Moral Religious Predicament:

The Moral and Religious Predicament of Modern Man Benjamin Franklin Lewis, 1972 Towards a Theory of Relativity of Truth in Morality and Religion Charles Goossens, 1990 This study argues for a model in which moral truth is presented as truth in the perspective of certain social commitments while religious truth is interpreted as truth in the perspective of religious experience It theorizes that relativity need not conflict with universality Truth from the perspective of the outsider is therefore truth without qualification Self Love and Christian Ethics Darlene Fozard Weaver, 2002-10-17 Publisher Description The Foundations of Christian Bioethics Hugo Tristram Engelhardt, 2000 For decades Engelhardt has alluded to the ethics that binds moral friends While his Foundations of Bioethics explored the sparse ethics binding moral strangers this long awaited volume addresses the morality at the foundations of Christian bioethics The volume opens with an analysis of the marginalization of Christian bioethics in the 1970s and the irremedial shortcomings of secular ethics in general Drawing on the Christianity of the first millennium Engelhardt provides the ontological and epistemological foundations for a Christian bioethics that can remedy the onesidedness of a secular bioethics and supply the bases for a Christian bioethics The volume then addresses issues from abortion third party assisted reproduction and cloning to withholding and withdrawing treatment physician assisted suicide and euthanasia Practices such as free and informed consent are relocated within a traditional Christian morality Attention is also given to the allocation of scarce resources in health care and to the challenge of maintaining the Christian identity of physicians nurses patients and health care institutions in a culture that is now post Christian Our Destiny; the Influence of Nationalism on Morals and Religion Laurence Gronlund, 1891 New Challenges to Faith Sherwood Eddy, 1926 The American Ecclesiastical Review Herman Joseph Heuser, 1944 Asiatic Studies, Religious and Social Sir Alfred C. Lyall, 1882 Lectures on Christian Morals John Foster, 1873 Asiatic Studies, Religious and Social Lyall, 1884 Morality and Religion in Liberal Democratic Societies Gordon Louis Anderson, Morton A. Kaplan, 1992 The struggle for liberal democracy individual freedom and human and political rights historically has depended upon the moral codes of Western civilization rooted in the Judeo Christian tradition However in an increasing pluralistic and secular world those codes are difficult to maintain Without a consensus on values and the exercise of individual responsibility liberal democratic societies and the human and political values they enshrine may become imperilled The problem of the relationship between morality and the liberal democratic state is examined in this volume from the perspectives of democratic theory traditional religion the modern state and the evolution of religion in the post communist world In the first section on democratic theory professors R A D Grant David Levy Michael Perry and Morton A Kaplan discuss the theoretical relationship between moral values and the democratic state In the second section Gershon Weiler Batista Jean Mondin and Dean Kelley discuss the historical struggles of Judaism Catholicism and Protestantism with and within liberal democratic societies The inconsistencies of many traditional religious perspectives with a culturally pluralistic society are examined In the following section A James Reichley discusses the pluralist experiment in America George Weigle sees a new opportunity for the Catholic Church in America John Carroll discusses the tensions of modern liberalism with culture in general and Alain Besancon discusses the Catholic church in Europe Possibilities for the resolution of religious perspectives within pluralistic and liberal democratic societies are examined by scholars who want both to be faithful to their traditions and to integrate them into modern democracies In the penultimate section of the book Roger Scruton analyzes problems of sexual morality and identity and the liberal consensus Geoffrey Partington discusses how the purge of traditional moral training from the public schools in liberal democracies led to inadequate character development of our youth and the outrage of parents Morton A Kaplan shows how the so called right to be left alone is invoked by the courts in a way that is destructive to social health In the concluding section Milowit Kuninski looks at the future of religion in former communist societies in which both official atheism and world consciousness were instilled by state ideology Gordon Anderson discusses the evolution of religion and the value instruction in schools in the pluralistic societies of the global democratic community that is emerging as the 21st century approaches
