Systemic Humiliation in America Daniel Rothbart,2018-03-30

This volume explores contemporary social conflict focusing on a sort of violence that rarely receives coverage in the evening news. This violence occurs when powerful institutions seek to manipulate the thoughts of marginalized people, manufacturing their feelings and fostering a sense of inferiority for the purpose of disciplinary control. Many American institutions strategically orchestrate this psychic violence through tactics of systemic humiliation. This book reveals how certain counter measures based in a commitment to human dignity and respect for every person's inherent moral worth can combat this violence. Rothbart and other contributors showcase various examples of this tug of war in the US including the politics of race and class in the 2016 presidential campaign, the dehumanizing treatment of people with mental disabilities and destructive parenting styles that foster cycles of humiliation and emotional pain.

The Baseball Film in Postwar America Ron Briley,2014-01-10 This work focuses on the baseball movie genre in the years following World War II, beginning with the 1948 biopic The Babe Ruth Story and ending with the 1962 Mickey Mantle Roger Maris vehicle Safe at Home when the consensus was that conflict should be limited in American society by emphasizing economic growth and a strong stand against Communism. This study of selected films indicates however that this strategy was not entirely effective while offering a certain amount of nostalgia these films could not provide shelter from the storm gathering in postwar America which challenged conventional ideas of race, gender and class and broke in the 1960s.

AB Bookman's Weekly ,1992 A Manual of the Reformed Church in America (formerly Ref. Prot. Dutch Church). 1628-1902 Edward Tanjore Corwin,1902 Sports

Through the Lens Maureen M. Smith,Daniel A. Nathan,Sarah K. Fields,2025-01-07 Both photography and professional sports originated in the 19th century and photographers have been capturing moments in sports ever since. Even those who are agnostic about sports will recognize images like Neil Leifer's iconic photo of Muhammad Ali snarling over a defeated Sonny Liston or Brandi Chastain's shirtless celebration of the USNT's World Cup win in 1999. This manuscript is a collection of 25 essays each examining the history and cultural meaning of a single sport photograph including the two mentioned above. A range of memorable moments and athletes as well as some lesser known images are included in the collection. Most of the images are from the US and most are from the 20th century. While almost all of the photographers would identify as white men their subjects are more varied and the sports represented include baseball, football, basketball, hockey, tennis, boxing, horse racing, soccer and running as well as several Olympic moments.

Montville Township Patricia Florio for the Montvi Township,2017-04-10 America, History and Life ,1998 Article abstracts and citations of reviews and dissertations covering the United States and Canada

Montville Patricia Florio Colrick,2000 The Morris County community of Montville covers a nine milelong area bounded by the Rockaway River to the west and the Passaic River to the east. Montville Township was formed in 1867 from land set off from Pequannock Township and incorporates the hamlets of Pine Book and Towaco.

formerly known as White Hall Set within the foothills of the Hook Mountains the area has always been known for its plentiful clear springs deposits of limestone and iron ore and fertile soil Long traversed by the Lenni Lenape people it drew Dutch patentees to hide trapping tanning and eventually farming During the Revolutionary War General Washington frequented the Doremus House in the northwestern part of Montville The Morris Canal built between 1824 and 1831 provided an inland waterway to transport coal west from Pennsylvania across New Jersey to the Hudson River Montville celebrates this community's long and multifaceted history Flash! Kate Flint, 2017-11-28 Flash presents a fascinating cultural history of flash photography from its mid nineteenth century beginnings to the present day All photography requires light but the light of flash photography is quite distinctive artificial sudden shocking intrusive and extraordinarily bright Associated with revelation and wonder it has been linked to the sublimity of lightning Yet it has also been reviled it's inseparable from anxieties about intrusion and violence it creates a visual disturbance and its effects are often harsh and create exaggerated contrasts Flash explores flash's power to reveal shocking social conditions its impact on the representation of race its illumination of what would otherwise remain hidden in darkness and its capacity to put on display the most mundane corners of everyday life It looks at flash's distinct aesthetics examines how paparazzi chase celebrities how flash is intimately linked to crime how flash has been used to light up and interrupt countless family gatherings how flash can stop time allowing one to photograph rapidly moving objects or freeze in a strobe and it considers the biggest flash of all the atomic bomb

Examining the work of professionals and amateurs news hounds and art photographers photographers of crime and of wildlife the volume builds a picture of flash's place in popular culture and its role in literature and film Generously illustrated throughout Flash brings out the central role of this medium to the history of photography and challenges some commonly held ideas about the nature of photography itself The Maine Entry, 1998 Representing the Sporting Past in Museums and Halls of Fame Murray G. Phillips, 2013-06-17 We live in a museum age and sport museums are part of this phenomenon

In this book leading international sport history scholars examine sport museums including renowned institutions like the Olympic Museum in the Swiss city of Lausanne the Babe Ruth Birthplace and Museum in Baltimore the Marylebone Cricket Club Museum in London the Croke Park Museum in Dublin and the Whyte Museum in Banff These institutions are examined in a broad context of understanding sport museums as an identifiable genre in the museum age and more specifically in terms of how the sporting past is represented in these museums Historians explain debate and critique sport museums with the intention of understanding how this important form of public history represents sport for audiences who see museums as institutions that are inherently reliable and trustworthy A Dictionary of Women Artists of Australia Max

Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1997 Zion's Herald, 1899 The New York Times Index, 2006 The National Cyclopaedia of American Biography, 1918 Images of America, Reasons to Kill Richard E. Rubenstein, 2010-10-04

From the American Revolution to the end of World War II the United States spent nineteen years at war against other nations. But since 1950 the total is twenty two years and counting. On four occasions U.S. presidents elected as peace candidates have gone on to lead the nation into ferocious armed conflicts. Repeatedly wars deemed necessary when they began have been seen in retrospect as avoidable and ill-advised. Americans profess to be a peace-loving people and one wary of foreign entanglements. Yet we have been drawn into wars in distant lands from Vietnam to Afghanistan. We cherish our middle-class comforts and our children. Yet we send our troops to Fallujah and Mogadishu. How is it that ordinary Americans with the most to lose are so easily convinced to follow hawkish leaders of both parties into war? In Reasons to Kill noted scholar Richard E. Rubenstein explores both the rhetoric that sells war to the public and the underlying cultural and social factors that make it so effective. With unmatched historical perspective and insightful commentary Rubenstein offers citizens new ways to think for themselves about crucial issues of war and peace.
