Revisiting Moroccan Migrations Mohammed Berriane, Hein De Haas, Katharina Natter, 2018-02-02

Over the 20th century Morocco has become one of the world's major emigration countries. But since 2000 growing immigration and settlement of migrants from sub-Saharan Africa, the Middle East and Europe confronts Morocco with an entirely new set of social, cultural, political and legal issues. This book explores how continued emigration and increasing immigration is transforming contemporary Moroccan society with a particular emphasis on the way the Moroccan state is dealing with shifting migratory realities. The authors of this collective volume embark on a dialogue between theory and empirical research showcasing how contemporary migration theories help understanding recent trends in Moroccan migration and vice versa how the specific Moroccan case enriches migration theory. This perspective helps to overcome the still predominant Western-centric research view that artificially divide the world into receiving and sending countries and largely disregards the dynamics of and experiences with migration in countries in the Global South. This book was previously published as a special issue of The Journal of North African Studies.
