Networking The World 1794 2000:

Networking the World, 1794-2000 Armand Mattelart,2000 In the age of satellites and the Internet worldwide communication has become increasingly unified amid overblown claims about the redemptive possibilities of international networks But this rhetoric is hardly new As Armand Mattelart demonstrates in Networking the World 1794 2000 globalization and its attendant hype have existed since road and rail were the fastest way to move information Mattelart places contemporary global communication networks into historical context and shows that the networking of the world began much earlier than many assume in the late eighteenth century He argues that the internationalization of communication was spawned by such Enlightenment ideals as universalism and liberalism and examines how the development of global communications has been inextricably linked to the industrial revolution modern warfare and the emergence of nationalism Throughout Mattelart eloquently argues that discourses of better living through globalization often mask projects of political economic and cultural domination

Networked Media, Networked Rhetorics Damien Smith Pfister,2014-10-24 In Networked Media Networked Rhetorics Damien Pfister explores communicative practices in networked media environments analyzing in particular how the blogosphere has changed the conduct and coverage of public debate Pfister shows how the late modern imaginary was susceptible to deliberation traps related to invention emotion and expertise and how bloggers have played a role in helping contemporary public deliberation evade these traps Three case studies at the heart of Networked Media Networked Rhetorics show how new intermediaries including bloggers generate publicity solidarity and translation in the networked public sphere Bloggers flooding the zone in the wake of Trent Lott s controversial toast to Strom Thurmond in 2002 demonstrated their ability to invent and circulate novel arguments the pre 2003 invasion reports from the Baghdad blogger illustrated how solidarity is built through affective connections and the science blog RealClimate continues to serve as a rapid response site for the translation of expert claims for public audiences Networked Media Networked Rhetorics concludes with a bold outline for rhetorical studies after the internet

Vicious Circuits Joseph Jonghyun Jeon,2019-03-12 In December of 1997 the International Monetary Fund announced the largest bailout package in its history aimed at stabilizing the South Korean economy in response to a credit and currency crisis of the same year Vicious Circuits examines what it terms Korea s IMF Cinema the decade of cinema following that crisis in order to think through the transformations of global political economy at the end of the American century It argues that one of the most dominant traits of the cinema that emerged after the worst economic crisis in the history of South Korea was its preoccupation with economic phenomena As the quintessentially corporate art form made as much in the boardroom as in the studio film in this context became an ideal site for thinking through the global political economy in the transitional moment of American decline and Chinese ascension With an explicit focus of state economic policy IMF cinema did not just depict the economy it also was this economy s material embodiment That is it both represented economic developments and was itself an important sector in which the same pressures and changes affecting the economy at large were at work Joseph Jonghyun Jeon's window on Korea provides a peripheral but crucial perspective on the operations of late US hegemony and the contradictions that ultimately corrode it The Dialectic of Digital Culture David Ardit, Jennifer Miller, 2019-08-01 This edited collection analyzes the role of digital technology in contemporary society dialectically. While many authors, journalists, and commentators have argued that the internet and digital technologies will bring us democracy, equality, and freedom, digital culture often results in loss of privacy, misinformation, and exploitation. This collection challenges celebratory readings of digital technology by suggesting digital culture's potential is limited because of its fundamental relationship to oppressive social forces. The Dialectic of Digital Culture explores ways the digital realm challenges and reproduces power. The contributors provide innovative case studies of various phenomena including metoo, Etsy, mommy blogs, music streaming, sustainability, and net neutrality to reveal the reproduction of neoliberal cultural logics. In seemingly transformative digital spaces, these essays provide dialectical readings that challenge dominant narratives about technology and study specific aspects of digital culture that are often underexplored. Spider Web, Labyrinth, Tightrope Walk

Regina Schober, 2023-08-07 Spider Web, Labyrinth, Tightrope Walk explores the shifting functions of the network as a metaphor model and as an epistemological framework in US American literature and culture from the 19th century until today. The book critically inquires into the literary, cultural, philosophical, and scientific rhetoric values and ideological underpinnings that have given rise to the network concept. Literature and culture play a major role in the ways in which networks have been imagined and how they have evolved as conceptual models. This study regards networks as historically emergent and culturally constructed formations closely tied with the development of knowledge technologies in the process of modernization as well as with an increasingly critical awareness of network technologies and infrastructures. While the rise of the network in scientific, philosophical, political, and sociological discourses has received wide attention, this book contributes an important cultural and historical perspective to network theory by demonstrating how US American literature and culture have been key sites for thinking in and about networks in the past two centuries.

Yearbook of International Organizations 2014-2015 (Volume 4)

