Meaning In Crafts:

Meaning in Crafts Edward L. Mattil, 1961      Objects and Meaning M. Anna Fariello, Paula Owen, 2005 Throughout the 20th century there were increasing numbers of artists who chose to work within a fine art aesthetic i.e. expressive communicative innovative unique while simultaneously embracing qualities associated with craft production i.e. intimacy materiality labor ritual At the periphery of their world loomed issues of status gender community and economics This fluid situation made for an exciting mix of ideas that helped perpetuate an ongoing debate within an art world no longer as monothematic as it appeared in print Objects and Meaning expands upon a national conversation questioning how various academic disciplines and cultural institutions approach and assign meaning to artist made objects in postmodern North America Although most of the discourse since the mid 20th century revolved around the split between art and craft the contributors to this collection of essays take a broader view examining the historical cultural and theoretical perspectives that defined the parameters of that conversation Their focus is on issues concerning works that appeared to cross over from mainstream art to an amorphous and pluralistic aesthetic milieu that has yet to be defined The essays collected for this volume loosely organized into three groupings_Historical Contexts Cultural Systems and Theoretical Frames_contribute to a deeper understanding of the meaning of objects and how that meaning comes to be defined Although the style of writing in this collection ranges from passionate conviction to cool observation with points of view from different professional backgrounds each essay reflects original ideas introduced into the cultural dialogue during this period      Meaning in Crafts Andrew Wellington Cordier, 1965      Meaning in Crafts 2nd Ed, 1965      Transforming Modernity Néstor García Canclini, 2010-06-28 Is popular culture merely a process of creating marketing and consuming a final product or is it an expression of the artist's surroundings and an attempt to alter them Noted Argentine Mexican anthropologist Néstor García Canclini addresses these questions and more in Transforming Modernity a translation of Las culturas populares en el capitalismo Based on fieldwork among the Purépecha of Michoacán Mexico some of the most talented artisans of the New World the book is not so much a work of ethnography as of philosophy a cultural critique of modernism García Canclini delineates three interpretations of popular culture spontaneous creation which posits that artistic expression is the realization of beauty and knowledge memory for sale which holds that original products are created for sale in the imposed capitalist system and the tourist outlook whereby collectibles are created to justify development and to provide insight into what capitalism has achieved Transforming Modernity argues strongly for popular culture as an instrument of understanding reproducing and transforming the social system in order to elaborate and construct class hegemony and to reflect the unequal appropriation and distribution of cultural capital With its wide scope this book should appeal to readers within and well beyond anthropology those interested in cultural theory social thought and Mesoamerican culture      The Culture of Craft Peter Dormer, 1997-06-15 Dormer presents a series of lively clearly argued discussions about the relevance of handicraft in a world whose aesthetics and design are largely determined by technology The question of computer aided design in craft is also addressed

Moentita Girls Norman E. Richardson,1926

Crafting Tradition Michael Chibnik,2010-01-01 Since the mid 1980s whimsical brightly colored wood carvings from the Mexican state of Oaxaca have found their way into gift shops and private homes across the United States and Europe as Western consumers seek to connect with the authenticity and tradition represented by indigenous folk arts Ironically however the Oaxacan wood carvings are not a traditional folk art Invented in the mid twentieth century by non Indian Mexican artisans for the tourist market their appeal flows as much from intercultural miscommunication as from their intrinsic artistic merit In this beautifully illustrated book Michael Chibnik offers the first in depth look at the international trade in Oaxacan wood carvings including their history production marketing and cultural representations Drawing on interviews he conducted in the carving communities and among wholesalers retailers and consumers he follows the entire production and consumption cycle from the harvesting of copal wood to the final purchase of the finished piece Along the way he describes how and why this invented tradition has been promoted as a Zapotec Indian craft and explores its similarities with other local crafts with longer histories He also fully discusses the effects on local communities of participating in the global market concluding that the trade in Oaxacan wood carvings is an almost paradigmatic case study of globalization
