Galanes, Wendy Leeds-Hurwitz, 2009 The idea for this book originated at NCA's Summer Institute Catching Ourselves in the Act A Collaborative Planning Session to Enrich our Discipline through Social Constructionist Approaches The conference provided the opportunity to interact with like minded others to discuss how social construction approaches influence or should influence our work Another goal for the conference and for this book is to promote social construction approaches within the discipline We need to look forward by focusing on how the social construction perspective transforms our own work When we teach how can we best clarify the social construction principles we believe in and how can we convey the passion we feel for this approach How can we insure that our research practices are faithful to constructionist principles What practices can we or must we adopt to remain faithful to these principles Together the chapters in this volume address such questions with the intention of helping us take the next step forward This book extends the conversation about social constructionism approaches and invites others to participate in that conversation Hamline Journal of Public Law and Policy, 2005 Canadian Journal of Native Education, 2008 An Invitation to Social Construction Kenneth J Gergen, 1999-12-06 In An Invitation to Social Construction Kenneth Gergen charts the background to the social constructionist movement and outlines the major debates topics and issues Social Problems in Transition Sari Hanhinen, 2001 This book examines how influential groups perceive social problems in Estonia Russia and Finland The context of the study is the ongoing Eastern transition in Estonia and Russia and the Western transformation in Finland Each is changing the accustomed ways of defining and treating social problems The book suggests that for all three countries the
