our lives abortion euthanasia suicide capital punishment racial justice and affirmative action there is a right and wrong but no one owns the truth This book guides us through the opposing arguments on these profound issues opening up ways for our pluralistic society to think about them How does one make up one's mind about the difficult yet everyday inescapable social and moral problems we all face The public debate often degenerates into name calling and even violence Conservatives and liberals alike act as if there is only one way to think In a format that is accessible anecdotal and concrete Edward Tivnan lays out the best arguments on all sides of these visceral topics He explores the most sophisticated thinking from philosophy theology medicine and the law as well as examples from the emotional complexities of everyday life and carefully mediates between opposing ideals not to lead us to a position of convenience but to help us toward independent decisions of conviction Tivnan's analysis therefore does not dictate answers but calls for an effort to understand and respect why people believe so strongly in their own values Only by facing up to our differences of opinion can we make progress expand our moral imagination and achieve a decent and respectful society In concluding chapters Tivnan describes the peculiar nature of American democracy invented by men who knew that freedom would breed conflicting values and expected that such differences would secure the nation's future as a republican democracy The first premise of a decent free society Tivnan writes is tolerance the first sparks of tolerance and decency reside in the imagination what I want to call the moral imagination He concludes that expanding our moral imagination will cleanse debate of hatred and moral arrogance
