(Ages 9 - 11)

These ideas are perfect for this age! 9 to 11 - they're all easy to set up and will keep your child entertained for hours!

Twinkl Tip

- Help foster resilience by reminding your child that it's okay to make mistakes during these activities. Celebrate their effort and encourage them to try again.
- While these activities are designed to be fun and active, always make sure the environment is safe for play. Set clear boundaries, supervise and check that the space is free from hazards.
- Use an on-the-go printer! You will certainly make a mess (but that you can use as great artwork).

Balloon Volleyball

Set up a 'net' using string or even a sheet of paper and string a few pairs of balloons volleyball! You'll need a balloon instead of a ball, making the game slower and easier to control for younger players. Plus, it's a great way to get kids moving and improve hand-eye coordination.

Human Ring Toss

Grab a few large hoops or hula hoops. Someone stands like a star and the other person throws the hoops over arms or legs, which you position like poles. It's a great way to get everyone moving and improve coordination.

Balloon Pop Relay

Blow up a few balloons and tie them to your child's ankles. The challenge? Run to the finish line without letting the balloons pop! This activity is brilliant for leg strength, balance and agility.

Backward Running Challenge

Have a race where the goal is to run backwards! This unusual running style improves balance, coordination and spatial awareness while offering a great workout.

Spider Crawl

Challenge your child to crawl around the garden or living room like a spider on all fours with their back flat and arms and legs extended. It's a brilliant full-body exercise that builds strength and flexibility.

Tag of War with a Twist

Instead of a traditional tag of war, use a large towel and have each player try to tag the other to a specific spot. The twist! They have to lie on one leg while doing it! This adds an element of balance and strength to the game.

Human Skyscraper

Have your child work with family members or friends to build a 'human skyscraper' by stacking people safely (using a support like furniture). This activity improves balance, teamwork and communication.

Blindfolded Obstacle Course

Set up an obstacle course and have your child navigate it while blindfolded. Guide them with verbal instructions or offer small hints, but let them rely on their instincts as much as it is safe to do so. It's a fantastic way to enhance their spatial awareness, trust in others, and concentration.

Time Travel Relay Race

Create different stations, each representing a different time period. For example, one station could be 'prehistoric' where they run like dinosaurs, and another could be 'historical' where they do fancy walks. Encourage your child to think of creative ways to move, whether it's in the style of an ancient Egyptian or a futuristic astronaut. The bonus that creates when they're being active!

Balloon Soccer

Instead of using a regular football or soccer ball, use a balloon. The lighter ball makes it easier to control and pass, making it perfect for younger players. It's a fun way to improve footwork and teamwork.
