives of imaginary persons We need these stories in order to practice emotions for when we return to the world from reading Donald Wesling argues that to be more accurate in our dealings with stories we require a grammar of this new recognition where we build up traditional stylistics by a more careful tracking of emotion states as these are set into writing The first half of Joys and Sorrows of Imaginary Persons offers a creative stock-taking of the current state of scholarship on emotion based on wide reading in several fields The second half gives three focused studies rich in examples of emotion as cognition as story and as historical structure of feeling The Literary History of Saskatchewan David Carpenter, 2014-02-01 Progressions presents another batch of erudite and entertaining essays on a variety of topics covering Saskatchewan's literary development as well as tributes to some of the major contributors to that history and a pictorial glimpse into the past Writers stopped using typewriters and even moved beyond the Kaypro computer box for their compositions The Saskatchewan School of the Arts was shut down ending the Fort St. John writing experience But the Sage Hill Writing Experience quickly rose to replace it Saskatchewan literary presses really found their feet and published important and lasting books A wave of new writers joined the founders of the province's literary tradition Responding to this growth in the community the Saskatchewan Book Awards and the Saskatchewan Festival of Words in Moose Jaw came into being The Saskatchewan writing community stormed out of the 20th Century in a frenzy of creativity and accomplishment Essay contributors to Volume 2 include Dave Margoshes Jeanette Lynes Aritha Van Herk Alison Calder and seven more The eleven essays include such topics as To House or House Not The New Saskatchewan Women Poets Contemporary Nature Writing in Saskatchewan Fort St. John Sage Hill and Brave and Foolish Nonconformists In addition literary tributes are offered for Caroline Heath Pat Krause Martha Blum and Max Braithwaite