Union Of International Associations, Union of International Associations, 2014-09-17 The Yearbook of International Organizations provides the most extensive coverage of non profit international organizations currently available. Detailed profiles of international, non governmental, and intergovernmental organizations (IGO) collected and documented by the Union of International Associations can be found here. In addition to the history, aims, and activities of international organizations with their events, publications, and contact details, the volumes of the Yearbook include networks between associations, biographies of key people involved, and extensive statistical data. Providing both an international organizations and research bibliography, Volume 4 cites over 46 000 publications and information resources supplied by international organizations and provides nearly 18 000 research citations under 40 subject headings. This volume also includes a research bibliography on international organizations and transnational associations The Media Were American Jeremy Tunstall,2008 It has become clear that the US media are no longer increasingly their grip throughout the globe Asia and the Arab Moslem world is virtually saturated with their own national media output Tunstall produces a well written provocative snapshot at global media today His point of view is relentlessly global he considers the role of the media in the collapse of the Soviet Union the ascendancy of the Brazilian and Mexican soap opera the increasing strength of Bollywood the national cinema output of India as well as the relative decline in influence of US media Importantly Tunstall focuses on both the nation state and the geographical and cultural region as crucial levels in today's mass media Both the United States and the US mass media have now lost their previous moral leadership Lone American control of the world news flow has ceased today rather than Global media we see a world media system comprised of interlocking national regional cultural systems Tunstall's assessment is a wake up call for insular American media consumers American Book Publishing Record ,2000 A Tale of Two Global Cities Jonathan Rutherford,2004 Since the mid 1980s telecommunications and information technologies IT have become more intensely bound up than ever before in the social economic political and cultural processes and transformations which are increasingly concentrated in and between key strategic urban places across the globe By analysing telecommunications developments in Paris and London this book offers an explicit comparative and cross national approach to the development of urban telecommunications infrastructures and to the development of global cities through a focus on these crucial infrastructures engagement with the most relevant and recent debates and theories in urban studies geography and planning By examining differing but parallel influences of national urban and local contexts processes and practices bound up in telecommunications developments the book firmly underlines the inherently territorial basis of these developments and their multi scalar elements and implications all of which are being reinforced by the current stringent strategic retrenching of telecommunications operations around the globe The Johns Hopkins Guide to Literary Theory and Criticism Michael Groden, Martin Kreiswirth, Imre Szeman,2005 Publisher Description

Communication Revolution Robert Waterman McChesney,2007 In this sharply argued book McChesney explains why we are in the midst of a communication revolution which is at the centre of 21st century life Yet this profound juncture is not well understood in part because media criticism and scholarship haven't been up to the task McChesney's concise history of media studies shows how communication scholarship has grown increasingly irrelevant in recent years even as the media became a decisive issue of these times The revolution in communication calls for a transformation in the way we think about media The Oxford Handbook of Film and Media Studies Robert Kolker,2008-09-11 This handbook examines film and new media in the light of their convergence It draws on leading scholars in the field to discuss traditional areas of history and theory of film and digital media Its focus however is on the cycle of technologically driven arts Film was born of a number of experiments in reproducing motion all of which culminated in the nineteenth century projection of short films The creation of digital media resulted from experiments in alternative forms of representation in the early 1960s John Whitney began creating avant garde films from digital graphics around 1960 and some of his ideas and methods were incorporated by Stanley Kubrick in 2001 A Space Odyssey By the early 1990s commercial filmmakers began to employ digital effects in their work By the late nineties digital arts had come fully into their own both in the form of stand alone or interactive artworks and films created with and for the computer At the same time digital effects had completely overtaken optical printing and matte painting in film From special effects to creating realistic backgrounds and crowds the digital is infiltrating all aspects of filmmaking The infiltration is about to become a takeover as celluloid is replaced by high definition digital recording and projection processes Many aspects of film will change as this latest convergence takes place Already cultural response to film has changed as viewers begin to teach themselves about film through supplementary material on DVDs and to make their own films on home computers But this handbook is not a technical history or manual Quite the contrary it is a scholarly work discussing the aesthetics economics and cultural results of these changes and convergences The book balances traditional scholarship and analysis with essays addressing technological change and the concurrent changes in cultural responses to these changes responses already acknowledged by the profession

Encyclopedia of Communication Theory: J - Y Stephen W. Littlejohn, Karen A. Foss, 2009 Provides students and researchers with a comprehensive overview of contemporary communication theory Entries address topics related not only to paradigms traditions and schools but also metatheory methodology inquiry and applications and contexts

The Journal of International Communication, 2004 Global Communication Yahya R. Kamalipour, 2007 Intended for upper level undergraduate or lower level graduate students with prior experience in studying mass communications this textbook put together by Kamalipour Purdue U Calumet presents emerging and conventional topics in international communication including international public relations and advertising trends in media consolidation

Systemic Transitions William R. Thompson, 2009-02-13 When do systemic transitions periods in which the pre eminence of one state gives way to another occur What makes them probable Do they or must they always take the same form This book answers these questions

Network City James Heitzman, 2004 The author examines the developments in Bangalore India's Silicon Valley against the backdrop of a global institutional commitment to the information society as a model for development in the twenty first century

Journal of Intergroup Relations, 2004 Connectivity, Networks and Flows Andreas Hepp, 2008 This book offers its readers a critical engagement with three key concepts for social and communication theory today connectivity networks and flows The contributors are committed to conceptualizing contemporary communications in a changing world They point to globalizing and deterritorializing processes and to the increasing significance of mobilities in late modern existence yet this is also a book about the continuing importance of locality senses of place and physically copresent interaction in daily living Connectivity Networks and Flows combines theoretical reflection with analysis of specific media and cultural practices Featured examples of such practices include uses of mobile phones and the Internet activities of online and offline working and socializing and constructions of liveness and immediacy in electronically mediated communication The book will be of particular interest to researchers and students in communications media and cultural studies sociology and social theory BOOK JACKET The Future of the Past Peter Martland,2002 This fascinating volume of essays from the Cambridge Faculty of History looks at the ideas and events that create history from the notion of liberty to the influence of religion to the origins of Europe As Europe reshapes itself today the question of how it was defined in the past comes to the fore and as the influence of the United States steadily extends across established state borders it compels a reappraisal of the history and responsiveness of Western intellectual cultural and political traditions This is the companion volume to Globalization in World History published by Pimlico
