The Rise and Fall of American Art, 1940s-1980s Catherine Dossin,2016-03-03 In The Rise and Fall of American Art 1940s 1980s Catherine Dossin challenges the now mythic perception of New York as the undisputed center of the art world between the end of World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall a position of power that brought the city prestige money and historical recognition Dossin reconstructs the concrete factors that led to the shift of international attention from Paris to New York in the 1950s and documents how peripheries such as Italy Belgium and West Germany exerted a decisive influence on this displacement of power As the US economy sank into recession in the 1970s however American artists and dealers became increasingly dependent on the support of Western Europeans and cities like Cologne and Turin emerged as major commercial and artistic hubs a development that enabled European artists to return to the forefront of the international art scene in the 1980s Dossin analyses in detail these changing distributions of geopolitical and symbolic power in the Western art worlds a story that spans two continents forty years and hundreds of actors Her transnational and interdisciplinary study provides an original and welcome supplement to more traditional formal and national readings of the period

The Governance of Not-for-Profit Organizations Edward L. Glaeser,2007-11-01 Not for profit organizations play a critical role in the American economy In health care education culture and religion we trust not for profit firms to serve the interests of their donors customers employees and society at large We know that such firms don t try to maximize profits but what do they maximize This book attempts to answer that question assembling leading experts on the economics of the not for profit sector to examine the problems of the health care industry art museums universities and even the medieval church Contributors look at a number of different aspects of not for profit operations from the problems of fundraising endowments and governance to specific issues like hospital advertising The picture that emerges is complex and surprising In some cases not for profit firms appear to work extremely well competition for workers customers and donors leads not for profit organizations to function as efficiently as any for profit firm In other contexts large endowments and weak governance allow elite workers to maximize their own interests rather than those of their donors customers or society at large Taken together these papers greatly advance our knowledge of the dynamics and operations of not for profit organizations revealing the under explored systems of pressures and challenges that shape their governance

Catalog of the Library of the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York, New York: L Whitney Museum of American Art. Library, 1979 American Art Directory Florence Nightingale Levy, 1910 American Art Annual , 1913 The Art of Juan Manuel Blanes Carlos Cruz Diez, Juan Manuel Blanes, Octavio C. Assunção, 2009 One of the finest exponents of Latin American Kinetic and Op art the Venezuelan artist Carlos Cruz Diez born in 1923 is a legend among contemporaries such as Jesus Soto and Alejandro Otero and across Latin America and Europe but has been woefully little exhibited in North America Those who caught the groundbreaking 2007 traveling exhibition The Geometry of Hope will recall Cruz Diez's standout contributions which had viewers bumping into one another as they negotiated the color shifts and sensations of motion that his sculptural constructions induced A pioneer in color theory and color perception Cruz Diez solicits physical participation in his audience In late 2008 the Americas Society known for its leading role in presenting innovative site installations by artists such as Gego Lygia Pape and Pedro Reyes orchestrated Cruz Diez's first solo exhibition in the United States for which Carlos Cruz Diez Informed by Color is the exhibition catalogue the first comprehensive publication in English devoted to the artist

Branding the American West Marian Wardle, Sarah E. Boehme, 2016-02-17 Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West In particular the Taos Society of Artists and the California based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art This volume illustrated with more than 150 images examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West Prior to this period American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence This trademark perspective began to change however when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth century artists as well as filmmakers evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient Yet as the authors also reveal these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West and both have been seared into public consciousness Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art Provo Utah and the Stark Museum of Art Orange Texas Western American Literature ,1988 Division of Fine Arts Archaeology, and Music Columbia University. Division of Fine Arts, Archaeology, and Music,1925 The Dial Francis Fisher Browne,Waldo Ralph Browne,Scofield Thayer,Marianne Moore,1921 Masterpieces of the American West Elizabeth Cunningham,American Museum of Western Art--The Anschutz Collection,1983
