of the COVID 19 Pandemic The COVID 19 global Pandemic has left a lasting impact on all our lives This section will review the Pandemic's mental health physical health and social implications with helpful tools and techniques to help you manage the trauma and stress the Pandemic brings In addition gems of wisdom and learnings within the research literature will help you navigate the Pandemic and Post Pandemic worlds effectively Learn interactively with workbook exercises Workbook exercises will help you digest the content reflect on your situation learn from that reflection and incrementally create a personalized recovery plan Each exercise in the workbook walks you through a process of self reflection and self discovery to help you understand and make sense of your situation First Responder Careers Expose Individuals to Higher Risks of Developing Trauma Some careers include a higher likelihood of experiencing traumatic events that can lead to the development of PTSD Serving in the military is a high risk factor for developing PTSD However combat veterans develop PTSD at different rates depending on the severity and length of exposure to traumatic experiences There are also high incidences of reported sexual harassment and sexual abuse in the military As a result the rates of PTSD are relatively high compared to the overall prevalence in the general population Not only can law enforcement officers experience direct threats and stressful conditions but they also regularly witness the devastating effects of assaults robberies kidnappings and violent events However individuals in this profession have lower than expected rates of PTSD surprisingly An estimated 20 percent overall may result from having access to counseling and rigorous pre employment screenings EMTs and paramedics are routinely exposed to life threatening incidents and have more health problems than individuals in other occupations PTSD rates in this group are as high as 20 percent PTSD prevalence in this profession is comparable to law enforcement Firefighters conduct paramedic activities and are the first responders to natural disasters Firefighting is a dangerous profession that exposes workers to stressful conditions and traumatic events ranging from threats to their safety and experiencing the devastating effects of catastrophes As a result the prevalence of PTSD in this group can be as high as 20 percent Volunteer firefighters may have even higher rates because they don't have access to the same level of support as career firefighters Healthcare workers especially those working in emergency rooms and intensive care units are also at higher risk For example nurses working in critical care units are more likely to develop PTSD than nurses in other groups In addition while senior level nurses report fewer PTSD symptoms than junior ones they report higher rates of burnout Finally healthcare workers exposed to patients that have experienced violence such as an assault victim are more likely to develop PTSD than surgeons who treat assault victims Rescue workers medical workers and volunteers who act as first responders during disasters witness the aftermath of horrific events and can even become involved in severe traumatic events The prevalence of PTSD in these individuals has been estimated to be between 15 and 30 percent Journalists who work as war correspondents are at higher risk of being injured killed or kidnapped Their lifetime prevalence of PTSD which can be as high as 30 percent reflects their lack of access to support and PTSD treatment options Transit and train operators are frequently

exposed to physical threats and witness suicide incidents such as person under train events Exposure to these traumatic and threatening circumstances can be a daily or weekly occurrence Bus drivers are more prone to PTSD because they have more direct contact with the general public than train drivers locked in secure train cabs In these high risk professions the incidence of trauma declines when policies are in place to debrief victims give victims immediate access to counseling and screen for individuals at high risk of having adverse reactions to traumatic conditions

Levine, Ph.D.,1997-07-07 Now in 24 languages Nature's Lessons in Healing Trauma Waking the Tiger offers a new and hopeful vision of trauma It views the human animal as a unique being endowed with an instinctual capacity It asks and answers an intriguing question why are animals in the wild though threatened routinely rarely traumatized By understanding the dynamics that make wild animals virtually immune to traumatic symptoms the mystery of human trauma is revealed Waking the Tiger normalizes the symptoms of trauma and the steps needed to heal them. People are often traumatized by seemingly ordinary experiences. The reader is taken on a guided tour of the subtle yet powerful impulses that govern our responses to overwhelming life events. To do this it employs a series of exercises that help us focus on bodily sensations. Through heightened awareness of these sensations trauma can be healed.

The Workbook for Healing

Developmental Trauma Laurence Heller, Ph.D., Brad J. Kammer, LMFT, LPCC, 2025-11-04 A comprehensive workbook for understanding and treating developmental trauma using the NeuroAffective Relational Model (NARM). Includes practical exercises for understanding ACEs addressing C PTSD, nurturing post-traumatic growth, identifying survival styles, and more. Designed for clinicians, trauma therapists, and practitioners of the NeuroAffective Relational Model, this workbook offers a blueprint to NARM's transformative approach to healing developmental trauma. Authors Laurence Heller PhD and Brad Kammer share practical skill-building exercises that deepen your own relationship to the material as you learn new evidence-based and highly effective ways to work with clients' trauma. Complete with detailed charts, visually engaging graphics, and practitioner-focused questionnaires, this workbook provides tools for use in clinical sessions as well as personal professional growth. In an easy-to-apply format, the Workbook will explore The 5 adaptive survival styles. Learn how developmental needs for connection, attunement, trust, autonomy, and love sexuality are disrupted by trauma and map onto adaptive survival strategies. The 4 pillars of NARM: Understand and apply key therapeutic skills that support healing and post-traumatic growth. The NARM Relational Model Facilitate trauma resolution and real therapeutic growth via a dynamic embodied process. The NARM Emotional Completion Model Support clients in identifying their primary emotions, reflecting the emotion's intention, and building new relationships to unresolved emotional conflicts. The NARM Personality Spectrum Use 10 psychobiological traits to understand and assess client self-organization. Heller and Kammer offer personal and therapist-oriented reflection questions to ground your work with NARM and assist you in integrating the model's nuances. Each section is designed to help practitioners translate NARM's advanced concepts into actionable strategies that deepen the therapeutic process and whether you're new to NARM or seeking to refine your practice, the Workbook equips you with the resources to guide your clients toward profound healing and growth.
